

THE state fair is now in progress and will doubtless be interesting this year.

"PETER THE POET" is no longer on the Klamath Star force, having sold out.

NEW YORK democracy had quite a row in their Syracuse convention, Tammany coming out first best as usual.

MARSHALL FIELDS, the Chicago dry goods man, made $7,000,000 last year in his business. Mr. Field advertises in the newspapers.

THE summer resort girl asked her lover who was a dry goods clerk not to forget her. "Never," he said absently. "Is there anything more today?"

A HARNEY county widow married a rich old codger for whom she had but little love. It has been suggested that this kind of marriage be called matrimony.

HENRY WATKINSON, an exponent of the "new South," stands at the head of the procession. His Louisville speech of welcome was the master effort of a great patriot.

THE horse is disappearing with the advent of electricity and the bicycle. An exchange suggests that there is yet one horse that cuts considerable figure with conventions—the dark horse.

It is said that Champion Corbett is not in good condition. He can rest assured that when he meets "Fitz" he must be in the pink of condition, and then put up his best fight, too, or go down forever.

THE Oregon Progress issued its first number last week. It is edited by Wm. F. Wallace, assisted by J. E. Haworth, and F. S. Barzee as general manager. The Gazette wishes the new venture a success.

MRS. LANGTRY claims to have lost over $200,000 worth of jewels recently. She had them deposited in a London bank. They were abstracted by means of a forged order, and now the "Jersey Lilly" is getting a large amount of free advertising, worth more to her than were the big diamonds, sapphires, etc.

THE new army rifle was tried the other day at a convict camp in the East with terrible effect. A soldier convict tried to escape and was shot through the head, though hiding behind an eight inch tree, the ball going through the man's head and four inches into a dirt bank some distance away. Of course the ball passed through the tree.

A MARRIED woman at the Dalles got the best of her husband a short time ago. Coming in late at night as was his custom he rang the door bell. His wife came to the door and whispered through the keyhole, "Is that you, Jim?" The husband's name wasn't Jim, and he stays around home of nights now and has converted his premises into an arsenal.

Why Not You? When thousands of people are taking Hood's Sarsaparilla to overcome the weakness and languor which are so common at this season, why are you not doing the same? When you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla has power to cure rheumatism, dyspepsia and all diseases caused by impure blood, why do you continue to suffer? Hood's cures others, why not you?

Hood's Pills are prompt and efficient. 25 cents. ATTENTION SUNDAY SCHOOLS. The semi-annual convention of the Morrow Co. Sunday School Association will convene at Heppner, Thursday, Oct. 11, 11 and 12. The superintendents and two delegates are expected from each Sunday school in the county. An interesting program will be prepared, and everybody is invited to attend.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS. Now that cycling has become popular, it was expected that some one would invent a disease as the result of that exercise. First came the disease of the spine, caused supposedly, by the bending over, in which the vertebrae in the middle of the spine were supposed to get wedge-shaped, but somehow cases of this kind were so rare that the discoverer of the disease went hungry trying to find patients, while the use of the bicycle became greater every day. Now some kind soul has discovered that there is a disease called "bicycle face." It is a peculiar gray hue and is said to be taken nervous exhaustion. Nevertheless, cycling will always be popular, for in moderation and within the confines of a person's strength and endurance, it can not be otherwise than beneficial. One can ride too much; they can also eat too much.

Secretary of State Kinsaid is fearless and uncompromising in his advocacy of what he deems to be right. Recently the New York Herald published a letter from Mr. Kinsaid in which he reiterated his well-known free silver coinage sentiments in a most convincing manner. In part he says: "Silver was the measure of value along with gold at 15 to 1 and 16 to 1 from 1792 up to 1873, a period of eighty-one years. The present national debt, and nearly all state, municipal, railroad and other debts in the United States were contracted under the silver standard, although many have since been funded or changed in form, but are still drawing interest. By changing the standard from silver and gold to gold alone a few thousand men, who own nearly all the gold and interest bearing bonds, stocks and mortgages, have doubled the value of their gold and their credits, which are payable in gold, and have decreased the value of the property and earnings of their property one-half."

Senator Dolph has been spoken of as a suitable person to meet Congressman Bryan in the silver debate at the state fair. Mr. Dolph is a splendid speaker, but he never tackles a buzz saw when he knows it.

The success attending Heppner's efforts to have races this fall proves that there is much of the old time vim and enterprise left yet. Less than one day's work secured the necessary funds, an organization has been effected, posters printed, and Eastern Oregon is being advised that Heppner takes no back seat.

Ex-Speaker Reed is planning how he will run things when he gets reinstated back to his old place. It is not likely that Mr. Reed is making any mistakes in fixing matters to suit his royal tastes, but strange things do happen and many a liter of ducks fails to come up to previous estimates. Reed, however, made a good speaker and put in vague rules, for which he was much assailed by opposing forces, but which have been passed upon by the highest judicial tribunal in the land, and finally adopted, in all their essential details, by the political opponents of Mr. Reed.

It is quite certain that the protective tariff policy of the republican party will not be relegated to the background in the next national campaign, though the question of bimetallism must occupy an important position.

Though Hon. Henry McGinn was bitterly opposed for the circuit judgeship by many prominent men in Portland, yet he was appointed. Hon. Joe Simon and McGinn are warm, personal friends, and both helped Gov. Lord to his present position. In return he could not do otherwise than appoint McGinn to succeed Judge Harley.

Swept by a Cyclone. Of approbation to the pinnacle of popularity, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has occasionally made it a bright and shining mark for knaves, who seek to foist upon the community as various compounds in the guise skin to that of the real article. These are mostly local biters or tonics of great impurity, and, of course, devoid of medicinal efficacy. Beware of them and get the genuine Bitters, a real remedy for malaria, rheumatism, kidney trouble, dyspepsia, nervousness, constipation and biliousness. Physicians of eminence everywhere commend the great invigorant, both for its remedial properties and its purity. A wineglass thrice a day will soon bring vigor and regularity to a disordered and enfeebled system.

INTERESTING TO HORSEMEN. HEPPNER, Or., September 23, '95. We, the undersigned blacksmiths and horseshoers, are well satisfied in our own minds if the Capital Horseshoeing Machine is properly used it is the slickest thing in the world for handling wild, fractious horses and broncos to shoe them.

J. H. SIMONS & SON, J. E. MASTERS, S. W. MEADOWS, H. OLIVER, W. P. SCRIVNER, N. S. WHEATSTONE, W. M. ESTES.

The Capital Horseshoeing Machine has been adopted extensively in California, fully 200 being in successful use. The Portland Horseshoers Union have adopted the machine and claim for it only what it deserves—that it is the most perfect device of the known world for shoeing horses without injury to themselves or the shiners. This machine has also been adopted in various parts of this state, though but recently introduced, and that its use will become general, is evidenced by all horseshoers. For cognitions, write Cunningham & Harter, P. O. box 370, Sacramento, Calif., or any person using the machine who will give full instructions as to its use.

A Woman's Nerves.

A STORY OF A WOMAN TO WHOM NOISE WAS A TORTURE.

Prostrated by the Least Excitement—Physicians Baffled by Her Case.

(From the Gate City, Keokuk, Iowa.) Mrs. Helen Meyers whose home is at 3515 Vernon Avenue, Chicago, and whose visit to Keokuk, Ia., will long be remembered, was at one time afflicted with a nervous malady which at times drove her nearly to distraction. "Those terrible headaches are a thing of the past," she said the other day to a Gate City representative, "and there is quite a story in connection with it too."

My nervous system sustained a great shock some fifteen years ago, brought on I believe through too much worrying over family matters and then allowing my love for my books to get the better of my discretion where my health was concerned. Why, whenever my affairs at home did not go along just as I expected, I would invariably become prostrated from the excitement and I would consider myself fortunate indeed if the effects of the attack would not remain for a week. I was obliged to give up our pleasant home not far from the Lake shore drive, because I could not stand the noise in that locality. I could find no place in the city which I deemed suitable to one whose nervous system was always on the point of explosion. To add to my misfortunes my complexion underwent a change and I looked so yellow and sallow that I was ashamed to venture from the house at all.

"Madam," said my doctor to me soon after an unusually severe attack of the malady, "unless you leave the city and seek some place of quiet, you will never recover." So I concluded I would visit my uncle, who lives in Dallas county, Iowa, and whose farm would surely be a good place for one in my pitiable condition. I picked up the Gate City one day and happened to come across an interesting recital of the recovery of some woman in New York State who was afflicted as I had been. This woman had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for pale people. I thought that if Pink Pills cured that woman they might do the same for me. I began to take the pills according to directions and I began to feel better from the start. After I had taken several boxes of them I was ready to go back to Chicago. My nervousness was gone and my complexion was as fresh as that of any sixteen-year-old girl in Iowa and Pink Pills is what put the color in my cheeks. No wonder I am in such high spirits and feel like a prize fighter. And no wonder I like to come to Keokuk for if it had not been for Pink Pills bought from a Keokuk firm I would not have been alive now," laughingly concluded the lady.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

GOLD-FEVER DAYS.

Adventures of the Argonauts Who Set Out from New Albany, Ind. A curious bit of the gold-fever times of '49 is recalled by the venerable William Fogg, who is well known all over the state as an old-time banker. Mr. Fogg at the time was clerk on one of the steamboats plying out of New Albany, for that city was then a great steamboat building and owning center, and Indians had the honor of owning some of the finest vessels afloat, says the Indianapolis News.

New Albany had the gold fever badly, and it ran so high finally that five hundred men, mostly young, banded themselves together and prepared to go to the newly-found Eldorado. They built their wagon beds in the shape of tightly-curved skiffs, so as to enable them to ford any stream without difficulty. This occupied quite a considerable while, but at last they were ready to start. The boat they had chartered to take them to St. Joe, Mo., was ready and they bade farewell. On the day of their departure New Albany, by common consent, made a grand holiday. Every factory, store and business house was closed, and cannon fired at sunrise to announce the event. Friends and acquaintances marched with the adventurers to the boat, and it was more as if an army went to battle than anything else. But the strange thing was, that in that crowd of young men there was an old man, named William Benton, aged sixty-five, whom everybody had tried to dissuade from going, and whom, everybody believed, would leave his bones withering upon the plains.

A couple of years rolled around and the survivors who could get back, or were still alive, began to return. Among them was Benton, and, strangely enough, he was the only one of all that crowd who had amassed a fortune. He did it by teaming.
