

THEORY, CONDITION AND DUTY.

While the Gazette does not presume to know who should be blamed for the agitated condition of affairs that now exist in this city, yet, that such a condition exists no one can deny. It is common street talk, everyone has discussed it, so it has ceased to belong only to a band or circle, but is now public property, and it becomes this paper's duty to give its readers and the public the news. But in doing so the Gazette assists in giving publicity to a matter and condition which it would much prefer never to have heard of, and to know never existed. A church and its followers are usually supposed to instill into the hearts of all: cordiality, congeniality and Christianity, and themselves to live lives that exemplify the beauty of such traits of character. How much better then, it occurs to the writer, it would be for this trouble to have been quietly settled within the circle of the church, when the outside world would not have had any knowledge of the agitation, and for the members of that religious fraternity, instead of having donned the war paint and marched out to do battle for the element of their sympathy, to have used their influence for a quiet, secret settlement of all difficulties, a consummation that would certainly have been most devoutly hoped for by, at least the better element of society.

The Gazette does not presume to give this in the spirit of advice or dictation. No, it simply wants to give publicity to expression heard in the many curbside conversations indulged in by the citizens of our town during the past week.

GREAT SCOTT! here is our enterprising and usually esthetic contemporary, the Bethlehem Times, out in a declaration for bloomers as the best possible dress for all women who ride a wheel! It would have young women and old women, long, short, fat, scrawny, in fact any and all kinds of women riding across country in costumes which can be worn to advantage only by the most shapely persons. Well, there will be one satisfaction when the Times has its wish. The farmers won't need to put scarecrows in the corn fields.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The biggest liar on earth visited our office the other day with a story about the storm. He says the wind blew the bark out of his dog, the teeth from his harrow, the bars from the wires on his fence, the hole out of a hollow log, spokes from his buggy wheels, took one side of his whiskers and one of the wheels of his head.—Ex. Every newspaper has an occasional deal with just this sort of a man. But when once located neither their visits or their stories cause any worryment.

The Ohio democratic convention, which was held this week, indorsed Senator Brice, President Cleveland, the administration and re-nominated by acclamation, ex-Governor Campbell, who, with some reluctance accepted the honor, and now promises to make a vigorous campaign. This is probably the strongest nomination that could have been made, but we predict that an avalanche could not overcome the 140,000 plurality of last fall.

The San Francisco Call has begun the erection of what, when completed, will be the grandest and the handsomest newspaper building in the world. It will be 310 feet or fifteen stories in height, capped by a huge dome. In every respect it will appear as a marble palace, unique among all modern structures.

READABLE, reliable and republican. The Gazette.

If you don't read the Gazette you don't get the news.

If reputations were made on the pneumatic plan there would be lots of punctures.

MANDAMUS suits against the secretary of state are becoming so common that they create but little excitement and less comment.

If Japan wants good ships and "has got the money too," Uncle Sam can furnish them, all oak or of the best Oregon fir.—Inter-Ocean.

H. H. HOLMES' "castle" in Chicago, which is said to have been the scene of numerous murders, was burned Sunday night. The loss is $15,000.

It is said that every member of Mr. Cleveland's remarkable cabinet has a plan by which this country may be saved. Even Mr. Thurber has a plan concealed in the back yard.—Atlanta Constitution.

SEVERAL eastern papers have intimated that Cleveland will call a special session of congress in October. How absurd. Why October is one of the best months in the year for fishing. No, there will be no session called in October.

A FIGHT is already being made against Hermann, with a hope of defeating him for re-election. However, it looks like he will succeed himself. So will Senator Mitchell and Congressman Ellis. The people want their services continued.

BACK in Indiana a druggist has been fined $5,000 for making a man drunk, and down in Texas a pill-roller paid a like amount for "watering his stock." Next thing will be a customer heavily fined for winking the wrong eye in a drug store.

"MARCHING Through Georgia," says a Japanese correspondent, "is the greatest tune of Japan. It is played upon all occasions, especially when a victorious regiment is received on the homeward march." No wonder the Japs knocked the "stuffin'" out of China.

PORTLAND has raised the required guarantee fund of $10,000, and the exposition this fall is an assured thing. This is a commendable move, and shows that Portland has the proper energy and spirit that go so far in the makeup of any city of metropolitan aspirations.

W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE has emerged from his retirement long enough to say that he would not be surprised to see the democratic party in his state lose both the governorship and the senatorship. As Breckinridge is out of politics, his judgment may be regarded as unbiased.—Minneapolis Tribune.

ISAAC STERN, publisher of the Hebrew News in Portland, has a libel suit on hand as a result of having called Rev. Abrahams, the rabbi, a liar. Now from our acquaintance with Mr. Stern we are inclined to believe that there must have been some foundation for such a statement or he would not have made it. In any event he may rest assured that this suit will amount to nothing, other than a slight inconvenience to him.

AS THE home of turmoil, agitation and strife during the past summer Heppner certainly not only takes the cake, but is entitled to the whole bakery. This condition has existed to such an extent here during the past few months that it begins to look as though this prolific Heppner elime breeds despair, discontentment, displeasure, dovelry and, as Mark Twain typically styles it, "dam phoolishness." Isn't there any end to this agitation? Can't we hope to see the time when the sweet angel of peace will again spread its white wings over us as an united city and an united people. Think, at least, how much pleasanter, happier and better such a condition would be. Then let all join forces; the moral element sincerely hope, and the Christian band earnestly pray for the return of this peaceable, pleasant and pacific condition of affairs, when all citizens of our fair city can once more meet together to feel the touch of hand and the communion of heart.

EASTERN OREGON. From the E. S. Page Weather Crop Report.

Weather.—The hazy condition of the atmosphere became more dense and the smoke from the forest fires in Western Oregon has become more dense until now the atmosphere is filled with smoke. The maximum temperature during the week has ranged from 74 to 90 degrees, slightly lower than during the preceding week. The minimum has ranged from 48 to 66 degrees, except on Tuesday morning, when in places south of the Blue mountains, it was near to and below the frost point. No frost, however, is reported to have occurred. There has been an entire absence of rainfall, and very few clouds.

Crops.—Under the favorable weather conditions which have prevailed throughout the harvest season, harvest has progressed and the late-sown grain has filled better than anticipated warranted. In Wasco, Sherman, Umatilla and Morrow counties the grain harvest will be completed at about the end of the present week, while in the Walla Walla valley it is about half over. From reports received early in the season an average crop of grain was despaired of in the counties south and east of the Blue mountains; also in some of the Columbia valley counties; such has actually been the case, though there are many fields of grain on the low lands that matured the average yield with a grain of superior quality. Grain grown on the upper lands suffered from the drought, and as a consequence the yields are below the average, and the grain in many instances is shriveled. With few exceptions the farmers in Wasco and Sherman are satisfied with the results; the berry is of good quality. In the Walla Walla valley the reports are entirely in favor of the producer, he is a raiser of fruit or a grower of grain. In Union, Grant and Baker counties many farmers out their wheat for hay. During the months of May and June the weather continued cool, especially at night, and the corn crop looked yellow and sickly, but since the weather has become warm there has been a noticeable improvement, especially in the Hood River section; a fair crop may be expected. The hay harvest is closing. In many sections the farmers are cutting alfalfa, which is a very good crop where it has been properly irrigated, and very thin and inferior where it has been neglected. Pastures and the range show the effects of the drought. Cattle are thin. Hay will be scarce next winter, though there will be enough of old hay to supply some of the present crop's deficiency. There is an excellent crop of fruit being harvested for the markets. Our correspondent at Hood River states: "All kinds of fruit is plentiful, well developed and of most excellent quality. The largest fruit shipments Oregon has ever known have been sent from The Dalles, Hood River and Walla Walla this season. There is an excellent crop of fruit in Baker and Union counties." A correspondent from Union, Union county, writes: "The fruit crop is the only A No. 1 crop we have." Plums and peaches are ripening in Grant county, and in all other sections the fruit reports are favorable. Gardens are looking well and are producing an abundance for home consumption and some outside shipments. There is a good prospect for the potato crop in almost all sections. Potatoes and vegetables are extra fine where they have been irrigated. The water in the streams is very low. Grasshoppers are still in evidence though there is little for them to destroy.

There are no conditions present that indicate any rainfall for the next week. The haze and smoke will continue until rain falls.

TO CONSUMPTIVES. The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send, free of charge, a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all throat and lung maladies. He hopes all sufferers will use his remedy as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address, Rev. EDWARD A. WILSON, Brooklyn, N. Y. Jun-1-w.

Small Beginnings. Make great endings sometimes. Ailments that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is the disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts of maladies on a chronic basis. Moreover, there are certain disorders incident to the season, such as malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you have incurred risk from these influences, a wine glassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed. For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint, indigestion and biliousness, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventative. A wine glassful before meals promotes appetite.

Last week young Antone Abramamski fell from a tree up near the mill dam, badly injuring his knee. We learn from Dr. McSwords, the attending physician, that the boy now has a bad case of inflammation of the knee joint, which may result in white swelling. Antone is rather unfortunate in this respect, about four years ago he had the same leg broken by a fall.
