A WOOL MARKET. PENDLETON

This has become an established market for Eastern Oregon, Washington and Idaho wools. Last season three million pounds were received here by rail from Huntington, Baker City, Heppner, Arlington, and from Yakima, Spokane, Lewiston, Walla Walla and intermediate stations.

From no point in the Northwest, Portland included, is wool shipped East at less expense than from Pendleton.

Water competition has not afforded sufficiently low rates upon wool in the grease and dirt, to equal the lower expense incurred by shipping only clean, scoured wool from Pendleton.

Net the Grower more Cash for the same amount of wool than can be obtained in any other Market in the State.

ELLIS & LYONS, Attorneys at Law, All business attended to in a prompt and satisfactory manner. OFFICE IN NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, HEPPNER, OREGON.

Sciatic Rheumatism

For real blood diseases relief can only be obtained by using a real blood remedy. So many people who are sufferers from an obstinate or deep-seated blood disease make the mistake of taking remedies which at best are only tonics and cannot possibly reach their trouble. It is in just such cases which other so-called blood remedies cannot reach that S.S.S. has made some of the most wonderful cures. Rheumatism is one of the most obstinate diseases of the blood, and there are few remedies which have any effect whatever upon it.

MR. ASA SMITH. can be better appreciated when I state that the disease reached a point where it was a matter of utter impossibility for me to take my food, or handle myself in any way, and for several months the nurses were compelled to turn me in bed by use of the sheets. "This was my condition when S.S.S. was recommended to me, and I must confess that I had little hopes of any medicine benefiting me. I was soon encouraged, however, when after taking three bottles I was able to move my right arm. I continued to take the medicine and before long was able to walk across the room, and when I had finished one dozen bottles was able to get about as of old.

"I have been hale and hearty now for two years, without any sign of a return of the disease. I will never cease to praise S.S.S., which I regard as the most wonderful blood remedy on earth; it brought me out of a condition of utter helplessness to one of robust health, with a weight of 170 pounds."

ELLIS IS THE MAN. From the Arlington Record. The election of Judge Northrup, could it be accomplished, would be no victory for republicans. That can be accomplished only by the election of Mr. Ellis. Mr. Northrup's success would be a victory for the return of disgraced politicians and soreheads that come out of all political conventions. The difference is that this Northrup campaign was a larger dissent, where the forces were nearly equally divided. Mr. Ellis was in no way intruding to defeat the will of the voters at that convention nor has he taken a part in the campaign since. On the contrary, he has remained steadily at his post at Washington, working for an open river and the needs of his constituency. Mr. Northrup is not entitled to the support of the voters of the second district. He is not a nominee of any party, but simply announces himself an independent candidate for congress, running on a single idea, asking the suffrage of 15,000 voters and offering nothing in return for it but his own idea—gold standard. In carrying out this idea Mr. Northrup will have but one vote out of 400, if he reaches congress, and his influence will not extend beyond the shadow of his own nose. In the platform on which he stands, he attempts to forestall the action of the republican national convention. The republican party can be safely trusted to adjust this money question, and Mr. Ellis belongs to it. By his action, Mr. Northrup does not, but is a better and doing all in his power for its defeat. In reforming our currency the republican party will be equally judicious in the adjustment of our revenue laws prior to 1892. Laws which we see the wisdom of since we have had them and tried living under a revised system framed for revenue only and failing in that. Mr. Northrup's candidacy is for the gold standard only. Beyond that no word can be said in his favor. If he believes in the republican principle of protection then his election would do no good for Mr. Ellis has forestalled him. If he opposes it, then his election is least desired of all the candidates in the field. Mr. Ellis is in favor of protected labor, home manufacturers and tariff on wool. True, he did vote in favor of coining $100,000,000 of silver that had been lying in the vaults for the past four years, but that was a long way short of the free and unlimited coinage of silver we hear so much of. Mr. Ellis is a republican and will abide by the St. Louis platform. His ballot will be cast with his party, whether for tariff or monetary laws. The expenses of the past justify the assertion that the republican party can be safely trusted to administer the affairs of this government. That it will establish a revenue system, which, while providing sufficient funds for maintaining all governmental expenses, will furnish ample protection for American labor. Nor will the monetary system be neglected. A sound, stable currency will be maintained, which, while performing the functions of a circulating medium, shall be as "untarnished as the nation's honor."

McKinley and Ellis should be the watchword of every republican in the second district. How to Treat a Wife. (From Pacific Health Journal.) First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in clearing from her brow all clouds of gloom. To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by Conser & Brook, druggists.

Judge Bennett holds that protection to American industry "is a mere bagatelle." Ambassador Bayard astonished a British audience recently by a diatribe against his own country for tolerating protection in any form. They point to England as proof that individual liberty is the best and only means by which the greatest good can be secured for the greatest number. Does not the condition of America today, compared with England, prove what "protection to England" means to America under democratic free trade at home? We think it does. In order to maintain specie payments the present administration has sold, in the course of a little more than two years, $262,000,000 of bonds, apparently to maintain gold payments by redeeming the legal tender notes in gold—but, in reality, to provide the money needed for current government expenses, which ought to have come but which did not come, from the regular sources of revenue. Every effort should be made to enlighten the country upon this subject and demonstrate to voters that the Cleveland bond sales were really made to meet deficiencies in revenues, nothing else. The annual interest charge of $14,000,000 on the national debt was cut to $23,000,000 and the interest bearing debt was reduced from $3,000,000,000 to about $600,000,000 by the republican party. In three years Cleveland has created a debt of $525,000,000, the annual interest charge being over $10,000,000. In the face of facts such as these how can Judge Bennett say an honest and intelligent audience and claim that in this contest protection to American industries is "a mere bagatelle"—outs no figure whatever? It is false, the issue before the people in Oregon is a return to prosperity by the channels of protection. Silver isn't in it. We don't make speeches but we can say that much at home, and challenge denial.—More Observer.

The only hope for the restoration of silver to its money use lies in the republican party, because it is the only party that does or can carry out its pledges. It is the only party that really understands and believes in the greatness of this Nation, consequently the only party that will ever have the courage to "re-monetize silver" without waiting for Europe or England. But the rank and file of the party is at present interested so deeply in the restoration of protection, and the prosperity that goes with it, that it will consider nothing else for the time being. It must take this step first. Having taken it it will be ready to consider silver and its issue carefully.—More Observer.

It is safe to say that Judge Northrup will not receive five democratic votes in Sherman county. Republicans will vote solid for Mr. Ellis, the regular nominee of the party. They will not be found tumbling over one another to fall into the trap that has been so adroitly set for them.—More Observer.

Turn Oregon over to the Coaxites, and, instead of flying with her own wings, she will walk with her own legs. She will be the paradise of the tramps and the great and miscellaneous fraternity and aggregation of tiredness represented by the Ohio importation.—Salem Statesman. Mr. Northrup represents both the contractionists of the currency and the business of the country. He wants only a bank currency, based on gold, and he wants what he and the paper that fostered him into prominence of a nomination are pleased to term "moderate protection," which is the other name for the Wilson tariff. We hope his vote in the returns will represent also contraction. Eastern Oregon wool growers and both Eastern and Western Oregon manufacturers, fruit men, hop men and agriculturists generally should remember that "moderate protection" means no change at all in tariff legislation. The wool men will not even get that half loaf proposed by the Dingley bill if too many Northrups get into congress.—Salem Statesman. Besides, there is a difference between a protective and a prohibitory tariff. While I favor proper protection, I do not favor a protection that prohibits. There is as much mischief in a tariff which is too high as in no tariff at all, and I think that you must agree with me that a tariff which is reasonable is the best for the country," said Northrup, the Oregonian's and Wall street's candidate for congress in the second district. He is not so anxious for "principle," which he claimed his candidacy represents, as he is for office, and he would stultify himself and subordinate the dearest wishes of the great majority of the people of this country to this end, with the hope thereby of winning the votes. Voters in the second district will understand that H. H. Northrup is the Oregonian's candidate for congress, and that whatever it publishes about said Northrup is done to mislead the people. Northrup never had the ghost of a chance of securing the plumb that he is reaching out for. The Oregonian knows that all the leading newspapers in the state condemn Northrup's candidacy. It matters not of what political complexion they are, Northrup is tabooed and declared unfavorable on account of his bolt and unpopularity. The republican press of the state have a duty to perform which admits of no delay. The time is drawing near, and not an issue should be lost. Show this bolting nominee for congressional honors that while the Oregonian may lead him around by the nose, the people of this state will not follow such unworthy leadership. There are not one-half a dozen papers in the entire state that favor Northrup. The regular republican nominee, Hon. W. R. Ellis, will be returned to his seat in congress, and H. H. Northrup will be returned to oblivion as soon as his term as county judge expires, where he will rest unmourning and unhonored by the true republicans of Oregon.—Commercial Review. For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to us each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question every one must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

Washington City, May 12, '96. In a recent issue the Walla Walla Union made an attack upon Senator John H. Mitchell, claiming that because of his views on the money question he should be defeated for re-election. In answer to this we give the following from a letter to that paper, written by its former editor who is now in Washington city, and who, by the way, is a well posted man on all matters pertaining to the welfare of the Pacific Northwest, and we believe what he says in regard to Senator Mitchell is true: WASHINGTON CITY, May 12, '96. To THE EDITOR:—In your issue of May 6th you did a great, and I hope and believe, an unintentional injury to one of the best friends Walla Walla and Washington ever had in congress, when you intimated that Senator Mitchell places the silver question above all other and, for that reason, declare he should not be re-elected. If you will turn back to the time the Dingley tariff bill was defeated in the senate you will find that Senator Mitchell voted for the measure, that he did not follow, or join, Teller, Carter, Dubois, Mantle, in their opposition. No one can truthfully say that Senator John H. Mitchell ever declared in favor of the policy of combining free silver and protection. On the contrary, I have the words of his own lips, spoken months ago, that he is in favor of free silver, but it is also of his own that it should stand on its own merits; that it is not statesmanship, much less republicanism, to make protection, that universal demand of the people, carry free silver. While Senator Mitchell is earnest in his advocacy of free and unlimited coinage of silver, at the ratio of 16 to 1, and in favor of doing it without regard to the wishes or actions of other nations, he is not now, and never has been, such a fanatic on the question as to insist that all other questions must wait for their solution until silver is free. Many conversations with Senator Mitchell during the past winter convince me that if the St. Louis convention adopts a gold standard platform, he will do all he can to promote the election of the republican ticket. Senator Mitchell is a firm believer in majority rule, and after the party of his choice has formulated a platform, in the regular way, it is his platform until changed by proper methods. While Senator Mitchell, like many other believers in free silver, will regret that the St. Louis convention decided against their views, he will, without the slightest hesitancy, support the ticket. Oregon has hurt the entire Pacific northwest by turning down Senator Dolph and Congressman Hermann. I pray you do not let the Union aid in carrying on the work of destruction by helping defeat Senator Mitchell. P. H. JOHNSON.

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless this inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
