

REPUBLICAN PRESIDENTIAL TICKET.

For President, WILLIAM MCKINLEY, of Ohio. For Vice President, GARRETT A. HOBART, of New Jersey.

THE populists and republicans of Texas are talking fusion with a fair prospect of success.

Gov. McCONNEL, of Idaho, comes out in a very sensible letter in the Spokane Review for McKinley and Hobart.

MR. BRYAN is preparing another speech to be delivered in New York in about two weeks. He must consider that his first one was a failure.

THOSE who vote for Bryan must vote for the whole Chicago platform including free trade, the attack on the supreme court and the denial of the right of the federal government to protect federal property when threatened by riots.

MR. BRYAN flatly denies the charge that he was ever in the employ of the bonanza mine owners, or that he ever received any pay whatever from them for delivering free silver speeches.

THE populists of Washington have taken a large share of the state official plums and in exchange endorse Bryan the banker, railroad owner and general monopolist.

BAKER CITY, the center of a large mining interest, has a McKinley and Hobart club of 250 members, composed in a large measure of business men and miners.

EUGENE V. DEBS gives it as his opinion that Bryan cannot be elected unless Sewall is dropped and Watson endorsed.

MARY ABIGAIL DODGE, better known as Gail Hamilton, died at her home in Hamilton, Mass., on the 17th.

IN proportion to the number of its inhabitants Wasco county should give the largest majority for McKinley of any county in the state.

THE populists have decided to make Washington City their national headquarters during this campaign. They are determined to keep Watson on the ticket and will listen to no propositions looking to his withdrawal.

LINCOLN'S summing up of tariff question is well known. It was something after this fashion: "If we buy our goods abroad, we have the goods and they have the money; if we buy our goods at home we have both the money and the goods."

this, as I understand it. If I have some one outside of the family to make my shirts, I get the shirts and they get the money; if I hire my sister to make my shirts, I get the shirts and she gets the money, so we keep the money in the family.

IF PROTECTION, as a broad national policy, is not sound in principle and wholesome in practice, then it ought to be abandoned, provided something better is offered in its place.

W. J. BRYAN made speeches throughout Nebraska and Iowa four years ago for Cleveland and free trade. The people of those states and the whole United States were never more prosperous than they were in 1892.

JONATHAN BOURNE has resigned as secretary of the republican state central committee and O. N. Denney has been appointed to the place by Chairman Hirsch.

"It is immaterial, in my judgment, whether the sheep grower receives any benefit from the tariff or not."

At a festival held several nights ago in a neighboring town, the editor of one of our exchanges took his best girl up to the lemonade stand, and treating her, he began fishing in his pocket for a dime.

WILL NOT DESERT THE PARTY.

The republican party is not a party of one idea. It is a national party. One that deals with all the great questions of State. It is right on more of them than any other party.

It stands today as it always has stood for the Monroe doctrine in its fullest extent. It is the party full of sympathy for the Cubans—a sympathy that will mean something to these struggling patriots when it is in power.

It is the party that believes in a free ballot and a free count, whether north or south. It opposes lynching, favors national arbitration, believes in immediately returning to the homestead policy of the republican party.

The republican party is right upon all these questions, the other parties are wrong upon most of them, and no true republican can or will desert his party because upon one of these questions he has an idea that is not in the fullest harmony with the platform.

The shakers are a happy community. It is said, by the shaker who shakes because he can't help it is by no means a happy individual.

HALLING TO MCKINLEY.

Populists of Klickitat County Who Will Vote the Republican Ticket. GOLDENDALE, Wash., Aug. 15.—J. M. Conroy, a resident of Goldendale, who represents an extensive portion of the Populist party in Klickitat county.

Andrew Jackson Murphy, an old-time newspaper man, and at one time editor of the populist paper in Klickitat, also a candidate on the Populist State ticket four years ago, has joined the republican club.

"It is immaterial, in my judgment, whether the sheep grower receives any benefit from the tariff or not."

Cancer Of the Face.

Mrs. Laura E. Mims, of Smithville, Ga., says: "A small pimple on my cheek; it soon began to grow rapidly, notwithstanding all efforts to check it."

The doctors said I had Cancer of the most malignant type, and after exhausting their efforts without doing me any good, they gave up the case as hopeless.

A Real Blood Remedy.

Cancer is a blood disease, and only a blood remedy will cure it. S. S. S. (guaranteed purely vegetable) is a real blood remedy, and never fails to permanently cure Cancer, Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism or any other disease of the blood.

CAPT. KIDD'S HOME.

The House Occupied by the Bold Pirate Still Standing.

Said to Have Been Built Years Before Washington Was Made First President—Still Hunting for Buried Treasure.

Between the quaint little hamlet of Allenwood, N. J., and the village of Sea Girt, made famous through the annual encampment of the New Jersey state militia, stands an old-fashioned shingle house, which antedates the recollection of even the oldest resident.

The house is a two-story structure, conspicuous chiefly for the fact that instead of having only a shingle roof, as was customary in the days when the house was built, it is constructed altogether of shingles.

The house is at the junction of the three roads, one leading to Allenwood, one to Sea Girt and one to Brillee, another small town four miles away. A mile or two from the house the Manassas river flows steadily on its tortuous route to mother ocean.

The old Morris house, as it is called, is now on the Tilton farm, old grandfather Tilton having purchased the farm from the Morrises many years ago. The farmhouse of the Tilton family is but a stone's throw from the old house, which is tenanted by several of the farm helpers during the busy season.

The house was built with but few windows, and, although several have been added recently, there are only eight, and two doors on the front, while the sides have one each.

Within the memory of many persons London was once like many American cities, absolutely treeless—nothing but brick, stone and mortar being seen anywhere.

Sunday School at Eight Mile Centre every Sunday at three instead of four in the afternoon.

Mr. J. F. Willis remained over night on Eight Mile, August 6. He was the guest of A. Ashbaugh.

Potatoes are very scarce, as the grasshoppers ate the vines before the potatoes grew. The hoppers have cut all leaves off fruit trees and are now devouring the fruit.

In the last issue of the GAZETTE it was stated a great many persons from Heppner had gone to the mountains and the rest expected to go. Well, I will say no one from Eight Mile Centre has gone as the teams are all engaged on the head end, and it is too far for families to walk, so we have no emigration to announce bound south.

Grain is very poor. It looks hard for the farmers. How will they live? How will they pay their debts? Surely the sheepmen, who cannot sell their wool, and the farmers who cannot sell their grain will suffer. That looks like the politician's saying, "Vote for the party I tell you to, or we will make you suffer."

We have repeatedly refused to join the "cut price" movement, and have thereby retained our independence and have saved the farmer from the ruinous effects of the "cut price" movement.

Looking After the Work. Senator Mitchell is taking an active interest in present affairs at Cascade Locks, and recently requested Day Bros. to not interfere with the operation of the portage road, receiving from them the assurance that the interference would only be temporary. The Senator has also addressed the War Department urging the early completion of the inner walls of the canal. Through his efforts it is hoped that work will be commenced on the locks at an early date, says the Times-Mountaineer.

It is immaterial, in my judgment, whether the sheep grower receives any benefit from the tariff or not. Whether he does or does not I am for free wool. Extract from speech of William J. Bryan in the House of Representatives when the Wilson bill was under consideration.
