Hair on the Altar of Good Complexion. The majority of the female beauties of Sidney, according to an English observer, have peculiarly delicate complexions, languid expressions, fragile physique and a die-away look in the eyes, which are more suited to the enervated temperment of an old civilization than the active vitality of a new world. It was easy even for a novice to detect that these ladies owed a good deal to their perruquier. The mystery of this curious com! -:ation of premature baldness and unusual delicacy of complexion was explained by the fact that these women ate arsenic in order to produce the aristocratic pal-

THE WEALTH OF NATIONS. Our Country Has More Than a Quarter of the World's Riches.

The wealth of the United States is all of the rest of the world put together. So reports Prof. Francois, a student of political economy, in a recent number of Monde Moderne, a French publication.

He places the wealth of this country at 313,000,000,000 francs-which is equivalent to about $62,600,000,000-and that of the other eighteen countries covered by his statistics at 1,144,700,-000,000 franca-

Then come Russia with 197,000,000,000, Austria-Hungary with $2,090,000,000, Spain with 63,000,000,000 Italy with 54,000,000,000,or milliards and as the French say of francs.

MODEL SHEEP BARN.

Just the Thing for Farmers in the North and Northwest.

The plan of sheep barn and yard shown herewith is one of the best models for the sheep farmer in the cold north, as in the arrangement everything is convenient and well arranged. The long fodder can be fed from the feeding passages, but to feed the grain or roots the attendant must go into tected. The stone wall is plastered on the inside. The doors, D, are large and pended from the sleepers above, which, by the use of ropes, pulleys and a sand bag, can be gently let down, one of the pens can be turned into a closed compartment for ewes when breeding; and by the use of hurdles which are hinged together, and which, when not in use are stored neatly away above, this closed compartment can be subdivided into numerous pens for several sheep. The doors at the ends of the feeding passages next the walls open into the passages and are hung in such ble remedy for ailments and abrasions a way that when sheep are being of the flesh, there is none better than changed from one pen to another the Dr. J. Chinese Cannibuls.

The Chinese are cannibals. China's years has not succeeded in doing away with cannibalism among its own people. When Chinese have been enmore than a fourth as great as that of gaged in warfare with tribes on the mainland, we hear of this cating of human flesh, but not until I reached Formosa did I have proof of its truth. After killing a savage on the island, the head is severed from the body and is placed on a pole to exhibit to those unfortunates who are not at hand to witness this heartless display of slaughter possible and mutilation. The body is then divided among the captors and eaten. The kidney, liver, heart and sole of the foot are considered the most desirable portions, and are usually cut up in very small pieces, beiled, and eaten as a sort of soup. The flesh and bones are boiled

ENORMOUS HEAT.

A Figure Which Demonstrates the Power of the Sun.

., There is not more than one person in each ten thousand who has anything like the correct idea what an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and two hundred thousand in tength would look like. It is also true, says the St. Louis Republic, that there is no necessity for one being provided with a mind that would enable him to form a correct conception of such a gigantic cylinder of ice, for there is no probability that anyone will ever live to see an icicle even half so large, yet it is interesting to know that Sir John Herschel, the great astronomer, used such an illustration in one of his articles on the intensity of the sun's heat. After giving the diameter of the great blazing orb, and a calculation on the amount of heat radiated by each square foot of its mmense surface, he closed by saying that if it were possible for an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and two nundred thousand miles long to plunge into the sun's great burning sea of gas it would be melted away and utterly consumed even to its vapor, in less than one second of time. Such an icicle would contain more ice than has formed on the rivers and lakes of the United States during the past one hundred years; its base would cover the average Missouri country and its length would be almost sufficient to reach to the moon. On the farm there is continually occurring little secidents to man and beast that cause delay to the farmer in his work. The duration of this delay is a matter of importance to the thrifty tiller of the soil. As a quick and relia-

When railroads were first put in operation it was predicted that there would be a great fail in the value of horses, a deterioration of horse flesh, by means of a tap the hose water can and finally that the animals would soon become curiosities on the way towards extinction. Of course, says the Boston Transcript, everybody knows that nothing of the kind happened. Horses increased in number, value and quality. The business the railroads developed all along their ines occasioned a demand for more and better horses. Just at present the popularity of the bleyele and the application of electricity to transportation are causing some people to repeat the predictions of fifty years ago concerning the horse. It is even said that the horse in the near future will be raised simply for slaughter for food. If the horse could learn of this prediction his intelligence and his sense of his value would prevent him from taking it seriously. He might ask: What good so-called civilization of thousands of is the electric car off the rails? How does a bicycle act on plowed ground, and what can it draw without the assistance of human energy? If horses become very cheap will not more people buy them, and will not the aggregate of individual wants occasion a great demand that will send up prices? The intelligent horse asking these questions could well afford to munch his oats calmly while the alarmists were cogitating as to what reply was
