THE rate war between Portland and Frisco still continues. The round trip rate on the steamer is $10, first class, while the S. P. railroad has established the rate down at $10, regular fare back. Now is the time to travel.

THE war cloud in Enope is a big one, but it will soon fade away like that which comes in summer time to make a big roar and a flash lightning, and perhaps rain a few drops. But it will not go till Turkey gets the best licking ever accorded a country or an individual. Common decency demands it.

THE Pendleton E. O. is improving every day. It has more news and better news than ever before, and from its fair and impartial manner of handling all matters makes friends. Whether one agrees with it or not, you can't help but admire its frankness and continuous efforts in behalf of Pendleton and Umatilla county.

THE Gazette's editor was absent most of last summer and knows very little about the antics of this Antelope porous plaster. However, "it" reminds us much of a little dog that jumped out around the corner yesterday and barked so loud and long that, "on the square," you would have thought that an editor was about to be eaten—that is, if you hadn't seen the dog. But there was no danger.

THE encephaloid fast has struck Portland hard. First "Hal" Green tried it, and successfully soothed his soul to the great beyond, but whether to enjoy forever the celestial feasts of the better world, it is not the province of this paper to say. Then Clay Humphrey made a good job of it. Preceding these, an Albino saloon-keeper named Sullivan at the second attempt made a job for the coroner, and Sunday last Fay Clifton, a fallen woman, took an overdose of anti-kamnia with suicidal intent, but was pumped out in time to save her life. Harry Bentzen, who had charge of the M. A. C. Turkish baths, has disappeared and it is feared that he too has sought to become fashionable by adopting the new fad. It is the opinion of the Gazette that any man or woman who thinks that they are better off dead than alive, ought to be allowed to carry out their desire. Most generally they are right.

When the Chill Mists of the Morning Hang like a pall over the surface of the earth, it will be well for you before venturing into the raw vaporous air, charged, perhaps, with the seeds of malaria or provocative of rheumatic twinges, to take a wineglassful of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and thus shield yourself from atmospheric influences threatening to health. If you happen to get sneezed, sneezed or rained upon, use the same preventive, and avoid the rheumatism or a dangerous cold. The agreeable warmth infused into the circulation by this genial stomachic, its invigorating and regulating properties commend it to all appreciative of the fact that prevention is better than cure. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness and kidney trouble, sick headache and debility.

GOOD-BYE ELIZA JANE

From the Mitchell Monitor. This issue of the Monitor closes its first and probably, last volume. That it has lived in vain or that its life has been an "empty dream," we can not say. Let some future historian chronicle the fact, when prejudice or praise shall not be considered of consequence. One year ago the Monitor was born into the world and assumed its first outfit of swaddling clothes. Its life has been brief if not brilliant. It has gone through that period which all infants pass—muzzling and puking in its nurse's arms. It was always a tender flower, and seemed "born to blush unseen"—by say great number of patrons. Still we cannot say its early demise brings up naught but memories of an ill-spent life or recollections of bitter strife. The Monitor has alternately enjoyed the joys and griefs of the community in which it has lived; it has been caressed, commended, cursed and condemned. But its days have been numbered, and now it sinks to rest, but will "throw back a smile like the sun in the west." As to our future, or as to future plans, we do not care, at this time to disclose. We may or may not "bob up serenely" elsewhere. This we will say, however, that no one who has given the paper patronage shall be forgotten or loved so much as a faithful. Neither do we intend to let any "guilty man escape" our collector. This edict is like that which is embodied in both the Mosaic laws and the ordinances of the incorporated town of Mitchell, with enacting clause attached which reads, "A mighty angel stood, one foot on sea and one on solid land, and said that time should be no more."

Let us now reiterate both the sentiment and the language of the caption of this article which is taken from one of the books of Holy Writ, either Daniel or Dostoromy, "Good bye, Eliza Jane."

Now Hal Ayer's at the World's Fair Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed an exhibit at the World's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the World's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is in effect a patent. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits.

REVEREND PARTY.—A pleasant party was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McNay in this city, in the form of a surprise upon Miss Lillian and Mr. Chauncey McNay on last Tuesday evening. The young friends and schoolmates in response to invitations assembled and an enjoyable time was reported. Those present were: Mabel Herron, Floss, Mary and Emma Farnsworth, Ethel Meyer, Jennie Kirk, Bertha Atkins, Gertrude Bishop, Belle Hornor, Ida and Emma Stevenson, Cora and Vera Hart, Ora Adkins, Percy Garfield, Wynne Howard, Louise Campbell, Ovel and Frank Beaman, Chas. Devore, Lee Shuman, Ovel Jones, Ora Blaine and Geo. Vinson.

Never Such Testimonials.

What the Mail Brings to the Paine's Celery Compound People.

What excuse is there for not getting strong and well? Paine's celery compound, the world's great remedy for nervous weaknesses, can be obtained at any drugist's in any city or in any country town. One can get a heartier, healthier appetite, purify the blood and increase its power of feeding the nerves and tissues by taking Paine's celery compound.

It is the greatest invigorator in existence. Convince yourself of the fact. Try it.

Testimonials for publication are taken quite at random by the present proprietors of this great remedy.

The letters are never "doctored." Titles are never placed before the names of untitled people. Honest but obscure men are never said to be "honorable." Everyday kind of men who have been made well by Paine's celery compound are never paraded before the public as "The Great Mr. So-and-So," or "The Wonderfully Successful Mr. This-and-That." Cases of ordinary sickness are never elaborated into hideous, impossible diseases.

When it happens that the mail brings a heartfelt letter from such a man as State Treasurer Colvin of New York, or Mr. Carlisle's private secretary, or Edmund Russell, or Mayor McShane of Montreal, or Rev. F. Ouellet, or Commodore Howell, or Mr. Gilliam or Judge or Ida Lewis, or ex-Minister to Australia

John M. Francis, or any other widely known man or woman who expressly wishes others to be benefited by his or her experience, the proprietors of Paine's celery compound gladly give such unsolicited testimonials to the public press.

But one person's health is as valuable as another's, and in publishing the testimonials of people whom this great remedy has made well and strong, no particular emphasis is put upon such persons' official standing.

The world is made up of what Abraham Lincoln called "the plain people." It is they whom Paine's celery compound has most benefited.

Here is a letter (verbatim) just received from Louisa Pierce of Melette, South Dakota:

"I used Paine's celery compound first for rheumatism, and found that it helped me very much. I have since used it for nervousness and kidney trouble, and have received very much benefit from its use, and consider it one of the best of remedies. Mr. A. Cady's people use it and think they can hardly get along without it in the house. I know of several others that have used it that I am not acquainted with, but one other lady, Mrs. Ouellet, used it for nervousness and it made her well."

There is the testimony of thousands. Paine's celery compound makes people well.

THE BIG RED APPLE From Morrow County ahead at the Oregon Industrial Exposition and Going East to Chicago.

EDITOR GAZETTE: Morrow county people are well pleased to hold up the record, "Best at the Portland Exposition" to the rest of Oregon and we are going to keep that credit for some time; hence many of our friends wanted to see these big apples when they came back and I had promised to afford them an opportunity, but the enclosed letter shows how apples are sometimes stolen and will also show, perhaps, that the stealing and the broken promise are excusable. You may publish the letter in part or entire if you wish.

OREGON INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION, PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 14, 1895. Mr. C. N. Peck, Lexington, Oregon.

DEAR SIR:—I have yours of the 11th inst. to hand, and in reply would state that I thank you for your kind expressions contained therein. Our exposition was a great success, and there was nothing in the entire exposition that attracted more attention than did your (large) apple. I was about to have your apple packed in a box to be returned to you, when a representative of the Burlington Railway Co., came up and asked that he might have the apple to send with other apples to their office in Chicago to be there placed on exhibition. I informed him that it was your desire to have it returned to you, and just then Mr. Alvah Patterson, of Heppner, came up and I asked him what he thought about it; he told me that he knew you very well and that he thought you would be perfectly willing and satisfied to have it go with the other fruit for exhibition in Chicago. As the fruit for Chicago was being packed just then, and a delay would have prevented its going, I took it upon myself the responsibility of allowing the apple to go with the exhibit for the Burlington Railway. I trust that you may approve my action in this matter; if not, I shall have the apple returned to you or delivered at any place in the East that you may designate.

I should have written to you several days ago, concerning this matter, but I have been so busy winding up of the affairs of the exposition, that I was unable to sooner get to this subject.

Yours very truly, B. R. FAIRBANKS, Chairman of Committee on State and County Exhibits. And now Mr. Editor, if any one feels that the above letter and apology are not sufficient I shall respectfully refer them to Mr. Alvah Patterson and Mr. Peck.

Morrow county vs. The World. Respectfully yours, C. N. PECK. Lexington, Or., Nov. 15, 1895.

GOOD BOY, JIMMIE.—Deputy Sheriff Vaughn and H. E. Thompson arrived with the prisoners, Bill and Ben Jordan, in Portland on Wednesday last, and lodged them safely in the county jail. They had some trouble on the way down, having come across a party that wanted to take the prisoners away from them. James Donegan, who was along, had to use his gun in keeping off the assailants! The particulars received are very meager.—Ex.

oxygen starvation

You can starve the body in more ways than one; you can give it food and not feed it. It needs oxygen. The oxygen you get from the air is carried to all parts of the body by the red corpuscles of the blood. One drop of blood contains millions of these. When these are deficient in blood, we call it poor blood, and it shows itself in general weakness, lack of appetite, and loss of weight. What you want is something which will make more red corpuscles.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is something more than an oil. Its peculiar action depends on a number of substances—active principles—which will increase the red corpuscles of the blood.
