Inflammatory Rheumatism

Much Treatment Without Avail Hood's Sarsaparilla Effects Beneficial Change in Constitution.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Dear Sirs: At the age of 10 years I was confined to my bed with inflammatory rheumatism. I was treated by a local physician, but relief only came to me with the warm weather. For 12 years doctoring did me but little good. We read about the great change Hood's Sarsaparilla could effect in the entire constitution. We concluded to give it a trial and it has Made a New Young Man of Me. After taking the contents of three bottles I was able to walk a little. I have continued to take and have not missed a day for six months. During the bad winter weather nor any time since have I felt any of the symptoms of the return of my rheumatic trouble. CHAS. G. FANSHER, Walla Walla, Washington.'"

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable and do not purge, pain or gripe. All druggists. 25c.

THE CAUSE.

His gate is springy as he walks. His eyes are beaming bright. He straightens up at times and stalks— Is this good man quite right? Is this the man who, some time since, Was meek as he could be? Who at a shadow were would wince? It is indeed— 'tis he. Then what a change! 'Tis Nature's trick That's filled his face with joy. He takes you by the shoulder quick And murmurs, "It's a boy!"

In a recent editorial the Salem, Oregon, Independent says: "Time and again have we seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy tried and never without the most satisfactory results. Whenever we see a person afflicted with hoarseness, with a cough or cold, we invariably advise them to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and when they never regret it. It always does the work and does it well." For sale by Slocum-Johnston Drug Co.

ANOTHER FORGER CAUGHT.

Was Leaving the City With His Cola When Arrested.

Salem Journal. This afternoon, about 1:15, a tall smooth-faced young man, wearing a dark brown overcoat and a black crush hat, walked into Bush's bank and presented a check for some $80, signed by Leo Willis. Cashier Oswald West questioned the man before cashing the check, but the forger seemed honest, replying that West could look up the signature if he desired.

The check was cashed, but no sooner had the forger passed out of the door when West ran straight for Leo Willis' office, where he learned that it was a forgery. Hastening to the bank he and Andy Oas, whose services he secured, and they went immediately to the depot on their bicycles, arriving just before the train reached the depot.

West pointed out the forger to Oas just as he was going aboard the train and they both seized the man. He offered considerable resistance at first, but was soon under control and marched to the county jail. Upon being searched, $261.10 was found on his person, $225 of which was gold. Besides this amount he had eight checks already made out and endorsed by Salem business men but had not signed them. He also had the signatures of a number of Salem gentlemen among whom were Father White and Ben Hayden.

He secured the signature of Mr. Willis by writing letters to that gentleman, representing himself to be an agent for a theatrical troupe, and asked the rates for the opera house. These letters Mr. Willis answered and the signature secured, the one on the check being a fac simile of Mr. Willis writing.

When arrested at the depot he had removed the overcoat and hat, replacing the hat with a brown cap. He gives the name of Keogh. This was an excellent piece of police work and reflects great credit on Chief Oas as well as Cashier West.

Beyond Comparison. Get Hood's and only Hood's.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, biliousness, jaundice, indigestion, sick headache, 25c.

SURPRISING DISCOVERY. Warden Coblenz not a Defaulter—The state owed him $260.

Nearly every person will be surprised to learn that John H. Coblenz, the late warden of the Walla Walla penitentiary, was a creditor of the state of Washington. At any rate, three sets of experts have been at work on the books of the penitentiary—one appointed by the governor, one by the directors, and one by the bonifidemia of the late warden—and the outcome of the investigation has been the discovery that the warden was not a defaulter. There is a balance in his favor of $260.

The conclusion is natural that the suicide of Coblenz was unaccountable. If he owed nothing, and if there was no taint of crime clinging to his skirts, it would appear that some mystery must be behind the act, or else the final balances made by the expert accountants are not correct showings. "Figures don't lie," but liars will figure, and while the experts may have made an effort to go through the books and ferrit out irregularities, the accounts may have been in such a shape as to make it impossible to show the real condition. The liars may have done the figuring before the experts were set to work. Doubtless he expected that a shortage would be shown, and took his life to save having the disgrace which would
