A NICE AUDIENCE.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNty of Morrow, State of Oregon. to Be. Daniel Frisbee, once a newspaper man, now an actor, tells the San Francisco Call:

At one place called West Union, in Iowa, we had the oddest experience I have yet met with. We played in a hall thirty feet underground that had formerly been two saloons, the stage being composed of dining tables. Though the theater was packed with people, we might have been playing to wax figures for all the interest they exhibited in the play. There was not one laugh or sign of applause from the beginning to the end of the performance. We noticed a man going up and down the aisles, but did not pay much attention to him until he came behind the scenes after the show and was introduced as the proprietor of the theater

-the ex-saloonkeeper. "Pretty nice lot of an audience," he remarked to me with the pride of ownership.

"Yes, quite a lady-like one," I an swered; "very gentle and timid." "They've got to be. I walk up and down the aisles with a club, and if I see anyone making a noise I throw

German Emperor Was Hazed by the Students at Bonn.

Dr. W. Clark Robinson, of Edinburg, was a classmate of Emperor William of Germany at Bonn, says the Boston Transcript. Telling of his first meeting with the German emperor he said the other day: "It was in the fall of '78 when I first met the emperor. He was a student at Bonn. I shall never forget the amusing spectacle he presented. You know it is the custom of the students at Bonn to take a daily

LOFTY AND LOWLY.

A Story of Two Bables Which Brings Tears of Joy. One of the women attendants out at the children's sanitarium on the Lincoln park lake shore tells a pretty story, says the Chicago Chroniele. "A woman who was sick enough her self to be in a hospital came up here with her child. It was a tiny thing, and so weak that it could hardly cry. The mother had to be assisted under the shelter, and then we gave her a reclining place from which she could see the lake. Soon after there stopped in front of the building an imposing carriage and team. The occupants were a woman whose dress indicated riches and refinement, a pretty and elaborher. I did not hear what was said at For sale by Slocum-Johnson Drug Co. first, but a few moments later I heard the rich woman say: ""Don't be afraid. I will leave you my child as security.' And with that the rich woman picked up the tiny child that was so weak, and carried it Rd. E. No. 2025. for the St. NWL; and Nt.

A respectable that?" lady there will not accept an invitation of a gentleman to any place of amusement unless some member of her own family accompanies her, and this tendency of the really good women to fraw the line between themselves and the extreme looseness of the lower classes has resulted in a prodishness which proved rather embarrassing a year or two ago to Thomas G. Allen. Jr., whose account of his bicycle trip. across Asia so interested the readers of the Century magazine a few months

The particular instance in question he relates as follows:

Of course we retired at once to avert the disastrons effects of a second esthetic shock, but we wondered at the same time how it was that a community which could connive at social scendals and look with equanimity upon the half-naked natives working on the street should be so disconcerted at the sight of a kneecap."

A TREE SUNSTRUCK. Hot Weather Puts an End to a Large

Maple. The editor of Meehan's Monthly tells of being summoned to hold an inquest over a dead sugar maple tree. It was supposed to have been destroyed by a unrestly. leak in the city gas main, near its roots, but an examination convinced Mr. Meefrom sunstroke. This maple had been planted on the street about twenty-five years, and was however, instead of being cylindrical, was shaped like a triangular prism, a peculiarity owing to the fact that on three sides of it the inner bark and wood had been killed, while the outer bark continued to cover up the injury so that the only living wood was at the angles of the trunk. Practically no more than one-third of the surface of the trunk was alive, and when the exceedingly warm weather came the limited number of ducts were not sufficient to supply the moisture needed to meet the rapid transpiration from so large a surface of foliage, consequently the leaves wilted and the tree died. Whenever the trunk of a tree takes on this angular form it should be examined under the bark, and if the flatter portions are found dead the bark and the decaying part of the wood should be wholly cut away and the denuded part painted to check the rotting. In time healthy wood may grow over such a sear, and the life of the tree may thus be eventually saved.

All but seven of the species are thus far known only from this basin. In comparison it is stated that eighty different species are known from the basin of the Rio Grande, one hundred and forty from that of the Missonri and one hundred and thirty from the Wabash basin. One night when Mr. Isnac Reece was stopping with me, says M. F. Hatch, a prominent merchant of Quartermaster. Washington, I heard him groaning. On going to his room I found him suffering from cramp colic. He was in such agony I feared be would die. I hastily gave him a dose of Chamberlain's Colic. Not a Good Likeness.

It is not always easy to recognize the 'gentlemen and ladies of sculpture.' No wonder the old lady in the following story, taken from the Evangelist, was somewhat in doubt: In the "monument room" of Trinity church is a large marble tablet put up in memory of the late Bishop Hobart. It is a bas-relief, representing the bishop as dying, and sinking into the arms of an allegorical about the church, and when they reached the tablet they passed long before it. At last the dear old lady Mock Modesty of Natives Who Are Used spoke. CRUSHED THE SNEERER. An American Teacher Who Was Very Patriotic. An Italian gentleman whom I met while traveling disclosed a most depraved inappreciation of the wonderful vastness of the United States, says a writer in Scribner's. He spoke English very well, for he had been many years in London, and, as we were enjoying the sea-coast view between Pisa and Via Reggio, he asked politely whether I was not an American from "the states." On learning that I was he begged me to tell him angry, "Italy will go twice into the petty province of Texas." It was very naughty to get angry, and especially with such a politely sarcastic little Italian. I know it. But who could sit still and hear the sheer, unapproachable - nay, glorious - immensity of our country assailed without getting angry? Do horses weep? is a question discussed by the Admiralty and Horse to a paper prepared for the United Guards Gazette. It tells us that there is a well-authenticated case of a horse weeping during the Crimean war. On the advance to the heights of Alma, a genera. These belong to the following | battery of artillery became exposed to the fire of a concealed Russian battery. and in the course of a few minutes it was nearly destroyed, men and horses killed and wounded, guns dismounted and limbers broken; a solitary horse, which had apparently escaped unburt, was observed standing with fixed gaze upon an object close beside him; this turned out to be his late master, quite dead. The poor animal, when a trooper was disputched to recover him, was found with copious tears flowing from his eyes; and it was only by main force that he could be dragged away from the spot, and his unearthly cries to get back to his master were beartrending. Apropos of the intense love that cavalry horses have for music, a correspondent of the Gazette writes that when the Sixth dragoous recently changed their quarters a mare belonging to one of the troopers was taken so ill as to be unable to proceed on the journey the following morning. Two days later another detachment of the same regiment, accompanied by the band, arrived. The sick mare was in a loose box, and, making her way through the shop of a tradesman, took her place in the troop before she was secured and brought back to the stable. But the excitement had proved too great, and the subsequent exhaustion proved fatal.

Banner Diamond Wedding.

This remarkable item comes from Kennebunkport, Me. The Manuel diamond wedding was celebrated there ecently, and was a notable affair. Mr. Manuel is nearly one hundred and ten rears old, and his wife is nearly as old. The wedding murch consisted of a proremion of centenarians, there being a number of Kennebunkport people who vere over one hundred years old. The hildren, grandchildren and greatgrandchildren joined in the march. The ceremony was followed by an oldfashioned dance upon the green.
