WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Special Correspondent.

Senator Mitchell's speech on the proposed bond issue is rightly regarded as the contribution of a master mind to the monetary literature of the day. He began by sharply drawing the issue that was being made between the single gold standard attended by an unlimited increase of our public debt and the rehabilitation of silver to its place, under the constitution of primary money. He declared that the persistent effort the demon of chronic ill health? upon the point presents his own views: to destroy bimetallism in this country Countless. For instance, we know, do "Experience has so fully justified the is "not only a fatal stab at the best material interests of all our people, save material interests of all our people, save and except the few who control the gold of this country but is moreover a of the same cause, culminates in a de- ever been suggested.
