A SINGULAR POLICY.

The State department has now an opportunity of putting the country into its true position as the protector of national rights on this continent, and of retrieving the worst effects of its blunders in the Nicaraguan affair. England has met Mr. Olney's well-meant but blundering offer of "good offices" and "arbitration" with the quiet contempt which Mr. Greeham taught them to entertain for our diplomacy. They have not even answered the note in which he stated the American view of the question, and intimated that we would regard any attempt to use force in asserting their alleged rights, as a violation of the Monroe Doctrine. No doubt they have not anything by this note. "If he does," they may say, "why should be be taik. trial. The result was truly wonderful. could call it nothing else, after be had ing about arbitration? Who ever heard to arbitration? Why, they would as soon think of submitting the binding force of the Ten Commandments to arbitration! Evidently he does not really mean what he says, but is blustering a but in order to catch the votes of the Jingo party in the States." So they passed Mr. Olney by and sent an ultimatum to Venezuela, in which it is plainly intimated that Venezuela-after the Nicaragus precedent-will have to pay smart money for arresting the British police they found in the disputed terri-
