WHY PEOPLE WORSHIP GOLD. 'Tis a Belle of Barbarism and Has No Basis in Actual Value.

Men are accustomed to regard gold as the epitomization of wealth; to associate it with ease and luxury; to consider it the apotheosis of security and power, says William Penn, Jr., in Blue and Gray. This is merely a relic of barbaric ages, when monetary science was unknown and bits of the rare metals, coined or uncoined, were the particular possessions of kings and conquerors. This popular ascription of inherent value to the yellow metal, this silly notion that it by some means possesses a regal right to rule the commerce of the world, is so ingrained in human nature that most men recoil in dismay when it is suggested that its use as money may be entirely discontinued. While silver shared the throne with gold it, too, was held in as much and sometimes in greater reverence; but when, in 1873, concerted action condemned the white metal to take its place with corn and cotton and all the other subjects of the golden king, the power of gold was doubled and made absolute. Too many who regard gold as a ruler by inherent right forget that, during the long struggle for supremacy, silver was more than once within an ace of degrading her rival to the ranks, but at the end the gold power triumphed. Had the result been reversed the advocates of "honest" money might now be filled with horror at the thought of "fifty-cent dollars" of gold instead of silver.

People who are influenced by this ancient form of gold idolatry would do well to consider that it is a god of their own creation, whose power may and should be cut off whenever it becomes

Woman's Picture. Mr. Cremony, in his "Life Among the Apaches," gives an entertaining account of a lady's man with whom he once enjoyed an interview. "A tall, strong, well-made and handsome young dandy," he calls him; strutting about with an air of very superior consequence, displaying his colossal proportions, his splendid leopard-skin sad-

TRICK WITH A BANK BILL. Man Who Planned a Good Joke on His Boston Friends.

A man walked into a botel near the Grand Central station early the other morning, having just left a train. He ordered and ate a hearty breakfast and then, instead of giving his waiter the money to pay the check and waiting for the change, as most men do, he "tipped" the waiter and carried the bill to the cashier. In his hand, says the New York Tribune, along with the bill for his breakfast, he held a ten-dollar note. "I wish," he said to the cashier, 'that you would pin a slip of paper to this bank bill, so that you can identify it, and then put it away, please, until call for it. I'll be back to-morrow." The cashier looked rather aston-

"Yes," said the other. "I only want to leave it here as security for my breakfast. I'll come back to get it." "But it's a good bill," said the cashier. 'I'll accept it and give you the change." "No," replied the stranger. "I don't want you to do that. I want merely to leave this bank bill in pawn. I want to pledge it. Give me the price of my breakfast on it, and to-morrow I'll redeem it." "Oh, I see," said the cashier, with a smile, "you want to keep this bill be-

Education in Corea is of the Chinese order-the committal of whole books to memory. On all other subjects than knowledge of Chinese, says the Boston Transcript, ignorance is the fashion when it is not a reality. Philosophical speculation is stated to be common, but Corean notions of natural science are indeed very chaotic, if the following story may be accepted: "A well-known merchant of Chemulpo was asked by one of his native employes a man of some education-whether or not he had ever seen a sparrow which had died a natural death.
