MRS. MARY LEANE says that she has turned from the road that leads to hell, and become a preacher of the truth and gospel. As she has heretofore been following the road of Kansas populist politics, says the Shasta Courier, and advocating the doctrine, her remarks are rather suggestive as to the populist trend.

THE old legend, "Pike's Peak or bust," which used to adorn the canvas covers of wagons in the old days, has been succeeded by various signs appropriate to the changed and changing location of the boomer's paradise. A big prairie schooner passed through Osborne, Kan., bound east from Oklahoma last week, bearing the inscription: "Oklahoma for starvation, Kansas for desolation, Texas for devastation, Nebraska for damnation. Going to Ohio to sponge on wife's relations. To hell with Democratic Administration."—The Press, N. Y.

SENATOR MITCHELL contributes to the American Economist the following on the wool industry: The advantage which the Australian wool growers have over those of the Pacific States and Territories in the one matter of freight rates places the latter at the mercy of the former in the markets of Boston, including freight, commissions, and all other charges of handling and transportation, for 1 cent per pound, while freight rates alone from most of the shipping depots west of the Rocky Mountains range from 1.5 to 2.5 cents per pound, but this does not include the cost of transportation of wool from the sheep ranches to the railroad and water depots, to say nothing of commissions which invariably attach to the shipper before his product reaches the manufacturer.

DOES any one in the state of Oregon think that such republicans as J. H. Mitchell, W. R. Ellis and Binger Hermann are dishonest because they maintain views friendly to silver? It would seem by reading the Oregonian and a few of its satellites. But it will be found that a very large majority of the rank and file of the republican party will, when they have an opportunity to express themselves, be

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

The Best Medicine In The World---It Makes People Well.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from impure blood and a debilitated nervous system, and that is Paine's celery compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter, Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

Not to be Trifled With. (From Cincinnati Gazette.) Will people never learn that a "cold" is an accident to be dreaded, and that when it occurs treatment should be promptly applied? There is no knowing where the trouble will end; and while complete recovery is the rule, the exceptions are terribly frequent, and thousands upon thousands of fatal illnesses occur every year ushered in by a little injudicious exposure and seemingly trifling symptoms. Beyond this, there are today countless invalids who can trace their complaints to "colds," which at the time of occurrence gave no concern, and were neglected.—When troubled with a cold use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is prompt and effectual. 50 cent bottles for sale by Conser & Brook.

PASSED AWAY. Sketch of the Life of W. W. Walton, a Benton County Pioneer. William W. Walton, who died near Albany, in Benton county, Or., on March 1, 1896, was born in St. Louis, Mo., April 22, 1832, of Scotch descent. His father was named Henry Walton. He was a pioneer, coming across the plains range from 1.5 to 2.5 cents per pound, but this does not include the cost of transportation of wool from the sheep ranches to the railroad and water depots, to say nothing of commissions which invariably attach to the shipper before his product reaches the manufacturer.

WASHINGTON LETTER. From our Special Correspondent. E. C. Masten, secretary of the Northwest Manufacturers' association, some time since addressed a stirring letter to Sen. Mitchell, of which he sent copies to other northwestern senators and congressmen asking that the manufacturers of Oregon, Washington and Idaho be given the right to furnish government supplies of whatever nature required in those states, provided they equalled the price and quality of goods offered by other competitors. Mr. Masten's letter is an unanswerable argument for fair play for the young manufacturers of the great northwest. Senator Mitchell had copies of it made and presented them to all the cabinet officers who have anything to do with internal matters, with a request that they take action and let them know as soon as possible of the action taken.

The gill-net fishermen are up in arms against an effort of their hated rivals, the pound-net men, to extend further their encroachments upon the Columbia river. They have sent a letter protesting against it to the representatives of the Coast Seamen's union, in Washington, he being also a member of their union. They want the secretary of war to intervene, and it is said that there will be war sure enough if he doesn't. The letter has been given to Senator Mitchell and he has the matter under consideration.

Twenty million acres of land is a good deal, more in fact than the area of some states and one-third of the state of Oregon. It comprises the arid lands of the state and under Rep. Hermann's bill, which will be favorably reported to the house next week, is to be granted to the state of Oregon, without reservation or restriction, save that it must be disposed of in small tracts to actual settlers, and that proceeds of sale of such lands shall be applied exclusively, so far as necessary, to the reclamation of such lands.

The bill is, of course, general in character and makes the same provision for all other states.

It is generally understood that many years must pass, if the title in these lands continues vested in the Federal government, before any substantial efforts for their reclamation will be made, and this will help to secure a favorable consideration for Mr. Hermann's bill. The Carey law now in force is objectionable in many of its features, particularly in that one which holds the title open to contest for so many years; and then it limits the grant to each state to one million acres. An amendment to the Carey law relieving it of some of its most objectionable features will be brought before the house soon by Mr. Hermann. He introduced it some time since and it has secured the approval of the interior department.

Mr. Ellis has been working on several important matters in the public lands committee, of which he is an influential member.

Senator McBride also finds himself crowded by his duties in the numerous important committees to which he has been assigned.

On Wednesday Sen. Mitchell opened the contest over the Delaware senatorship, with a speech that was listened to by crowded galleries. He was subjected to so many interruptions that he did not complete his remarks until today. He spoke in all over five hours, and if the senate were at a judicial body, his thorough exposition of the theory that a man can combine the office of senator and governor in himself would settle the case, but merit has very little to do with it.

Beware of Counterfeiters. Who infest the market and are the means of robbing sick people of their money, and what is still greater consequence of not unfrankly acknowledging the complaints under which they labor. It is an act of duty we owe to society to warn the people of the dangerous frauds. A little care on the part of the purchasers will protect them from imposition by bearing in mind these facts: Never buy where it is offered in bulk, (in kegs or jugs) as the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold only in bottles having the handsome steel plate label displaying the portrait of St. George and the Dragon, and having at the bottom a miniature note of hand for one cent, bearing the initials of the signature of the president of the company. Over the neck is a metallic cap, on which is impressed the name of the article, together with a medallion head in the center. Any person selling the counterfeit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters shall not hesitate to bring to justice, as we never fail to convict.

FOCAL ELECTION.—The annual city election at Fossil passed off very quietly Tuesday of last week, only 35 votes being cast. W. W. Hoover was elected mayor, W. W. Steiner and H. H. Hendricks councilmen, A. B. Lamb treasurer, and F. W. Royal recorder. There was only one candidate for each of these offices excepting councilmen, for which Chas. O. Millet and T. J. Smith were put forward by their friends on the day of election, after the ticket had been made up. The retiring officers are B. Gaffney, mayor, who has taken up a homestead and therefore is no longer eligible, F. W. Royal, councilman, and Jas. S. Stewart, recorder, who declined re-nomination, as also did the mayor.

None But Ayrer's at the World's Fair. Ayrer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed an exhibit at the World's fair, Chicago. IONIC ITEMS. The recent snow has come and gone. Ione is one of the live towns without doubt. Mrs. Alice Keller's house is nearing completion. Messrs. Glock & Keller, blacksmiths of Ione, are ready for business, and have made their shop look quite cozy. A petition for a license saloon has been circulated by T. J. Carle. Those opposed to the same are signing a remonstrance. A number of our citizens have been called before the grand jury at Heppner to answer some charges which were brought against them. The First Congregational church of Ione was recently organized with seven members. A four hundred dollar church building will be put up in the near future. Several from Ione attended the debate at Lexington. The question discussed was, "Resolved, that intemperance has caused more misery than war." It was decided unanimously for the affirmative. Taken in Time. Hood's Sarsaparilla has achieved great success in warding off sickness which, if allowed to progress, would have undermined the whole system and given disease a strong foothold to cause much suffering and even threaten death. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done all this and even more. It has been taken in thousands of cases which were thought to be incurable, and after a fair trial has effected wonderful cures, bringing health, strength and joy to the afflicted. Another important point about Hood's Sarsaparilla is that its cures are permanent, because they start from the solid foundation of purified, vitalized and enriched blood. But it is not what we say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story.

Radicalism in the Senate. The extent of the change which has gradually come about in the manners, methods and characteristics of the senate was illustrated last month by the extremely radical and unparliamentary character of Senator Tillman's maiden speech. The new Populist senator from North Carolina and several other of the more recently appointed members of the upper chamber have also, in their respective ways, given proof of the same tendency. The deadlocks in France and England have resulted from the growing radicalism of the popular chambers, rather than from any change in the tone of senate or house of lords. But in the United States it is the senate which has become the radical body, while conservatism has taken refuge in the house of representatives. The chief reason, of course, is plain to everybody. We have been admitting new states very rapidly, and each new state has its two representatives in the senate, even though entitled by the paucity of its population to only one member in the house.—From "Progress of the World," in the March Review of Reviews.

Here is a diamond, here a piece of charcoal. Both carbon; yet between them stands the mightiest of magicians—nature. The food on your table, and your own body; elementally the same; yet between the two stands the digestion, the arbiter of growth or decline, life or death. We cannot make a diamond; we cannot make flesh and bone. No. But by means of the Shaker Digestive Cordial we can enable the stomach to digest food which would otherwise ferment and poison the system. In all forms of dyspepsia and indigestion consumption, with weakness, loss of flesh, thin blood, nervous prostration the Cordial is the successful remedy. Taken with food it assists at once. It nourishes, and relieves nature to nourish. A trial bottle—enough to show its merit—10 cents.

NOT INTERESTING.—Ex Senator Dolph delivered a speech on the money question before the Mt. Tabor Republican club, the printing of which occupied two pages in the Oregonian. Dolph made a good record while in the senate, but it never came through ability to interest his hearers. It looks as if Dolph intends being an active candidate for Mitchell's seat, and if so he does not want to make many speeches like the one delivered at Mt. Tabor. In the United States senate, where time is of no account, lengthy speeches are admissible, but the people of Oregon are too busy to give much time to them.—The Dalles Chronicle.
