CUTTING UP A STEER.

The Carcass as It Is Prepared for the Market.

the Slaughter House a Commercial Commodity-Profits of the Dealer.

In a recent interview with a New York wholesaler a representative of the World learned the following facts regarding the treatment of a beef animal in preparing it for the market:

"Such beef as I handle," said the dealer, "will weigh 800 pounds, that is, two sides will weigh 400 pounds each. This is dressed beef, all of which is cut up and sold. There is no waste. The fat and bones are sold. Such extras as ou see on the butchers' stalls, as brains, tongues. liver, tripe, oxtails, etc., do not come to us as dressed beef. These are special lines, handled by spe-

"There is a steer," and the dealer pointed through the glass door of a refrigerator as big as a small house. "that weighed 800 pounds when laid on these scales to-day. I paid 9 cents a pound for it. Don't believe these 11 and 12 cents stories, for they are not true. It cost me $72 at the warehouse. I hauled it here, must pay my men to cut it up and deliver it and all that. What will I get for what cost me $72?

"The rump will weigh 40 pounds, for which I will get 10 cents a pound, or $4; the round, immediately below it. will weigh 60 pounds, at 121/2 cents, or $7.50; the sirloin, 80 pounds, at an average of 14 cents, for there are at least three cuts of sirloin: it depends on the butcher-that makes $11.3 : the porternouse in a steer of 800 pounds will weigh price, or $12.

"Next comes what we butchers call the eye of the rib and what is known on bills of fare as prime rib roast. There will be 100 pounds of this at 15 cents, or $15. Next is the chuck, really a fine portion of the carcass, but a sufferer through its name. There is 90 pounds of this, and it brings to-day 10 cents, or $9. Immedately adjoining it is the neck, 30 pounds, much of which s sold as chuck. The price is five cents, or $1.50.

"Below the neck comes the loose flesh that is called in the slaughter houses the hanging piece,' and in butcher shops the 'brishet.' It is good boiling beef, but is much in demand for cornug. There are 50 pounds of it at 534 ents a pound, or $2.75.

"The section marked 'ribs, plate and navel' is the cheapest meat on the steer. It is for corning and soup meat particularly, will weigh 80 pounds, and sells at 4% cents, or $3.40. The shoulder piece, beneath which lies part of the brisket, is sold with the shin, and is generally called soup meat. It will weigh 55 pounds, and sells at 414 cents, or 29,48.

six cents, or $2.10. The hind legs yield are gaining those faculties, for the 'I have now accounted for 715 pounds of meat. The remaining 85 pounds is fat and bones. At least 10 pounds of fat is thrown in with orders, people having learned to expect it, and 314 cents a pound for fat and 35 cents per

The total receipts from the steer that cost me $72 will be $75.26, a profit of only $3.26, or would be a profit if I ran a business that entailed no expenses

"I am not a slaughterer now, but I know enough of the business to know that the slaughterer loses nothing. A steer goes into an abattoir on the hoof and every ounce of him goes out a commercial commodity. A 1,200-pound steer will net 800 pounds of beef. The hide is sold to the tanners. A limited number of tails go to dealers in ox tails and special dealers buy the tongues. and in Chicago go to the canners of "lunch tongues." There is a limited demand for brains. All livers find a ready sale, and the lining of the paunch. known as tripe, is growing in such favor that it is all disposed of to dealers, who pickle it.

"From the pure fat is extracted the highest quality of oleo oil. This is generally exported to Holland, where it enters into the makeup of the giltedged Dutch butter that commands fancy prices in England. From other fats come the lower grades of olco oil. From selected bones is secured by boiling gelatine, which is the busis of all cheap jellies and marmalades. Stearine, used as a base of chewing gum and for many other purposes, is the product left from the process of pressing out oleo oil.

"All hoofs are boiled, and the valuable commodity known as neat's foot oil is secured. The horns are sold to manufacturers of combs and fancy goods. The hoofs after boiling are also used in the making of horn ornaments. Everything that is left, blood, entrails, etc., is made into fertilizing material, not the least valuable commodity turned out of the abattoir. I have no positive figures, but I believe that the 400 pounds of 'offal,' the term used as applying to everything except the actual beef, will not the killer from $20 to $22. The wholesale slaughterer stage of the game. "Nominally, the retailer makes much larger profits, but his expenses are heavy. The trouble is that owing to a foolish producte against certain cuts. porterhouses, sirloins and prime ribs are too high, while other cuts that in the hands of skillful cooks would be equally good are too low."

CLOWIN WURLIN MILLIONS. In Twenty Years Barnato Has Acquired Over $100,000,000.

Paris has a king within its walls today, one whose subjects do him hom-age throughout the world of business, for the monarch is none other than Barnato, the king of mines, who at the lowest computation is worth one hundred and twenty million dollars.

Twenty years ago, says, a foreign exchange, a circus which had traveled, goodness knows how, from England to South Africa, arrived at Kimberley. It was not a big circus, in fact it was only composed of the manager, the manager's wife, a clown and two trained At that epoch Kimberley was not the diamond town that it has become since The circus did a poor business, and on morning the director and directres fiel, leaving the clown with two male and thirty shiftings in his pocker which is not much in Europe, but whila still lens at the Cape of Great Hope. > partnership with him, went to sell them in the town. Then, without divulging his discovery, he bought the field where he had made his find, took out only a few stones, for fear of arousing suspicion, bought other fields, and soon found himself a large landholder.

It was with these fields that the famous Society of Boers was created, of which Mr. Barnato is now governor. with Sir Cecil Rhodes and another; each of these three gentlemen now receives an annual salary of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars from the company.

When the first gold mines were discovered at Johannesburg, Mr. Barnato rushed there, bought as much land as he could find, organized societies on the London market and become 60 pounds, and 20 cents is the market king of the mines. He also went in for politics, and, although not a follower of Sir Ceeil Rhodes' policy, he caused himself to be elected deputy to the British parliament from the Cape of Good Hope.

Now Mr. Barnato lives in London and only goes to the cape for the parliamentary sessions.

He is a little man, about forty-five years old, wearing a slight mustache In dress he is very simple, and behind a pincenez mounted in gold (it is the only trace on his person of the metal king) he has two eyes of an incredible vivacity.

A CURE FOR IDIOCY. It Remains to Be Seen How Successful It Will Be.

A cure for idiocy is one of the latest

achievements of surgical science, which has taken so many giant strides of late years that it may be almost termed one of the wonders of the century. Experiments were made on the skulls of two children, who had been idiotic from birth, and the latest accounts are that they are not only surviving the shock of the operation, but are giving promise or a recovery of the mental facul-"The flanks weigh 35 pounds and are ties. It would be more correct to say mostly fat, selling in their entirety at says the Washington Star, that they 5 pounds of meat at 4% cents, or $1.58. | idiot from birth has no development until the obstruction on the brain is removed. This is exactly the process in the present trials. Holes are drilled in the skull of the child, at the top of the head where the "Fontanelle" or "soft spot" is usually located. In the case hundred for bones will yield $2.80 at the | now under observation, these spots had become hardened at birth, and thus the expansion and development of the SPEEDY, HANDSOME. brain had been arrested. The operation was, therefore, to make a new or artificial fontanelle. Great care had to he exercised, of course, to avoid injuring the brain, and there lay the main difficulty of the operation. The scalp is drawn anew over the apertures in the skull thus made, and the little brain is left to cure itself. The children thus operated on are two years old. It is, of course, a question just when the patients should be subjected to the experiment, and the age of two years has been chosen as the starting point. It has been considered probable that at this age the child, if it should recover its health and gain intelligence, will be scarcely behind other children of its own age a dozen years later. By that time assisted nature would have caught up with itself, as it were. There may be some question in the minds of ultra-sensitive people as to whether it is right for surgeons to experiment in this way upon helpless children by performing operations that may cause death. Yet there will probably be no general outcry against such an effort. In some sense death is preferable to life-long idiocy. Few parents would be likely to object to the experiment upon their own unfortunate offspring if conducted with the care which should attend all such dangerous proceedings.

> To Manufacture Glass Pipe. A new method of manufacturing glass pipe has been discovered which promses to revolutionize that industry. It has hitherto been found impossible to mold large glass tubes of any great length because the glass would cool while running into the mold, and the structure of the tube was not homogeneous. The new method consists of using a mold with a movable piston. The piston is just enough smaller than the outer shell of the mold to allow for the thickness of the tube to be made. The piston is placed the bottom of the moid and as the moiten glass is poured in the piston is forced upward by hydraulic pressure. Pipes are made by this process in sections six feet long and are used for sewers and water pipes.

> In a Woman's Stomach. In 1803 a woman died at Albany, N. Y, who had for a number of years been possessed with an uncontrollable desire to swallow all sorts of indigestible substances. A record kept by the physi-cian who performed the autopsy gives the following as a list of the articles found in her stomach: Fifty-one hairpins, sixteen needles, three darningneedles, thirty-two nails of all sizes, two screws, three pieces of an iron rod three inches long and one-fourth of an inch thick, two rolls of hair, two pieces of wood and three pieces of cloth, each of the latter being about i give inches some and one inch wide.
