MATHEMATICS AND ASTRONOMY Two Sciences That Are Closely Related

and Necessary to Each Other. Probably in none of the sciences, applied or pure, is a knowledge of higher mathematics so essential as astron-omy. Certainly none involves so much mathematical labor. The method of the least squares is one in almost constant use by those engaged in astro-nomical calculation, and the amount of labor often entailed by this process is enough to make the head of an ordi-SERPENT'S nary citizen swim even to think of. One of the most extensive least square solutions ever made, says the Pitts- STING burgh Dispatch, has recently been published by Prof. Schur, of Goettingen. GAVE THE FISH A JAG. This Is One Way of Being Entertaining in California. "Did you ever see drunken fish?" inquired a Sonoma county wine grower. No one would confess that he had seen intoxicated fish, and the silence indicated a predisposition to incredulity, says a writer in the San Francisco Post.

"I suppose you are going to tell us about a drunken catfish staggering down through the orchard and catching a bird?" suggested one. "Do you think I am a liar?" demanded the farmer, indignantly, but he was left in ignorance as to the belief of his hearers. "My winery is right on the pike. All of the waste from the winery is thrown into the creek, and that is enough to discolor the water, but the other day a big vat of sour claret burst and nearly all of it ran down into the hole of water just below the winery In half an hour the pool was crowded with fish floating belly up. I thought they were dead, and pulled a big pike out, but he wiggled and flopped around just like an old drunk trying to get up without anything to hold on to. One by one they disappeared as they so-bered up, and when the water cleared two days afterward there wasn't a dead fish in the pool. They had just been jagged."

During the 14th century, in France and Spain, gifts of valuable rings to statues of the saints and Virgin Mary were very common. One statue in Barcelona is said to have worn rings valued at $100,000.

Pilgrim rings were formerly sold at very noted shrine in Christendom. They were purchased by pilgrims pre paring to return home, and were regarded as evidence that the pilgrimage had ed as evidence that the pilgrimage had been really performed.

The coronation ring of Great Britain is of gold, with a large and very valuable ruby setting. During the corona-tion ceremonies it is placed on the fourth finger of the sovereign by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

According to the traditions of the early church, Joseph and Mary were capoused with an amethyst ring. This, by some persons, is supposed to be the reason why Episcopal rings were often set with the same stone.

Mithridates, in the first century before Christ, had a very large collection or museum of signet rings. It was insinuated against him that his collection contained the signet of every leading potentate of his time.
