

It is reported that the Miltonian, a paper formerly published at Milton, is to resume publication.

PUBLIC OPINION, published at Walla Walla, is one of the latest ventures in the journalistic world.

A STOCK of goods without advertising is like a gun without ammunition—there's nothing to make it "go off."

A KENTUCKY physician, says an exchange, fatally shot a man who had applied for his services. His brother physicians should ostracise him for killing unprofessionally.

BRICE says he is for sound money. Maybe he is, but he's careful who gets it. The tax collector was compelled to sue him recently for the non-payment of taxes.

HOLMES, the wholesale drover, is now charged with the murder of Howard Pitzel, a 9-year-old boy, at Indianapolis. The evidence is very clear, and so strong that Holmes will surely hang.

ON hearing of Corbett's recent marriage, Fitzsimmons at once applied for admission to citizenship. Honors are about even at the end of this round, especially in the way of newspaper advertising.

FROM a recent number of the New Idea, published at Red Lodge, Mont., we notice that Chas. B. Eated, an old schoolmate of the proprietors of the Gazette, holds the position of business manager. Success to you, Charles.

IN A Kentucky town the other day Mr. Hale asked Mr. Bush to give him a chew of tobacco. Bush refused to do so, whereupon Hale drew a dirk and stabbed him through the heart. Truly a fine-cut performance!—St. Joseph Gazette.

IF THE London syndicate will take another batch of bonds Cleveland and Carlisle may knock out "Hail Columbia," and order the band to play only "God Save the Queen."—Ex. This would be about as American as the rest of the performance.

IN a recent interview Senator McBride said he was in favor of the election of senators by the popular vote of the people. In this respect he and Senator Mitchell are thoroughly in touch. The latter gentleman once introduced a bill to that effect, but it was defeated.

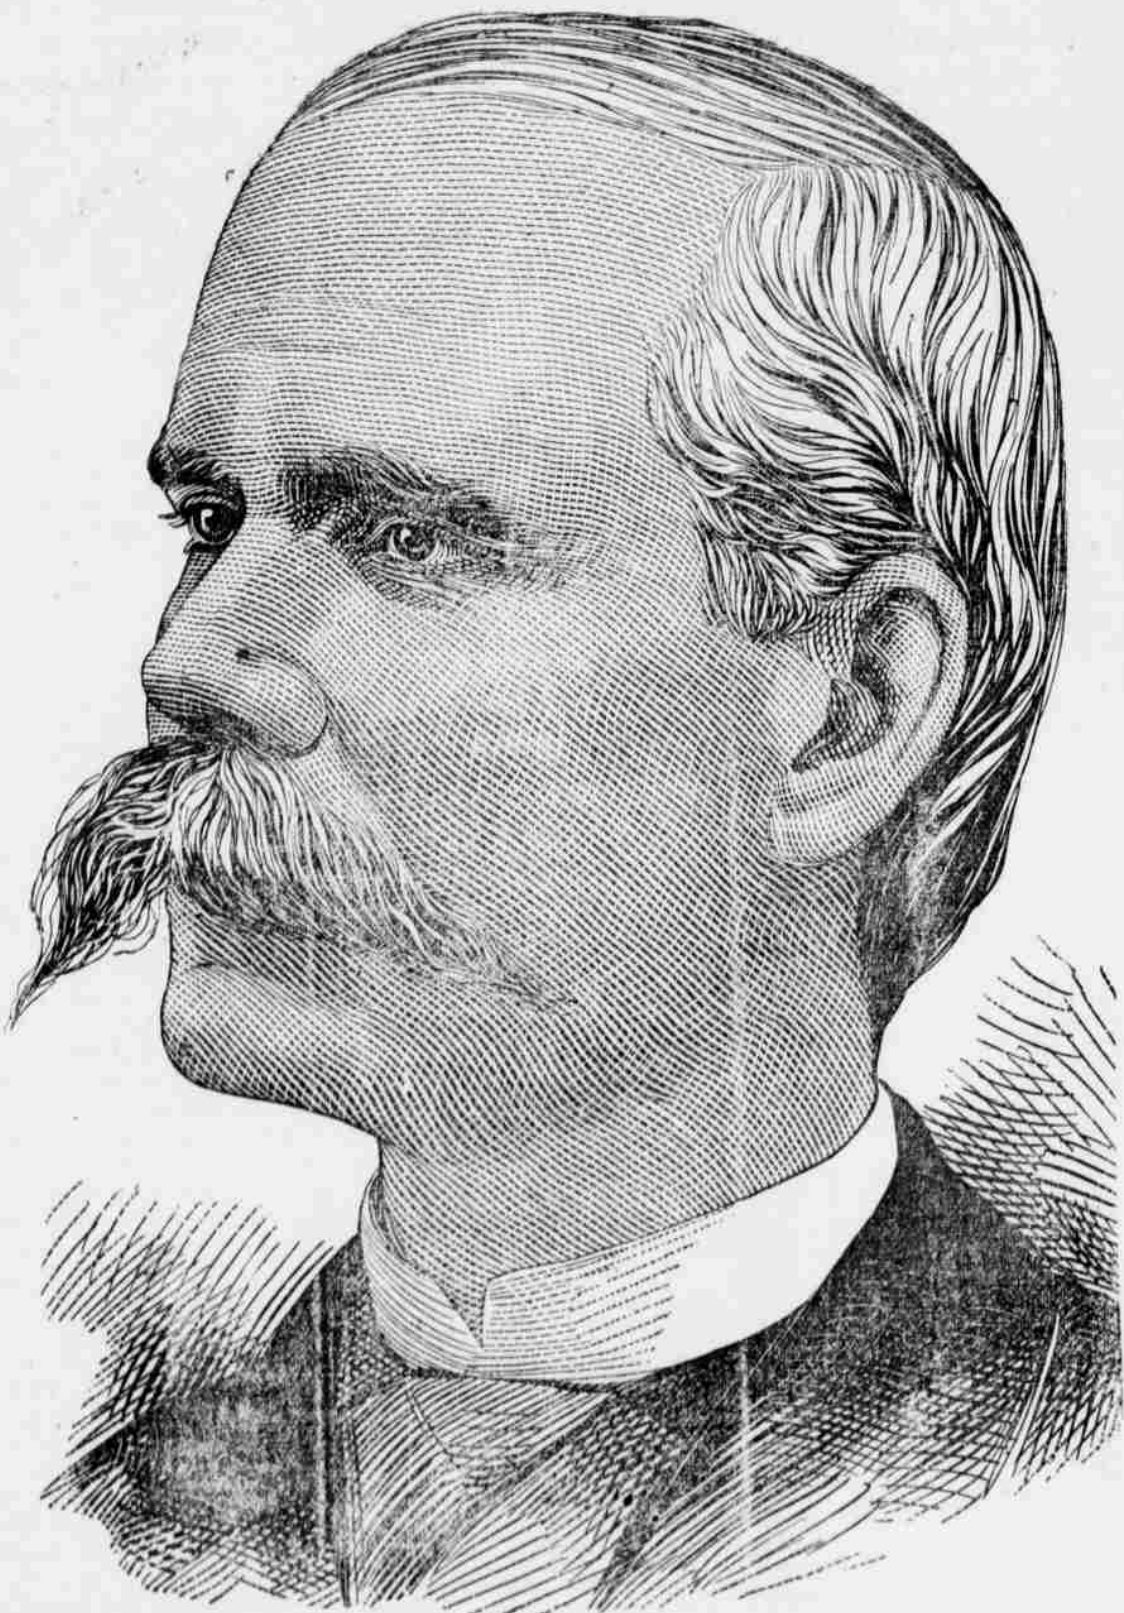

CHEHALIS, the Pendleton horse owned by Frank Frazier, is the fastest pacer on this coast. Down at "Frisco" he is known as the "pacing wonder," and from his wonderful work is certainly entitled to the name. This is his first year on the track, and he has already made a record of 2:09.

THE Dallas sheriff seems determined to stop the coming fight at all hazards. He asked for and has just received a legal opinion that he may kill any person who interferes. Perhaps he intends to shoot both Corbett and Fitzsimmons on sight, and thus end the fight.

"THERE is an alarming rumor that John J. Ingalls is heading toward the democratic party. If it proves true, the best thing the democratic party can do is to move," says the Chicago Times-Herald. We are not so sure of that. When John J. Ingalls heads toward the democratic party the party will at least stand a good chance of acquiring brains, courage and honesty. And of these no party can have too large a stock on hand. To drop into the parlance

JOHN NEWTON WILLIAMS.

Eminent Inventor of the Williams Typewriter Owes Strength and Health to Paine's Celery Compound.

The old-time visionary inventor has given place to the practical, hard-working professional inventor of today. The successful inventor must now be a business man as well as a man of mechanical ideas. The high tension of the nervous system, often kept up for months and months, makes tremendous drafts on the health of those busy brain-workers. Many succumb to nervous prostration when they seem just on the point of surmounting every difficulty. Of all the countless recent useful inventions none has passed through so many or so rapid a course of improvements as the typewriter. Today the latest perfected machine is undoubtedly the Williams typewriter, which represents a vast amount of cumulative invention.

John Newton Williams, its inventor, was born in 1845, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He spent his early manhood on the western frontier. Subsequently he settled in Kentucky, where he became known as one of the most successful stock breeders in the state.

But it is as an inventor that he has won his national reputation. Several most useful and important inventions were made by him before he produced the Williams typewriter, a machine that probably exceeds all others in the most important features.

Mr. Williams, speaking of the labor expended in bringing the machine that bears his name to its present perfection, says: "Some four years ago, when engaged in experimental work on the Williams, I was putting in about 16 hours per day of hard work and worry, and came near breaking down. Although very particular and regular in my habits and careful about eating, my stomach troubled me, it was difficult to eat, and more difficult to digest and assimilate my food, my stomach acting in sympathy with an over-worked brain. A friend had sent me Paine's celery compound to one of my business associates, and knowing him personally, and seeing what it did for him, I thought I would try it. I commenced taking it before meals, and it at once stimulated my appetite and aided digestion. I took two bottles and was much benefited.

"Again two years later I was troubled with nervousness and indigestion, and again took Paine's celery compound with great benefit. My wife, after her long illness last summer, and severe nervous prostration, and some trouble from indigestion, concluded to try Paine's celery compound a few weeks ago, and she is now taking it with steady improvement. Several of my friends have taken it on my recommendation, and are now practical believers in its great restorative powers. I have found the celery compound a tonic and restorative that I would leap upon with confidence in time of trouble."

Paine's celery compound makes people well! As a spring remedy it is unsurpassed.

A LADY died recently in England, and in her will it was found that she had left the whole of her fortune, amounting to $50,000, to the local newspaper, the perusal of which had given her many happy hours.—Ex. This is a type of appreciation rarely shown, but greatly appreciated. However, the Gazette wishes its readers long lives.

SEVEN men supposed to have been connected with the recent Ellensburg lynching have been arrested and bound over on charges of murder. This was brought about by prompt action on the part of the better class of citizens of that city who did not approve of the rash act, and is certainly creditable to Ellensburg.

BRECKINRIDGE, of Kentucky, announces that he is out of politics, and with this announcement he also incidentally remarks that from all appearances he would not be surprised to see the democracy loose both the governor and senator in that state at the coming election. Such a confession from Breckinridge shows the trend of independent opinion.

THE hotel horror in Denver was caused by a drunken boy, who acted as engineer. This will be used by temperance lecturers as another "terrible example;" but the proprietor who employed such incompetent help should be held primarily responsible.—Ex. Quite true; but the proprietor gave up his life with the others, so he has fully paid the penalty for his carelessness.

ELEVEN jurymen have now been secured in the Durrant case out of 600 persons examined. A special venire of 75 jurors has been drawn, from which it is hoped the twelfth juror may be selected. Six weeks' time has been consumed in the above effort. But the newspapers have almost finished the case, and will probably soon have Durrant either acquitted or convicted.

Small Boutsings. Make great endings sometimes. Ailments that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is the disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts of maladies on a chronic basis. Moreover, there are certain disorders incident to the season, such as malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you have incurred risk from these influences, a wine glassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed. For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint, kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventative. A wine glassful before meals promotes appetite.

Wait, Thompson runs stage between Heppner and Monument, arriving every day except Monday and leaving every day except Sunday. Shortest and cheapest route to the interior. F. Cohn, agent.

SENATOR DON CAMERON, of Pennsylvania, is the only man elected to the United States senate to succeed his own father. He was secretary of war under President Grant, and at the expiration of Grant's term laid down the cabinet portfolio to put on the senatorial toga which his father had just cast aside. The career of the Cameron family is almost as interesting as that of the Adams of Massachusetts.—Telegram.
