

GEN. MARONE died in Washington City on the afternoon of the 8th. He was at one time senator from the state of Virginia, and a leading figure in politics in that state.

GOVERNOR F. T. GREENHALGE was renominated for a third term by the Massachusetts republican convention at Boston on Saturday the 5th inst. The platform adopted declares very strongly for protection, but is not in favor of the free coinage of silver by this government outside of an international agreement.

EX-CONGRESSMAN THOMPSON, of Portsmouth, Ohio, prophesies the election of Bushnell in Ohio by forty thousand, and says if the proper interest could be aroused in the election the plurality against the democratic ticket would be seventy-five thousand. He considers that there is no question of the republicans carrying the legislature.

FRANCE points with pride to the fact that there is only one lawyer to every 6000 of her people. This country cannot make as decent a showing as that, but some comfort may be derived from the reflection that of every 6000 persons who claim to be lawyers in the United States only about one is really deserving of the title. Most of them resemble necessity in that they know no law.—Telegram.

GOVERNOR CULBERTSON, of Texas has successfully put an end to prize fighting down in Texas. Then a governor can accomplish something if he tries. So many have filled the office of governor as "figure heads" that the idea has become prevalent that a governor amounts to little or nothing; but Governor Culbertson has put a gratifying object lesson in the way of the growth of this idea.—East Oregonian.

CALVIN S. BRICE, U. S. senator who represented the sugar trust in the last congress, is said to have spent $50,000 during the fashionable season in Washington city. He gives to each of his daughters $8000 a year for pin money, and allows his sons each $10,000 to keep up style. How all this can be done on $5000 a year is beyond comprehension, without help from the trusts he represented.—Tacoma News.

SENATOR R. A. ALGER, of Michigan, the millionaire lumberman, is in California looking after his business interests there. He talks politics some, so the papers say, and states that McKinley, Allison and Reed have the best presidential following in the East, and he is also of the opinion that Gen. Harrison will not be a candidate. But our knowledge in regard to this matter of presidential candidates will doubtless be more acute a few months later on.

THE question of taxation of church property is now agitating the people of Multnomah county. Assessor Greenleaf, of that county, has placed considerable property belonging to different churches, on the tax roll, and claims that they should contribute towards the expenses of the county and state government. We cannot help but agree with the assessor's views on one point at least, and that is, all property of church societies from which revenue is derived, should pay taxes. This is no more than fair and just.

DEMOCRATIC stump orators explain to their audiences the beneficent work of the Wilson-Gorman bill. Those audiences ought to keep in mind this: The United States sold $76,000,000 less to Europe last year than the year before, and bought $77,000,000 more in Europe last year than we did the year before. The total difference is, in round numbers, $152,000,000 that we are out for the year. Those same audiences ought to remember how two years ago we were told how the change in the tariff would increase our exports; that the ships must be loaded both ways. That shows the difference between democratic theory and democratic fact. It is the same old law. No country outside of England ever tried a tariff for revenue only and clung to it long enough, that was not absolutely stranded.—Salt Lake Tribune.

THE formal indictment of the man known as Holmes for the murder of Benjamin Pitezel gives promise that enough of the extraordinary course of this extraordinary criminal will be judicially uncovered to hang him. This is all that is necessary, since he has but one life to forfeit. His conviction on this indictment will be fortunate, as it will stop the telling of the full story of his murderous life. Curiosity, of the ghoully type that feeds on bloody deeds, will be disappointed, but justice, as far as it is possible to mete it out to such a criminal, will be secured.—Oregonian.

COLONEL WAT HARDIN, who is running for governor of Kentucky as a democrat, said in a speech at Brandenburg the other day: "I will not surrender my convictions for any office on God's green earth." Colonel Hardin believes in free and unlimited coinage of silver. His platform indorses the gold platform of the president and Secretary Carlisle. The colonel accepts his platform only as a step to the accomplishment of his ends, and it now remains to be seen whether the democrats of Kentucky, who have long followed Secretary Carlisle and believes as he does, will hold to their convictions as faithfully as does the candidate. If they do on election day Colonel Hardin will be allowed to hold his convictions and not be embarrassed by any office.—Inter-Ocean.

A storm at sea increases the discomfort of the voyager. But even when the weather is not tempestuous he is liable to sea sickness. They who traverse the "gigantic waves" should be provided with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which quiets disordered stomachs with gratifying speed and certainty. To the hurtful influence of a tropic, malarious or too rigorous or damp climate, as well as to the baneful effects of unwholesome diet and bad water, it is a reliable antidote. Commercial travelers by sea or land, mariners, western pioneers, and all who have to encounter vicissitudes of climate and temperature, confer in pronouncing it the best safeguard. It prevents rheumatism and pulmonary attacks in consequence of damp and cold, and is an efficient defense against all forms of malaria. It can be depended upon in dyspepsia, liver and kidney trouble.

SOME THOUGHTS BY THE WAY. ED. GAZETTE: I have recently hazarded life and limb by passing through the Parrish canyon with a wagon and a span of bronchos. Those of your readers who have ever undertaken such a trip will readily realize the dangers through which I have passed, but life looms up in the far distance and limbs are all erect and able perhaps, to carry me on into far brighter times than these, namely, when Corey is president and greenbacks are the principal money of the country. Perhaps the canyon was not particularly dangerous for Mr. Slocum, to pass over on horseback, but when "comequick" gets in there with a "comequick" pair of steeds then the fur and pheasants fly and don't you doubt it. Ah! one flew into the fryingpan, and cotton-tails tickled the epicurean palate of your correspondent, and kept him in a moderate fair mood. We met three droves of cattle, one from Waterman Flat, one from Bear creek and one from the Oheco, all destined for shipment at Heppner, which shows that to be the most practical shipping point, and proves that a good road would give Heppner many advantages by way of trade.

Mitchell is the most flourishing little town I have yet seen in my travels through Eastern Oregon. She has many new buildings in process of erection, among them a fine schoolhouse, which would do credit to a much larger burg. Surely the building boom has struck her and the surrounding stubblefields are not barren tracts of land. The people complain of poor crops and demand a cent per pound for any and all kinds of grain. Typhoid and lung fever was quite prevalent in town and a few deaths had occurred, among them a Miss Boardman, with whom some of your readers are acquainted.

The Oheco valley seems one vast hay yard, but as usual people complain of short crops. However, they are very generous toward the traveling public and do not seem to be vying with each other to get the "cinch" on some unfortunate work hunter. Fainville is about the same it was three years ago. No building boom here and all complain of hard times and doubtless will complain until the "pops" come into power and the Corey bills pass an honest congress. Well, Mr. Editor, you will please pardon me for my political allusions for Honest Peter, of Eight Mile, said, just before I started, "you was better raised than to go off with such a party." But what was I to do when the old party left me and the new name along teaching the same principles upon which the old republican party was founded, and the principles which I had so long maintained. Honest Peter had better procure some new glasses, for I do not believe he can look into a watermelon until it has been plucked or split open. Talk about no departing from my raising! Peter, like many others, has been led off so by degrees, that he does not realize that he is standing out against his own and party's best interests, and when I see the situation it is no wonder I drop a political shot now and then and try to avoid the evils of perverted reasonings.

WILL HONKES. PRINEVILLE, Ore., Oct. 5, 1895.

That Tired Feeling. Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparil is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver. 25cts.

ONE ITEM. The weather is fine, serene. The grass has started well, but another sprinkle would help it along. Mr. Ben Case is making arrangements to build an addition to his home. Mr. Ed Glock purchased the old blacksmith shop and two lots and is ready for business. Mr. Tom Carle has moved part of his ranch house down to Ione and rented it to our new teacher. Mr. E. Glock spent his spare time digging a well and struck plenty of water at ten feet deep. Mr. Joe Woolery shipped several car loads of hogs. He makes a specialty of fattening hogs for the market. Mr. Sando sold his old hack to Mr. Childs. Mr. Childs is now engaged in waiting a well for Mr. Petseys, but expects to make a trip by hack to California in the near future.

Ione had quite a time of securing a teacher. Mr. Gilstrap is now employed and school starts today. Quite a number of pupils will attend, as the population of our district has increased wonderfully since our boom. JAKE. Oct. 7, 1895. Mr. G. G. Strong, principal of the public schools at Anderson, Cal., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have found it an excellent remedy for lameness and slight wounds." Lameness usually results from a sprain, or other injury, or from rheumatism, for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm is especially intended and unequalled. It affords almost immediate relief and in a short time effects a permanent cure. For sale by Slocum-Johnson Drug Co.

Meadows & Serrano, the blacksmiths, horsehoes and wood butchers, at the Old Gunn stand, Main street, Heppner. Call on the boys. GALLOWAY CLEANING. We are enjoying beautiful weather at present. Our school is progressing nicely with Miss Thompson as teacher. Lou Wattenburger has about completed his new house, which he will soon occupy. On Thursday evening last Rev. Warren preached at the school house. The house was well filled. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ayers are rejoicing over the birth of a daughter last evening. Jim steps very high today. "Uncle" Henry Thompson and wife will soon leave for a visit to Portland. They expect to attend the fair while below. An attempt has been made by some of the young men to organize a base ball club. We wish them success in their enterprises. Wm. Gillette and wife have returned to their home near Pendleton. They have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Matthews. It is sincerely wished by many that our county commissioners would place a "wants" on coyotes, as they are damaging the farmers a good deal by killing their pigs, chickens, etc., and soon the sheepskin will be lower also. Keep the Baby Fat.

My baby was a living skeleton. The doctors said he was dying of Marasmus, Indigestion, etc. The various foods I tried seemed to keep him alive, but did not strengthen or fatten him. At thirteen months old he weighed exactly what he did at birth—seven pounds. I began using "SCOTT'S EMULSION," sometimes putting a few drops in his bottle, then again feeding it with a spoon; then again by the absorption method of rubbing it into his body. The effect was marvelous. Baby began to stouten and fatten, and became a beautiful dimpled boy, a wonder to all. SCOTT'S EMULSION supplied the one thing needed. "MRS. KENNON WILLIAMS."

is especially useful for sickly, delicate children when their other food fails to nourish them. It supplies in a concentrated, easily digestible form, just the nourishment they need to build them up and give them health and strength. It is Cod-Liver Oil made palatable and easy to assimilate, combined with the Hypophosphites, both of which are most remarkable nutrients.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute! Scott & Bowne, New York. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

AN EXPLANATION. That we may not be misunderstood, I hasten to correct a mistake made by myself at the mass meeting last Wednesday night. Following the able address of Mr. Bagley in behalf of the Mercy Department of the W. C. T. U., I remarked that no White Ribbon Woman, up to the line in all white ribbon principles, wore feathers. I should have said birds or parts of the bodies of birds, as many kinds of feathers, such as ostrich tips, are obtained without inflicting suffering or taking life. It is our purpose to at all times be able to give a good reason for the principles taught by our organization. You will probably hear from our mercy department again. This is a work of education, and when our women are made acquainted with the facts concerning the cruel torture and destruction of our most beautiful birds, there will be no birds worn as ornaments. Mrs. H. F. Bagley, County Pres. W. C. T. U. First! First! Hebing Ethos. hypodermis—Monsters, intense itching and stinging, most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue, however, forms, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWANSON'S Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Beware of cheap imitations.

When we consider that Heppner handles more merchandise than the other seventy-two counties of Eastern Oregon put together, and that P. C. Thompson Co. handle nine-sevenths of that. It is not to be wondered at that they have all of the local trade and part of that of California and Chicago, but they will not be satisfied till they have the trade of Paris, London and New York also.
