Dyspepsia

Mrs. Judge Peck Tells How She Was Cured

Sufferers from Dyspepsia should read the following letter from Mrs. H. M. Peck, wife of Judge Peck, a justice at Tracy, Cal., and a writer connected with the Associated Press:

"By a deep sense of gratitude for the great benefit I have received from the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, I have been led to write the following statement for the benefit of sufferers who may be similarly afflicted. For 15 years I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and heart trouble.

Almost everything I ate would distress me. I tried different treatments and medicines, but failed to realize relief. Two years ago a friend prevailed upon me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle I noticed helped me, so I continued taking it. It did me so much good that my friends spoke of the improvement. I have received such great benefit from it that Cladly Recommend It. I now have an excellent appetite and nothing I eat over distresses me. It also keeps up my strength and health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures flesh and strength. I cannot praise Hood's Sarsaparilla too much." Mrs. H. M. PECK, Tracy, California. Get HOOD'S.

A LIVE GAME.—Representatives of the Gazette, through the courtesy of the Portland Amateur Athletic Club, were permitted to witness the foot-ball game between the Port Townsend boys and the Portland lads, at the Maltmann's grounds on New Year's day.

The weather was damp and chilly, patches of snow still clinging to the wet earth here and there. The Webfooters were at home in the mud, but the Port Townsend boys were not familiar with a "sloshy" grid-iron, and this had much to do with their poor playing.

Portland got the pig-skin at the beginning of the game and very soon proved themselves more than a match for the Port Townsends. It was a lively contest, however, the playing of Davey, Lasswell and Pearson, of the Port Townsends, was roundly applauded. In fact the Port Townsends put up an almost errorless game.

At the end of the match the scores stood 28 to 0 in favor of the Port Townsends. The Port Townsend boys admitted that they were no match for the Portlanders, though claimed that their lack of practice on a muddy field had much to do with their poor playing.

BOLD HUNTERS.—The readers of the Gazette will remember the hunting excursion enjoyed recently by Engineer J. A. Patterson, Thos. Quaid and John Hughes, all of Heppner, and three very jolly, happy souls under any circumstances. Their return to civilization was marked by stories of hunting and many hair-breadth escapes. The best story, however, is on Mr. Quaid. Thos. got into a band of "mowies" and in his haste to pump lead at the game tried a cartridge in his weapon "wrong end."

His haste was rewarded by losing this great opportunity of securing a single specimen of the "antelope" tribe, and it took the whole party the remainder of the day to extricate the cartridge and get Thomas in hunting trim again. Of course, our readers must remember that this is Engineer Patterson's side of the story. Probably Tom might have something interesting to say about "Pat's" success as a hunter and of his matchless marksmanship when suddenly confronted by a whole herd of deer.

ON THEIR "HIGH HANGERS."—As a result of the council deposing the marshal and leaving the city without police protection, Monday night last some of the young bloods of Heppner got on their "high horse" and proceeded to make things lively by demolishing several window lights in the general merchandise store of L. Blumenthal. Tuesday Mr. Blumenthal had the window panes replaced only to have them broken out again Tuesday night, the parties, however, going a little farther than on the previous evening in their demolition by demolishing one of the large panes of glass in the front show window. Mr. Blumenthal informs us that he is well aware who the parties are that perpetrated the malicious mischief upon him and that if they do not call around in the very near future and satisfy all damage sustained, as a result of their nefarious mischief, he will bring the matter before the grand jury at the coming session of court and prosecute the parties to the full extent of law.

The New Year. Finds Hood's Sarsaparilla leading everything in the way of medicines in three important particulars, namely: Hood's Sarsaparilla has 1. The largest sale in the world. It accomplishes 2. The greatest cure in the world. It has 3. The largest Laboratory in the world.

What more can be said? Hood's Sarsaparilla has merit; it is peculiar to itself, and most of all, Hood's Sarsaparilla cures. If you are sick, it is the medicine for you to take.
