THE HOUSE ORGANIZES.

As will be seen from a dispatch sent from Salem, the Oregon house of representatives, acting on constitutional law, as construed by the U. S. supreme court, and advocated by most of the eminent lawyers of our land, met in their hall yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and perfected an organization, more than a majority participating. This is following the course of our national house of representatives and senate at the beginning of the rebellion, and is in accord with numerous decisions of state supreme tribunals, so that the legality of the election of a senator and the passage of laws is not questioned. Senators Hoar and Thurston are among those who are well known as sound judges of law who have advised the action taken by our Oregon solons. What the minority will do is not known, but if they do not come in and participate in the workings of the body their places will be declared vacant.

This unholy fight, backed by Joe Simon, is a disgrace to the state of Oregon. If every republican, yes, we will be broad in this application, if every taxpayer has not now had enough of Simonism, the Gazette is unable to imagine what on earth would disgust him. Bourne's ambition for speaker, coupled with Joe Simon's greed for corruption and bossism, has cost this state thousands of dollars, but there is some consolation in knowing that by this act both have swept themselves into political ruin from which they will never recover, and the people of our state have been taught a valuable lesson.

It is a well known fact that the useless commissions, as represented by present incumbents, have been in sympathy and have worked to continue this holdup that no session of the legislature could be held. By this, useless commissions that the people desire abolished would be continued for another two years, and others whose tenure of office was accidentally continued two years ago, to the present time, will be relegated to private life.

Thus ends a disgraceful chapter in Oregon's history. That our supreme court will uphold the constitutionality of all acts is not doubted.

WOULD SACRIFICE ANYTHING.

At this particular juncture, following the election of a republican president, it is essentially necessary that both houses should be in accord with the administration. The house is largely republican but the senate is very close, and this accounts for the anxiety expressed by members of the senate that a republican senator be elected from Oregon. On this vote alone may rest the fate of legislation for which the people of this nation have decided. It is extremely necessary that a republican senator be chosen from this state, and that Senator Mitchell succeed himself.

Usually republicans expect that populists and democrats should oppose republican measures, but it is not accustomed to be throttled and held up as a thief holds up a traveler on the highway, by its own people, or supposedly its own. It is an unusual thing that any great number of republicans, or influence of that character, is directed against its own, but this condition exists in Oregon. What is the object? To perpetuate the power of one man whose success to them is of more importance than that of the republican party. To do this our friends, the enemy, are appealed to, and not without response.

Joe Simon, the Oregonian, and the latter's late enemy, Jonathan Bourne, are the chief promoters of this signal outrage of Oregon's true republicanism. The Oregonian, that paper which has sought time and time again to break up the republican party in this state, is mainly responsible for this last dastardly affair. They all have been helped by the heeler and cheap political slaves who trotted out Northrup last spring for the purpose of defeating Ellis in this congressional district and to disrupt the party. People of Morrow county, citizens of Oregon, have you any respect for this kind of work? Do you believe in continuing in power such influences? The Gazette believes that your eyes are opened.

God speed the day when Simon will be thoroughly relegated to the obscurity of his dusty down town law office. May the Oregonian's mortgage wipe its present promoters into oblivion and may clean hands succeed to its management. Both will do anything for personal gain or for self aggrandizement. Both are nearly done for. May this final and lasting disgrace forced upon our state complete a good job well begun.

SENATOR TELLER was re-elected at Denver on Tuesday, practically without opposition.

JOHN P. JONES will be returned to the senate from Nevada, as he practically has no opposition.

BOIES PENROSE is the newly elected senator from Pennsylvania. He succeeds Senator Cameron.

The Oregonian continues to misrepresent the situation at Salem, and will not give the facts as they really exist.

OUR readers should subscribe for the Oregon Statesman, of Salem. It is the leading republican paper of the state.

The Arkansas legislature has chosen Senator James K. Jones to succeed himself. He was elected by an overwhelming majority.

HON. J. N. BROWN has prepared numerous bills which he will introduce as soon as the house is ready for business. He is a busy man and is working diligently for his people.

WILLIAM E. MARON has been nominated by the republicans of Illinois for senator. The senatorial fight in that state has been a warm one, but it is now settled, Mr. Maron being the unanimous choice of the republicans in caucus and this insures his election.

The Indiana legislature chose Hon. C. W. Fairbanks as senator to succeed Voorhees on Tuesday. Mr. Fairbanks was temporary chairman of the last republican national convention, and was also chairman of the committee which officially notified President McKinley of his nomination.

The democrats in the house, four in number, have refused to longer submit to Bourne's direction and Simon's bossism. They are in the house and there to stay and do business. Democrats are all right, but deliver us from Simonism and populism. Both constitute a dose too tough for the ordinary citizen.

The Greatest Menarch is a fit subject for pity if he is troubled with dyspepsia, while his poorest subject who digests properly may be envied by a prince thus afflicted. The dyspepsia of every clime and nation owe a debt of gratitude to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which rescues them from one of the most obstinate and troublesome complaints against which medical skill is directed. On this continent, in Europe and the tropics, this sterling remedy is pre-eminently and justly popular, not only as a stomachic, but also as a means of preventing and curing malarial, rheumatic, kidney, bilious and nervous disorders. It improves appetite and sleep, hastens convalescence and the acquisition of vigor after exhausting maladies, and counteracts the infirmities of age. A wise glassful taken before retiring has a tendency to promote tranquil, health yielding sleep, a boon much coveted by nervous invalids.

The city council of Goulton last week offered to the county court to donate $1000 toward building a 27000 court house at Goulton, to be built within a year. But the court did not consider it favorably, and Gilliam will have to struggle along with the distinction of being the only one in the state without a court house.

A WARNING TO MOTHERS.

From the Press, Three Oaks, Mich.

What can be more distressing than to see a girl drooping and fading in the springtime of youth? Instead of bright eyes, glowing, rose cheeks, and an elastic step, there are dull eyes, pale, sallow, or greenish complexion, and a languidness of step that bespeak disease and an early death if proper treatment is not promptly resorted to and persisted in until the impoverished blood is enriched, and the functions of life become regular. Upon parents rests a great responsibility at the time their daughters are budding into womanhood. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness, is "tired out" upon the slightest exertion, if she is troubled with headache, backache, or pain in the side, if her temper is fitful and her appetite poor, she is in a condition of extreme peril, a fit subject for the development of that most dreaded of all diseases—consumption. If you notice any of these symptoms lose no time in procuring something that will assist the patient to develop properly and regularly; that will enrich the blood and restore health's roses to the cheeks, bright eyes and a lightness of step so that danger of consumption and premature death will be averted. Wise and prudent mothers will insist on this, upon the approach of the period of puberty, and thus avoid all chances of disease or early decay.

At Three Oaks, Mich., there lives a woman with a most remarkable history. The following story is given in her own words:

DR. WILLIAMS' MEDICINE CO., Schenectady, N. Y.—Gentlemen: "There is so much to say about my case I hardly know which would be thought the most important. Seven years ago I had an attack of malarial fever, which turned to the typhoid. After that I never felt as well—my nervous system was completely unstrung. Five years ago last March I felt the first symptoms of rheumatism. The next March I had a gripple, which left me with that doctor pronounced malarial rheumatism. I became better, but in November had another severe attack. It settled in my back and right hip, and was then called sciatica. I was blistered several times without any relief. I spent all of that winter in bed. The next spring I was able to be out a little, but in August had another attack and was blistered again. This time they kept the blisters sore for over two weeks, but I received no benefit.

"After this I had sixteen blisters, or something similar, on the right side. I commenced to get crooked and had to use a cane when I walked. I again got a little better, but in February became worse, and my back gave out completely so that I could not straighten. The doctor said it was the breaking down of the bony structure of the vertebra. I was nearly double. When I became able to walk I was so bent over that I had to walk by pushing a chair, as I could not straighten. I could not sit and lean back in a rocker. There was a large bunch about half way down my back which, at times, pained me terribly.

"That fall I took two boxes of Pink Pills, but because they did not help me at once I stopped taking them. The next winter I was in bed, completely helpless. I finally got so I could not sit up long enough to have my bed made. I had chills every night and my hands and feet were like ice all the time. At last I lost all control of my nerves and if I commenced to laugh or cry could not stop.

"I was also subject to severe pains in my head and back which made me nearly wild, and would have spells when it seemed as if I were falling and would become unconscious. The nights were the worst, as I could not sleep. I was in so much pain that they gave me anti-
