Extract from William McKinley's letter officially accepting the republican nomination for the presidency, Aug. 27,

"The declaration of the republican platform in favor of the upbuilding of our merchant marine has my hearty approval. The policy of discriminating duties in favor of our shipping, which prevailed in the early years of our history, should be sgain promptly adopted by congress and vigorously supported until our prestige and supremacy on the seas is fully attained.

"We should no longer contribute directly or indirectly to the maintenance of the colossal marine of foreign countries, but provide a sufficient and complete marine of our own. Now that the American navy is assuming a position commensurate with our importance as a nation, a policy I am glad to observe the republican platform strongly endorses, we must supplement it with a merchant marine that will give us the advantage in both our coastwise and foreign trade that we ought naturally and properly to enjoy. It should be at once a matter of public policy and national pride to repassess this immense and prosperous
