

TIME TABLE.

For Hardman, Monument, Long Creek, Bay and Canyon City. Leaves as follows: Every day at 6 a. m., except Sunday...

City Hotel Bar!

Here and There.

Crescent. Root Beer at Boyd & Saling's Thursday. Don't overlook Johnny Hager for good meat. A. Andrews, of Alpin, is in the city today. Try Spray's hams and bacon, the best in town.

Photographer Dove will return to Heppner in July. Read "Coin's" publications. Don Carlos Boyd, agent. The Ellsworth poisoning case is being tried down at Portland.

La Grande Marble Works, La Grande Ore. S. C. Smith, salesman, Heppner. A delicious drink. Root Beer at Boyd & Saling's ice cream parlors Thursday.

Miss Addie Conlee left Saturday to take charge of the school out at Parker's mill. Now is the time to kill squirrels and Swaggart's "Sure Shot" is the stuff to do it with.

John Rasmussen returned Saturday evening from his prospecting tour in Grant county. Gibson Bros. are making a special out on large family groups; call and get their prices.

Mrs. Joseph Cummings is over from Wallula visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Smith. The Patterson Pub. Co. will soon have some bicycles on exhibition at their office in Heppner.

At Boyd & Saling's ice cream parlors you are sure to receive courteous treatment and delicious favors. D. A. Herren returned last night from Salem where he has been in attendance on the L. O. O. F. grand lodge.

Gettrude and Ralph Bishop went to Pendleton yesterday where they will visit their relatives for a while. Boyd & Saling only serve the best ice cream and cake, ice cream soda, ice cold lemonade and 1 milk shake.

For good meat, full weight and cash prices call on Johnny Hager, the new butcher, next door to the post office. Improve your fowls and double your production of eggs. W. W. Smead can tell you how it is done.

Wm. Dunn and family, Geo. Fell and wife, Miss Belle O'Brien, Miss Anna Brown and A. W. Patterson spent Sunday on upper Rhea creek in fishing and recreation.

Cor. Supt. Rev. E. R. Beech, of Lexington, and one Joe Gammell, had a shotgun tableau the other day. The rumors are that Rev. E. R. Beech was dogging Mr. Gammell's horses.

Died—At her home near Cavendish, Nez Perce county, Idaho, May 14, 1895, Elsie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Crabb, after a brief illness of six days. Deceased was born July 25th, 1863, and was aged 31 years, 9 months and 19 days.

Frank Sheperdson, an engineer on the Southern Pacific Ry., who resides at Los Angeles, Cal., was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. He was visited by several physicians, all advised that he should have a permanent rest until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier is admirably adapted to make "a little health go a long way." Its curative power is largely attributable to its stimulant, tonic and nutritive properties.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Smith and family, were up from their Social Ridge ranch yesterday. Mr. Smith informs this paper that the Arlington and Lexington G. A. R. will hold a reunion and have a general celebration on the 3rd and 4th of July at Lexington. A general good time is expected.

Died—Near Lexington on Saturday night, May 18, 1895, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Potter, aged 5 weeks. The funeral was held in Heppner on Sunday at 3 p. m., at the M. E. church. Rev. Adkins officiating, after which interment took place in the Heppner cemetery.

Mrs. Julia Bradley served an excellent dinner to the Heppner public at the City Hotel Sunday and it was well patronized. She was disappointed in getting her strawberries for that occasion, but the dinner was ample without them and well worth the patronage it received.

Subscribers to the Weekly Sun, the coming paper of Oregon, $1 per year. With the Gazette, both in advance, $2.75 per year. A good combination. Two of the people's papers at one price. Subscribe at the Gazette office.

Fred Beck, an experienced butcher from Portland, has accepted a position in Hayes & Mathews butcher shop, where he will serve the public in the best of style. Fresh meats and honest weight to everyone.

Call on McFarland Mercantile Co. and note their special prices on goods furnishing goods, hosiery and underware. They keep a complete line and sell these lower than they have ever been known in Heppner.

Lost—A tan colored bloodhound, ten months old, white spot on breast. Last seen at the residence of H. H. Smith. Reward will be given for his return to D. A. Herren, Heppner, Or. 6-11.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

The Class of '95 Entertain the People of Heppner at the Opera House—a success. "Bitch Your Wagon to a Star."

The above beautiful and expressive motto of the graduating High School class of 1895 formed an attractive part of the decorations at the opera house last Friday evening.

Eight Mile is noted for its grandeur and beauty. Although we need rain the crops are not suffering yet. The spring has been backward making things late. However, there is plenty of time yet, if we have plenty of rain later.

Mrs. Admitt delivered a very interesting lecture Sunday at 11 a. m., at Eight Mile to a large and appreciative audience. The subjects she spoke on were handled with eloquence and left a deep impression on the Eight Mile people.

Miss Lillian M. Bisbee's subject was "Room-matism; A Medical Treatise." She had full confidence in herself and appeared well, receiving liberal applause.

The subject, "Parallelism of Russia and America," was presented by Miss Mabel Loezer in clear, distinct tones and in a most attractive style. Judging from the manner of the audience it was much appreciated.

Miss Elsie E. Lacy delivered the "Class Prophecy." It was full of humorous sallies on her classmates, but ended in a serious, prophetic vein that they would all meet in the other world.

Miss Anne McHaley, the valedictorian of the class, proved that she was an orator of considerable ability. Her remarks were accompanied by easy, becoming gestures, and in all she acquitted herself most creditably.

It is time and space permitted, there are not enough good things that the Gazette might say for the exercises. The instrumental music was good, very good. Congressman Ellis presented the diplomas in a few fitting words, preceded by some general remarks in which he noted the fact that the graduating class contained not one young man, which fact he deplored.

Prof. A. W. Wier's parting words to the class were full of kindly advice, and no doubt the thoughts of more than one of the graduating class went back over the scenes and incidents of the class room, presided over by their venerable preceptor, now forever closed to them.

The end of this school year will probably conclude Prof. Wier's connection with the Heppner schools. He has labored diligently for four years in this field, and his efforts have not been unavailing, as his pupils will testify, provided they have due diligence themselves.

The Dallas Chronicle, Republican, says: "The silver question has captured the Illinois democracy, and in spite of the president, Senator Palmer, or any one else, the state convention will come out flat footed for free silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and regardless of any international obligations. Some of the dailies indulge in sarcasm about the democratic going over to the populists, and seem to think they will not be strong enough to accomplish anything.

EIGHT MILE NEWS.

Rain would be very much appreciated by the farmers. Ola Fuqua, who has been sick for the past week, is now convalescent. I understand that Miss Elsie Farmer has secured a school over in Grant county.

I hope the editor and the bicycle have been repaired and that all difficulties have been settled. Eight Mile is noted for its grandeur and beauty. Although we need rain the crops are not suffering yet.

Some thoughtless disciple of Ananias has published the following: The nearest man on record is said to live in Center county, Pa. He sold his son-in-law one-half interest in a cow, and refused to divide the milk, maintaining that he sold only the front half. The buyer was required to provide the food the cow consumed and was compelled to carry water three times a day. Recently the cow hooked the old man and he is suing the son-in-law for damages.

CHINESE DINING-OUT GIRLS.

They Are Employed to Amuse Men at Dinners. When, for instance, a Chinese gentleman intends giving a dinner to three friends he will arrange for it to be provided on a flower boat at a certain hour, and also for the company of eight dining-out-girls—two for each gentleman, says a writer in Century.

I call them dining-out girls, as it best describes to me their calling. They will come prettily dressed, their hair done up in most wonderful shapes and brushed over with a sort of varnish which makes it appear like a fantastic head-dress, carved in ebony. They will ornament this structure with bright flowers, though the wreaths will be as stiff as their hair; or they will sometimes add jade, gold or feather-inlaid ornaments. Their faces will be painted in white and pink—very artistically painted, smooth and soft-looking, delicately traced; sharp black crescents will mark their eyebrows. Dainty, demure dolls they will appear and prettily look upon; but seemingly one touch would destroy their artistic effects, as a rough hand the radiance of a butterfly's wing.

Two of these young ladies will attend to each gentleman, sitting slightly back from the table at each side of the entertained. They will fill his liquor cups, sip from them and pass them on; pick out dainty pieces of "chow" (food) with chopsticks and hand them to him; crack jokes, fill and light his pipe and all the while chat gaily and eat dried watermelon seeds. That is all I ever saw them eat. Behind each group of three a solemn-looking coolie, or waiter, will stand to fan them all the while. Other waiters bring in food, wine and tea, changing the dishes and attend to their wants. The meal will last for a long time. Eventually all will rise and retire to an outer room furnished with broad couches covered with matting. Opium pipes will be there for those who care for them and tobacco and cigars in plenty. The girls will sit on the couches, laugh, fill the pipes and still eat watermelon seeds, while the gentlemen will recline at their ease, enjoying their society.

CHECKING LABOR AGITATORS. The Fla Followed During the Building of a Mexican Railroad. "They had an original and effective way of preventing strikes on the Sonora railroad while it was building," said its first superintendent, according to the New York Sun. "The Mexican peons were given laborers to deal with, and there were habitual kickers and agitators among them to stir up discontent, like those we find in other more enlightened regions where great works are carried on. The Mexican government, standing as a backer of the road, was of course interested that nothing should interfere with its progress, and so when it was discovered that a man was stirring up trouble among the fellow laborers he was disposed of in a way peculiar to the country.

"Some men were detailed to get him drunk—no difficult task when liquor was furnished free—and he would wake up in the morning to find himself in military barracks and to be informed that he was an enlisted soldier in the army. All the formalities had duly been gone through with, and he was kept in seclusion in the barracks until he was transferred to some remote part of the republic. He was enlisted under an assumed name, so that when his friends came to the barracks to inquire after him by name they were informed 'that there was no such man there. If they doubted the statement there were the rolls, which they might inspect. As the Mexican soldier is virtually a prisoner, and the army is made up to a considerable extent of criminals pardoned under condition of enlisting, no comment would be excited by the keeping of a new recruit in confinement, and, off in Yucatan or Tabasco, his friends would not hear of him again, at least during the building of the road."

H. J. Stites, of Albany, has been elected grand master of the Odd Fellows for the coming year. Mrs. Ella J. Gates will also reign at the head of the Rebekah order of Oregon for the fiscal year.

T. N. Crow was in town Tuesday from the Ukiah county where he now has his sheep. He will remain over in that section this summer, but the Gazette will keep him fully informed as to Morrow county happenings.

The Crescent bicycle requires no Manchester stories to elevate it into popularity. It speaks for itself. Call at the Gazette office for prices.

Ben Swagart and Mike Roberts drew the Crescent bicycles in the raffle yesterday. One of the machines is a lady's wheel and the boys have not determined which one takes it yet.

Official Predictions! PREDICTION FOR HEPNER: A breezy time may be expected at Ben Hunsaker's, followed by a regular cyclone of low prices that will sweep all opposition before it. Showers of purchasers will follow, succeeded by a general clearing term.

Besides a general line of groceries, Hunsaker carries Tinware, Wood and Willow Ware, Glassware and Crockery, Cigars, Tobacco, Confectionaries, Etc.

HAS STRUCK BOTTOM!

That is what our competitors have to say of Minor & Co. That there is nothing left to cut on—that they have reached the bottom on everything.

WE CLAIM to carry the largest and best selected stock to be found in this city. No Cheap-John goods kept in stock, you can find them elsewhere.

We boast on the quantity and quality we handle, but as to our own honesty we have nothing to say; we are like the rest of the human race, born to cheat, misrepresentation and fraud.

AN ILL WIND!

It is an ill wind that blows no good, and although the playful pranks of Old Boreas exposes this fond couple to temporary embarrassment, the situation greatly amuses the spectators. Likewise the situation at IONE.

Joe WOOLERY

CARRIES A FULL LINE OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Which he sells at Bed Rock Prices.

Farmers of Eight Mile, Davidson, Gooseberry, Douglas, Jordan Fork and Ione sections can do no better than make their purchases of Joe. He carries a full line of Furnishing Goods, Boots and Shoes, Groceries, and in fact a complete stock of general merchandise. I saw.
