

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Thursday, Nov. 28, is the day set apart by proclamation of President Cleveland, followed by that of Gov. Lord, as a day of general thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving day is chiefly an American institution. After the first harvest of the New England colonists in 1621 Governor Bradford made provision for their rejoicing together with praise and prayer. In 1523 a day of fasting and prayer in the midst of drought was changed into thanksgiving by the coming of rain during the prayers; gradually the custom prevailed of appointing thanksgiving annually after harvest. These appointments were by proclamation of the governors of the several New England states. During the revolution a day of national thanksgiving was annually recommended by congress. Washington recommended such a day, after the adoption of the constitution, and his example was occasionally imitated by subsequent presidents. During the civil war, President Lincoln frequently recommended the observance of such a day after victories, and made a proclamation for a national observance in 1863. Since that time such a proclamation has been annually issued, and custom has fixed on the last Thursday of November as the time. Of late years, the custom of appointing a Thanksgiving day by the governors of states, long confined to New England, has been adopted throughout the country, and is usually the day set apart by the president. One notable exception, however, was that of Gov. Penneyer, last year. He not only anticipated the president in the appointment of the day, but actually set apart a different one.

Beyond general good health and enough to eat and wear, which in some countries is a great deal, there is but little to feel grateful for. The country has been ruined by mismanagement and misrule. London bankers and English merchants have been allowed to plunder it from stem to stern. The gray dawn of better and brighter days is the one thing to be thankful for. They are sure to come, and isn't this quite enough after all?

NOT A CURE-ALL.

The danger of the republican party is that it will mistake protection for a cure-all, and think its task discharged when it has passed a new tariff. There are no cure-alls in politics and finance, any more than in medicine. Only very simple people think there are, and only quacks trade on the belief. The protective policy is a specific remedy for a specific disease, and does not cover all the evils of our present situation, nor perhaps the majority of them. It will not prevent the steady and rapid appreciation of gold, which alone we recognize as our standard form of money. It cannot, therefore, relieve the steadily increased weight of debt, which weighs down both the nation and all the industrial classes of its population, especially its farmers. It will not put a stop to the international battle for gold, although it will make our own stock somewhat less accessible to exporters. Nor will it confer upon our Western and Southern states a system of banking suited to the needs of newer and poorer communities, and enable their farmers and planters to escape from the clutches of the speculator and the usurer, who now appropriate the fruits of their toil. In fine, the money question, in its two aspects, must be dealt with, or the party which is today on the crest of the wave, will find itself once more in the trough of the sea. That is not so remote an experience for it, that it cannot recall the feeling. One thing is evident, that the American people will continue in power no party which has not the wisdom and the courage to deal successfully with these economic problems, whose right solution will restore national prosperity on a lasting basis.—From The American (Rep.)

CAPT. J. J. WEINANT, of the coasting steamer, Banderille, was swept from the deck of his boat while crossing Umpqua bar, last Thursday morning, and drowned. The vessel was swept upon the sandy beach, outside of the bar, and may be recovered.

THE gold reserve is going down rapidly, and is now at the $83,000,000 mark. As long as we buy more than we sell, fail to collect enough revenue to pay running expenses and stick to the single gold standard, we shall have no other condition of affairs.

CHRISTIANS, or any individuals opposed to Mohammedanism in Turkey, will fare badly till the civilized powers of the earth interfere and dismember the entire empire. Political combinations may prevent some of them from entering such a compact, notably France and Russia, but they should do so if the demands of suffering humanity are to be all considered.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed an exhibit at the World's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the World's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."

LITERARY NOTES.—The program rendered at the literary society Saturday evening last was a decided success. The audience was large and appreciative one. The debate, "Resolved, That there is more pleasure in pursuit than possession," was well and ably discussed by those who participated. The decision was rendered in favor of the negative. The song by Frank Thomas was good and the speech by C. E. Freeman, impersonating the wooden-armed man, brought down the house. A negro fable, entitled "The Darkey Wooddealer," given by Messrs. Jas. Hart, John Horner and Miss Ada Minor, afforded considerable amusement. An interesting program will be rendered again on next Saturday night. Only those holding invitations will be admitted.

NOTICE.—I take this method of informing the public in general, and all my former patrons in particular, that I have disposed of my general mercantile business at Hardman, Oregon, to G. A. Brown. All those owing me are requested to call and settle their accounts either by cash or note, on or before Dec. 15, 1895. W. E. KAHLER, Hardman, Or.

IS DRIVING OUT DISEASE.

Dr. J. R. Baird, Well Known in American Missions.

Hundreds of Bottles of Paine's Celery Compound Prescribed by Him.

Has Found it a Blessing to the Afflicted Beyond Any Other Remedy.

Dr. J. R. Baird is not only a missionary, but what is not so well known, he is a physician of experience.

His published account of the work he has done in the state of Michigan has been read with interest not only by sleep to restore, try Paine's celery compound. It will make the man or woman strong and active and a stout believer in this great remedy.

Dr. Baird, who is now at his home in Indiana, Penn., describes his own experience as follows:

"It was about six years ago when I first tried Paine's celery compound for nervous diseases and rheumatism. In the severe winter climate in the state of Michigan I was at our mission station there and became a great sufferer. I used three bottles of Paine's celery compound, and was very greatly benefited thereby. I then began to advise my members who were sick to use it, and in every case where the directions were strictly obeyed the treatment was successful. In a few years past hundreds of bottles have been used directly through my advice. Paine's celery compound is far better than any other remedy, and leaves no bad effects in the system. Its manifold healing qualities make it a boon of life and a blessing to the afflicted beyond any preparation within my reach."

The great falling off in the amount of rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous weakness that physicians have everywhere noted comes from the wide spread knowledge that there is 'no need of suffering any longer from these common diseases. It is now everywhere known how correctly Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., of Dartmouth college, understood the needs of suffering men and women when he prepared the formula for Paine's celery compound. By the use of this world-famous remedy countless men and women have saved themselves from nervous prostration.

The cares of large families do not stop when the day is over. There is incessant anxiety, wakefulness and concern for some member of the household. It is no wonder that so many, especially women, break down under the crushing weight. Their very love and pride keeps them always at work. They "live on their nerves," as the saying is, till there comes a time when flesh and blood can stand it no longer. It is a simple thing for them to keep well and strong if Paine's celery compound is straightway used at the earliest signs of falling vigor. The tired, "dragged out" feeling is soon entirely removed. There will be no neuralgia, no persistent headaches, no dyspepsia, no haunting pain over the eyes, no nervous exhaustion when Paine's celery compound is used. It makes people well.

and as the air was not any too plentiful, he, too, became frightened and gave vent to yells, not calculated to be in harmony with a vault. Hearing a faint sound proceeding from the vicinity of the vault as he changed to pass that way, the sexton liberated the couple, who were about half choked for the want of air.—Walla Walla Statesman.

WANTS A RAILROAD.—Harrah for Gilliam county! The iron horse will be snorting through her from one end to the other perhaps within another year. We understand that the O. R. & N. has concluded to build a branch road from Arlington through Gilliam and Crook counties, to intersect the Oregon Pacific south of Prineville. The intention of the O. R. & N. is to begin early next spring, and the new road will run through Condon, Fossil and Prineville, crossing the John Day river at Parsons Ferry. There are good times ahead for this county and all of her people have reasons to rejoice.—Condon Globe.

When a person is losing flesh and wasting away there is cause for alarm. Nothing so worries a physician. Consumptive would never die if they could regain their usual weight. In fact there would be no consumption if there were no wasting of the system. The cause of this loss of flesh is a failure to properly digest the food eaten. Nine-tenths of all our diseases date back to the derangement of the stomach.

The Shaker Digestive Cordial will stop this wasting of the body. It acts by causing the food we eat to be digested so as to do good, for undigested food does more harm than good. The Cordial contains food already digested and a digester of food as well.

Every mother hates to make her children take Castor Oil. Laxative sweets Castor Oil.

PREACHING SERVICES.—Services were held in the Christian and Methodist churches on last Sunday morning, and at the Methodist in the evening. Rev. Jenkins preached an able discourse at the Christian church in his usual logical manner. Rev. Green's evening discourse was purely historical and was ably rendered and applied. The singing at the evening service of the M. E. church was also a notable feature.

THE FATAL TROUSERS.

The following story comes from Chicago:

A rent in the bicycle trousers of William Wallace was the indirect means of bringing out a decree of divorce today. Last summer Wallace and his friend, Benjamin Fisher, were "scorching" along the street, when Wallace fell and wrecked his trousers so badly that he "scorched" hotter than ever to get out of the way of the police. He went to his friend James Hall and applied for the loan of a pair of bicycle trousers. Hall accommodated him, and soon Wallace and Fisher were "scorching" once more. Wallace felt something bulky in the pocket of the Hall trouser, and on investigation found it to be a letter from Fisher's wife to the owner of the trousers. Fisher "scorched" away in order while the husband's "scorch" Hall for satisfaction. He failed to find the man and went to his wife. She is a faithful woman, and Fisher began proceedings for a divorce, which was granted Nov. 20. Mrs. Fisher is in Atlanta, Ga., and her husband still has possession of the fatal trousers.

SHEEPMEN are bringing their sheep out of the mountains.

Mr. Willis visited his friend's Eight Mile a few days ago.

Farmers that have their water's a wood out of the mountains are glad.

After the election is settled, and the Durrant case is ended, what then?

Some of the farmers have been farming but today they are not ploughing and are glad to see the snow.

Chicken yards look as though they had been thinned out by the crows. It is very discouraging to farmers' wives. E. M. C.

Mr. F. W. Hinsdale, representing the Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co., arrived Friday last, but will depart this evening. He has been fairly successful, considering the times.

Mrs. Julia Bradley, proprietress of the City Hotel, desires to inform the public that she will give a special Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday next. You should not miss it.

John W. Doak is quite ill with pleurisy, out at Press Thompson's. Press was in for medicine yesterday, and reports John pretty sick, and his brother, Holland Thompson, rather ill.

The W. C. U., of Hardman, will give a supper at the church on Thanksgiving, beginning at 5 o'clock, p. m. Price of supper, 25 cents, the proceeds to be devoted to the Union.

A burning fire at the Palace hotel, early Saturday morning, scared a great many people who were up, and awakened a good many more from pleasant slumbers. It did no damage.

It is rumored that the children of a very well known family, parents deceased, are in actual want. The father was a G. A. R. man. The Gazette would mention names, but fears that some unnecessary humiliation might be inflicted. The desired information, however, can be obtained at this office.

baby bones

are soft, so soft they scarce can be called bones in the earlier years; gradually they harden, and furnish the frame which supports the growing body. The hardening comes from what chemists term "the mineral substances."

When these are absent we have "Rickets"—a lack of bone-tissue, which shows itself in delayed teething, profuse head-sweats, and later, if not arrested, malformations and deformities.

Such a baby needs lime for its weak bones and cod-liver oil for its fat-starved body.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites of lime and soda will give its little body the needed fat in an easy form.

Be sure you get Scott's Emulsion when you want it and not a cheap substitute.
