

THE PEOPLE CAN REJOICE.

We have heard one man denounce Representative Boothby as a "traitor," but of course such men are in a hopeless minority in Morrow county. They "draw little water" and are little noticed. They presume to say that Mr. Dolph represents the whole republican party in Oregon, and to vote against him meant party disloyalty. It takes no argument to prove differently. Forty-five as good republicans as ever voted a ticket have recently selected Geo. W. McBride to represent Oregon in the U. S. senate, in company with Senator Mitchell. A large proportion of the republican party in the state of Oregon commend the result. The truth of the matter is, a large majority of the voting republicans in Morrow county say that Mr. Boothby has done right. He has been true and tried. No glittering gold or promise of office shook him in his decision to represent the people; no bluff, threat or misrepresentations changed him over to the other side, but like a rock-rimmed peak of the Sierras he stood immovable. "Traitor," indeed! Any man who dares use such language in relation to Mr. Boothby knows not what stuff patriots are made of. It is idle prattle and deceives no one.

Dolph's re-election was desired by the old baronets and pap-suckers of four generations back; the bankers and capitalists; and last, but not least, by the Simon ring. It was food for the ring to get through its pet measures and secure Dolph's re-election. But the whole machine got a dressing down that it will never recover from. It was smashed, defeated, routed, and the old office-holders who have been in the saddle since Noah was a youngster, and who never want to cut loose from the public teat, can rest easy and take their chances with the rest. No promises are out in Oregon, and aspirants for the future appointment as minister to Tokio or bassorad plenipotentiary to his royal nibs, the king of Siam, have a fair field. One has as good chance as another, qualifications considered.

It has been continually and truthfully asserted that the republican party in this state was under as corrupt and rotten ring dominance as ever disgraced any state in the Union. It has been the reason for the leaving of many disgusted republicans who have united with other parties. More conservative members have remained steadfast with a promise to down the ring and purify its ranks. It has been done beautifully and the people can rejoice in real earnest. It has saved the party a terrible defeat in 1896. If the recent session of the legislature has done nothing more than this it has accomplished enough for one year.

It is for this good work that Representative Boothby is called by one of our oldest and most honored citizens, "a traitor." It is a splenetic outburst and does no harm. The people at large are giving our representative the credit he so richly deserves, and his name will go down in history as associated with its brightest pages, honored and revered.

SILVER AND WAGES.

From the Salt Lake Tribune. We find an article in the Springfield Republican beginning with these words: The Louisville Courier-Journal wants to know if those newspapers that are shouting loudest for free silver coinage are prepared to increase the salaries of their employees enough to offset the rise in the prices of products which these newspapers predict will follow free coinage. It is a fair question, and one that will bother free silver shouters to answer.

A good way to answer all that kind of questions would be to ask some more. Wages have fallen thirty per cent in the last two years. Are the men who employ laborers or who believe in the gold standard ready to make up the deficit to make good the loss to those workmen? Another question which is pertinent: Suppose a gold field could be found tomorrow in Alaska, a gold field of such magnitude that the working of it would double the gold of the world in six months, would either the Courier-Journal or the Springfield Republican advise that the government should interpose and prevent the mining of that gold, because its inevitable effect would be to double the price of products, and thereby reduce the purchasing power of the wages of laboring men 50 per cent? Would not the Courier-Journal and also the Springfield Republican reason this way: "The work of those mines will for a little while increase the cost of living to workmen, but, following a natural law, wages will gravitate back to their old standard, and in the meantime two million laborers who are now idle and can find nothing to do will have obtained employment. Instead of employers taking the pick of workmen and establishing the price, they will have to take such men as are offered and pay the steadily appreciating prices that will be demanded." If this is true of mines which might be found, it is quite as true of the mines which have already been found and their contents converted into commercial form. A free silver law by the United States means in all its significance the practical doubling of the money of this world. Measured then by gold it will only take one-half as many bushels of wheat or one-half as many bales of cotton to pay a certain amount of money as it requires now, but it will open a field of labor to millions of men, and men who are now at work will be in a little while in a condition to demand an advance in their wages, and that will be to advance it in a practical form, because then there will be no thousands and ten of thousands of hungry men wanting to take their places in case they strike, but rather everybody will be engaged, and those who hire them will be able to pay them more than they can possibly pay them now. This lowering of the wages of the laboring men of the country by doubling up the real value of the money, is a bugbear which most of the American people will be able to consider without fear. There is another feature to it. The people who work for salaries are only a limited proportion of the people of the United States. The great masses of producers are entitled to some consideration, because it is from and through them that the salaries are paid. When the country is prosperous, those who are well-to-do do not want to work their children to death. Rather they want them educated. The remonetization of silver will send many a boy back to school. It will put many a good man at work where now he is searching in vain to find it. To confine the change that would come merely to the temporary results which it would inflict upon the laboring men is no comprehensive answer of the subject at all. Which will be best for the great producing hosts, the capitalists and the laboring men altogether? And the answer comes at once, why, it is only money, good money at that, and it is just a question of how much of that money through the work of men can be turned out and used by the people.

THE inside of the senatorial fight at Salem would make interesting reading. It is well known that there was $50,000 for four senatorial votes for Dolph, but the noble "thirty" could not be polluted.

THE ring fell hard and twenty-seven Dolph republicans, including Joe Simon and Henry McGinn, had to change their votes after McBride were elected in order to make the vote appear as unanimous. Even Joe can ride in a "bandwagon."

THREE cheers for Boothby. THE ring couldn't buy or bluff the "thirty."

McBride is a native son of Oregon. He is a man of the people and will represent them in the U. S. senate.

MONDAY MORNING quite an earthquake shock was felt in Portland. It was probably caused by the shaking up the ring received when Dolph was defeated.

RINGS and carmen are much of the same order and cannot last long in a free land. Oregon has at last broken the chains of serfdom, and the willing tools of the boss can now fall in with the men of nerve who faced the ordeal and say to the people without fear, "Our souls are now our own." We know that they are overjoyed at the victory which released them from bondage. It is a victory for the republican party and for the whole people.

THIS ring could not pass its senate measures through in the regular manner provided by law, so in one instance that has already come to light, amendments were tacked on under cover, the bill duly enrolled and signed. The senate was under control of the gang the last session of the legislature, but it will be some time before they get into the saddle again. God pity the man that can face a free people and defend their actions. To the credit of a majority of the republicans of this state, let it be said that they do not sanction such rottenness, and as a result defeat has been the fate of the ring.

AN EAGER and Nipping Wind. A continuous down pour of rain, inclement weather, generally in winter and spring, are unfavorable to all classes of invalids. But warmth and activity infused into the circulation contracts those influences and interpose a defense against them. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, most thorough and effective of stomachics and tonics, not only enriches the blood, but accelerates its circulation. For a chill, or preliminary symptoms of rheumatism and kidney complaint, particularly prevalent at these seasons, it is the best possible remedy. It is also invaluable for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervousness. Never set out on a winter or spring journey without it. Elderly persons and the delicate and convalescent are greatly aided by it.

FAIRVIEW NOTES. EDITOR HEPPEMER GAZETTE: As I never see any communications from this part of the county, I will send a few lines to let your readers know that the people here are still alive.

Mr. E. D. Leach has rented the Sperry ranch on Rhea creek, and will move there this week. All are busy since the advent of this fine spring weather, putting in crops and hoping for better prices.

Mr. Wm. Hargwood having rented his ranch to Andrew Peterson, will soon move to Lone, where he will engage in blacksmithing.

The pupils of Fairview school, under the direction of their efficient teacher, Mr. A. W. Balsiger, gave a very successful entertainment last Friday night, in honor of the father of our country. The exercises reflect much credit on both teacher and pupils.

On Saturday night the schoolmates of Menta Leach gave him a surprise party, it being his sixteenth birthday. After a few hours pleasantly spent in games and music, they departed wishing him many happy returns of the day. Those present were: Grant Olden, Lorin Baker, Arch Cox, Leslie Leach, Joe Bice, and Misses Jessie Olden, Dora Baker, Ida Dixon, Ella Walton, Byrd Cox and Mary Beckett.

From TOMMY TUBBY. FAIRVIEW, Feb. 25th, 1895. Slocum-Johnson Drug Co. desires us to publish the following extract from a letter of Chas. M. Crawford, of Rosely, Fresno Co., Cal., as they handled the remedy referred to and want their customers to know what a splendid medicine it is:

"It is with pleasure I tell you that by one day's use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I was relieved of a very severe cold. My head was completely stopped up and I could not sleep at night. I can recommend this remedy. A cold nearly always starts in the head and afterwards extends to the throat and lungs. By using this remedy freely as soon as the cold has been contracted it will cure the cold at once and prevent it from extending to the lungs."

SWAGGART'S SQUIRREL POISON TESTED.—B. F. Swaggart made a successful test of his famous squirrel poison, which was witnessed by a number of Heppner's business men yesterday. On Wednesday evening Mr. Swaggart distributed a can of poison over a piece of ground consisting of about three acres, a short distance below town, where the squirrels were very numerous. Yesterday afternoon a "bas" load was driven down to the place to see the effect. On walking over the ground where the poison had been placed 50 dead squirrels were counted, and many more undoubtedly died in their burrows. It was also noticed that while walking over this territory not one living squirrel was seen, though every side and along the road hundreds of

In the fall of 1893 a son of Mr. T. A. McFarland, a prominent merchant of Live Oak, Sutter Co., Cal., was taken with a heavy cold. The pains in his chest were so severe that he had spasms and was threatened with pneumonia. His father gave him several large doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy which broke up the cough and cured him.

A. G. JOHNSON, of The Dalles, deputy county clerk of Wasco county, presented to work against the Simon-McGinn-Dolph ring; he lost his position Representative Mintie, an "anti," had a mortgage on his little home, held by a ring man. Mintie had to support Dolph or lose his property; he chose the former but tore away from the chains of serfdom in time to help break the deadlock in accord with the sentiments of Clackamas county. Talk not to the Gazette about "traitors."

PATENTS FOR INVENTIONS. Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

A NARROW ESCAPE! How it Happened. The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain in my heart, which I described almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to walk up and down each day from my room, and I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room with a broom, and I was afraid to sit down. I had tried all the different remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit. I was told to buy Chamberlain's Heart Cure. I bought a bottle and used it as directed. I felt a great relief. I was able to sleep and eat. I was able to do my usual work. I was able to breathe freely. I was able to live. I was able to escape a narrow escape."

TO CONSUMPTIVES. The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send, free of charge, a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all throat and lung maladies. He hopes all sufferers will use his remedy as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address, Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, Brooklyn, N. Y. Jan. 1-95.
