MENTAL MARVELS.

Some Men Who Have Wonderful Memories. The Remarkable Ability of Three San Franciscans to Remember Dates, Names and Incidents After a Long Lapae of Years.

Probably the three most remarkable men who have ever started San Franciscans who knew them with their feats of memory were "Count" Smith, clerk of the Palace hotel, Timothy Bainbridge, of the police force, and Bob Norval, known all over the United States as the "boy preacher."

"Count" Smith was for some years chief clerk of the Palace hotel, and he died about seven years ago. Born in affluent circumstances in Australia, he came to America in 1850, and in 1855 he came to San Francisco.

Tim Bainbridge's memory is even more marvelous, and he is to-day one of the most active little men in the city. Though his eyesight is so impaired that he uses glasses, his memory is so active that he readily recalls the name, face, history, and prison record of the thousands of convicts who have passed before him in 20 years.

Bob Norval, known as "the boy preacher," used to startle the residents of the mission by repeating, after having once heard read aloud, entire articles from newspapers. He was an eccentric genius, who formerly traveled and lectured all over the United States on religious themes.

Rome's Earthquake and Lottery. The earthquake recently felt in Rome has already produced a result that to any except an Italian would seem incredible.

Rules of the Road. Something of interest to all wheelmen—Compliance Insures Safety. The rules of the road should be rigidly observed, alike by cyclists and riders and drivers of all kinds.

Fight with Two Lions. Hairbreadth escape from the Clutches of a Hungry Beast. He saw, above the ledge and a little beyond, the ears and head of a lion as it sat watching the deer.

A Japanese seal fishing company has been organized by Tokio capitalists to compete with foreign sealers off the coast of Japan. The governor of Arizona is reported saying that that territory will produce this year $10,000,000 in gold, against $4,000,000 last year.

Montana raised and sold something more than $7,000,000 worth of cattle this year. The state has other resources than her ranches and mines, too, for the value of her agricultural products this year is estimated at $12,000,000.

Three times as many American horses have been sold in England this year as were called for in 1894, and their average price at the ports of shipment has been $155. They are used chiefly for draft in London.
