

A SPECIFIC
—FOR—
La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband, reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

LATE LITERARY NOTE—Two very important facts in connection with the new era of magazines are illustrated in the December Cosmopolitan. Its fiction is by Stevenson, the last story written before his death, "Ouida," Sarah Grand, Zangwill, and the beginning of James Lane Allen's new Kentucky realistic story, "Butterflies." Probably no stronger array of fiction has ever been presented in any magazine—money could not buy better. Nor has any magazine ever had a larger number of really distinguished artists engaged upon the illustration of a single number. The reader might be puzzled to know how such a number can be made at the price of ten cents. But the magazine itself affords the solution. It contains 139 pages of advertising, which, as the publishers announce, is from $4000 to $8000 more net cash advertising than was ever before printed in any magazine, of any kind and in any country. It breaks the world's record in the publishing business. Moreover, the cost of the artists and authors who appear in this number is divided amongst 400,000 copies, bringing the cost per copy proportionately low. The Cosmopolitan thinks that the ten cent magazine, bringing, as it does, the best in art and literature into all classes, in an educational movement second in importance only to that of the public schools.

None But Ayer's at the World's Fair
Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed an exhibit at the World's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the World's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."

PARTY—The following young people assembled in response to invitations at the residence of Hon. J. N. Brown on last Tuesday evening, in the capacity of a "Peet and Shilow case" party: Misses Myrtle and Maggie Horner, Mabel Leazer, Florence Crittenden, Ada Jones, Maud Rush, Jennie Noble, Maggie Adkins and Grace Ball, Messrs. T. R. Lyons, Robt. Hynd, John Hornor, Jas. Hart, Clyde and Will Saling, Sterling Keithley, C. E. Freeland, H. A. Emerson and H. T. Bagley. The amusement was somewhat varied and enjoyable, especially in the fore part of the evening while all were in disguise. Parlor games were played until a late hour when all turned their attention to tally pulling. Taking all, in all the meeting was an enjoyable one and will long be remembered.

When most needed it is not unusual for our family physician to be away from home. Such was the experience of Mr. J. Y. Schenck, editor of the Caddo, Ind. Ter. Banner, when his little girl, two years of age was threatened with a severe attack of croup. He says: "My wife insisted that I go for the doctor, but as our family physician was out of town I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved her immediately. I will not be without it in the future." 50 cent bottles for sale by Phil Cohn, druggist.

EQUAL TO THE OCCASION—A Boston county father and mother tried to find names for a newly born pair of girls. It was decided that the father must name them. After casting about and finding no names that exactly suited him he determined to end the strain on his mind and named them Kate and Duplicate. In the course of time another pair of twins came and they were boys. Imagine his feelings when the mother one day told him she had named them Pete and Repeat. The Gazette is convinced that Benton county has pretty good liars, as well as some fair, everyday folks who follow the injunction "to multiply and replenish the earth."
