

THE MAJORITY SHOULD RULE.

The Kentucky legislature is a tie between republicans and democrats, two populists holding the balance of power. It is clear that neither party can elect a senator without the aid of the populists; that is, neither alone can elect a sound-money senator. Then the sound-money men of both parties should unite to defeat Blackburn and elect some man who can be trusted on this vital question. His party politics are of secondary importance.—Oregonian.

The Gazette agrees that in the event a republican cannot be chosen that it would be well to unite with the democrats, but the Gazette would prefer that said proposed combination causes the election of Blackburn. But it would be infinitely better if the combine could elect a republican, and if the Oregonian was a good republican paper it would rise above prejudice and Clevelandism and say so. It occurs to the Gazette that the Oregonian has been saying all the time that the question is all "tariff" and that the money issue is not in it, but from the advice given to Kentucky republicans it appears that the "great issue," with us, is not worth consideration, when there is a chance to down some "silverites." The trouble with such advice is that it tends to disrupt party organization, as like all good rules, it works both ways. The nigger's coon trap caught them "both gvine and a comin'."

The Oregonian is a great newspaper—in all, the best on the coast and rivaling the leading papers of the East. Its editorials are masterpieces in rhetoric. But they are often splenetic; they are more frequently dictatorial; in all they are strongly self-opinionated. The Gazette thinks that these are fatal mistakes, not because of any little disagreement with that paper, but that it often has just the opposite effect intended. For instance, the Oregonian did more last winter to defeat Dolph than any other one influence, not because of what was said, but how it said it. This is to be regretted, because a great republican factor like the Oregonian should do its part towards pouring oil over the troubled waters in endeavoring to re-unite warring factions.

The chances are that the Oregonian will run as it pleases regardless of advice given to it by rural "porous-plasters," but all republicans have an interest in republicanism; they have a desire to see harmony prevail; to know that majorities are respected. The Cleveland style of the minority ruling the majority is not popular in Oregon, and it is the intention of the republicans who have strong silver views to support their party nominees, and in every respect sustain the party organization in the state. There are other factors entering into the contest besides the financial one. Will the Oregonian use its best counsels for union, for harmony? Then it must modify its course, to some extent. Majorities should and must rule.

ALLISON'S presidential boom is getting good, but it is feared will ripen too soon.

It is possible that the next congress will put a revenue tariff on lumber, wool and beer.

The Niagara river is lower than ever before in the memory of man. This is caused by the water in the lakes being lower than usual.

If SAN FRANCISCO gets the republican national convention, and it looks like it now, there will be a strong pull for Allison, and it's an even bet that he will be chosen. He will be very acceptable to all factions of the republican party. The silver men would prefer a stronger silver man, while he is most too conservative for the gold-bugs, but he is a fair compromise.

WHITE'S play, "The Demon of the Belfry," has been produced in 'Frisco. It is founded on the Darrant case and the murder of Blanche Lamont.

ALLEN G. THURMAN, the "old Roman," one of Ohio's foremost citizens, is seriously ill. He is well along in years being 82, and yet is well preserved and may recover.

MAHER, the Irish champion, knocked out Steve O'Donnell in a little over one minute at Maspeth, L. I., Nov. 11th. Steve got all the blow punched out of him in just three jolts.

EASTERN OREGON wants an open Columbia, but the Gazette doubts much if the boat railway proposition is the proper one. It will cost a great deal of money and may not work successfully when completed, while it has been asserted that a canal can be built easily, nature having done part of the necessary work, for less than the engineers have claimed necessary to construct the proposed boat railway. Give us a real open river all its navigable length, but the Gazette, as it understands the question, is not infatuated with the boat railway proposition. But if it's boat railway or nothing, why of course give us that.

SUNDAY'S Oregonian contains an article with the caption, "Signs of the Times." It is illustrated with—or rather is embellished with—the pictures of Hon. Joe Simon, Edward D. McKee and Sylvester Pennoyer. Of course, these worthies were interviewed. Messrs. Simon and McKee talked about sound money—they think that it is popular to do so just now, because friends of silver are doing their wood-saw-ing—while the old ex-governor, true to his convictions, reiterates what he has said before so many times, that "It is an absolute fact that this country, through its financial policy, is in a worse state of subjugation to Great Britain now than it was in 1776."

The East Oregonian charges that the Pendleton Tribune has robbed the taxpayers of Umatilla county of several hundred dollars in an overcharge for the publication of the list of delinquent taxes. The Gazette does not doubt the truth of the E. O.'s statement. A man who will draw $6 a day of the state's money as clerk on committees that did nothing, who will allow himself to be put there by "the gang" in order to help forward their interests, who will stay so drunk most of the time as to be unable to do honest work if it were to be done, will not scruple at "raising" a bill for county printing. This is the same man who insulted Hon. Stephen A. Lowell's friends by calling them "Dolly Varden politicians," and got set down upon by every man, woman and child in Pendleton. Even the dogs gave him their undivided attention.

When the CHILL Bites of the Morning Hang like a pall over the surface of the earth, it will be well for you before venturing into the raw vaporous air, coughs, perhaps, with the seeds of malaria or procreative of rheumatism, to take a winged shaft of Chamberlain's Stomach Bitters, and thus shield yourself from atmospheric influences threatening to health. If you happen to get snowed, sleeted or rained upon, use the same preventive, and avoid the rheumatism of a dangerous cold. The agreeable warmth infused into the circulation by this genial stomachic, the invigorating and regulating properties commend it to all appreciative of the fact that prevention is better than cure. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness and kidney trouble, sick headache and debility.

NOTICE—I take this method of informing the public in general, and all my former patrons in particular, that I have disposed of my general merchandise business at Hardman, Oregon, to G. A. Brown. All those owing me are requested to call and settle their accounts either by cash or note, on or before Dec. 1st, 1895. W. E. KAHLER, 31, Hardman, Or.

SPORTING MATTERS.—D. A. Harren has a pack of Leland Stanford hounds that are lightning on picking upcoyotes. Recently he received word from some Eastern sportsman, who has honours superior to any the West, that he would like to establish a pack in this state and acquiring into the kinds of chasing to be had in this section. It is to be hoped that the gentleman will find it convenient to establish a pack of hounds in Morrow county, where there is plenty of sport for sportsmen.

HORSE REPLINED.—Two or three years ago Dave Pressley traded for a horse, Robt. Medlock then being the registered owner. Last week, however, Thos. Beany, of Lexington, replined the horse, claiming that he had never traded or sold it to any person. The horse had passed through several hands before reaching Pressley, and so doubt a suit will result to establish ownership.

A Peculiar Case.

(From the Record, Philadelphia, Pa.) Last July the Episcopal hospital admitted a woman whose pale emaciated face and racking cough proclaimed her the victim of consumption. She gave her name as Mrs. Wm. G. Bowen, residence, 1849 Meighan St., Philadelphia. The case was diagnosed and she was told plainly that she was in an advanced stage of consumption. The examining physician even showed her the sunken places in her breast where the cavity in her lungs was supposed to exist. She went home to her family a broken, disheartened woman with death staring her in the face. That was the beginning of the story, the end as told by Mrs. Bowen, who no longer expects to die, to a reporter follows:

"The first symptoms of consumption came in the form of terrible sweats, both night and day. From April until September I was constantly cold and kept wrapped up in blankets through the hottest weather. A terrible cough took possession of me, my breast was sore to the slightest touch, and my limbs were like cold clay. The hardest rubbing with the coarsest towel would not create the slightest flush, and the least exertion would so exhaust me that I could barely gasp for water."

"I went to the hospital in July and they diagnosed my case as above stated. It was when the clouds were the darkest that the first glint of sunshine came. Mr. Sheldermire, a friend who lives around at 1844 Clementine St., said to me one day, 'Mrs. Bowen did you ever try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for pale people?' I had never heard of the medicine but in my condition could not turn a deaf ear to anything that offered relief. It was after considerable thought and investigation that I concluded to discontinue all the medicine I was taking, including cod liver oil, and depend entirely upon Pink Pills. I began to take the pills, at first with but little encouragement. The first sign of improvement was a warmth and a tingling sensation in my limbs. Finally the cough disappeared, my chest lost its soreness and I began to gain flesh until I was fifteen pounds heavier. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I cannot praise them too highly."

Mrs. Bowen is a lady of middle age, a church member well known and highly esteemed. She looks today, well and strong and it seems almost impossible that she was ever given up by eminent physicians as an incurable consumptive. Yet such is the case beyond all dispute. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

RECORDERS AND JUSTICE'S COURTS.—There has been more than ordinary activity in the various courts of Heppner this week. As mentioned in last issue, the case of Albert Rea was considered the second time by a jury of six men who found the defendant guilty. He was fined $20, in default of which he was committed to the city jail. Fred Hart had previously pleaded guilty and received $10 fine, and costs added, which he paid. Wednesday evening the case of Os Wells, charged with disorderly conduct in the corporate limits—similar case to those above mentioned—was tried in Recorder Hallbeck's court, before a jury. The verdict was "guilty as charged," and in default of $25 was committed. This did not close the festivities. Yesterday afternoon, Wm. Carry, who, as a witness in the case of disorderly conduct, had been seized by Attorney Lyons, sought to square matters by assaulting the doughty little attorney down on Main street, near the corner photo gallery. The thing resulted in Carry waking up a hornet's nest, besides getting $25 fine which he is serving out in the county jail. The citizens of Heppner by a large and overwhelming majority favor lawful order, and any attempt to violate the customs of respectable society and the well-known laws of the town and state will meet with disaster. Let all understand it and profit thereby.

approve of Scott's Emulsion. For whom? For men and women who are weak, when they should be strong; for babies and children who are thin, when they should be fat; for all who do not get from their food the nourishment they should. Poor blood is starved blood. You eat and are nourished. Consumption and scrofula never come when the blood gets its proper food. And nothing is better for starved blood than COD-LIVER OIL.

Scott's Emulsion is COD-LIVER OIL with the taste taken out. It is for all who feel weak, have lost appetite or are losing flesh. No one else breaks up cod-liver oil as it is broken up in Scott's Emulsion. If you need it, get it. No substitute will do.

TWO SIZES, 50c. and $1.00. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

weather all the stone work involved in our contract can be finished in thirty days. The same can be said of the larger entrance to the canal, where a large working force is making rapid progress. The heaviest work is at the coffer-dam, where there is a core of about 40,000 yards of dirt and rocks to be removed. Of this we are taking out from six to seven hundred yards a day and will increase the amount after the present week. If nothing outside the ordinary course of events shall happen we shall certainly have all the excavation work finished in two months from now. The concrete work on the floor of the upper canal will be but a short job and our work is done and the canal will be ready for the passage of boats. We know no reason why the locks should not be open for traffic by the 1st of March and we are doing all in our power towards that end."
