

McCLURE'S MAGAZINE for March will contain full-page portraits, from recent photographs, of President-Elect McKinley and his mother.

JAMES A. GARY, of Baltimore, has been offered a place in President McKinley's cabinet, and will in all probability be the next postmaster general.

Gov. BUSINELL, of Ohio, has given out the statement that he will appoint Mark Hanna as senator to fill the unexpired term of John Sherman. He does this, he says, for the benefit of the people.

FORTY thousand old veterans of the Union army answered their final roll call in 1896. The fellows who have been growing over "the enormous pension list" will be gratified, but there are millions who will read the statement with heavy hearts.

THE only thing in the way of the election of a United States senator and the passage of the general appropriation bill and the repeal of the laws creating the useless commissions, by the legislature, cleaned of its rubbish, is Joseph Simon, supreme boss of the senate and owner of the bodies and souls of some of the members of that body. When these men die, they hope to go to Joe Simon—Salem Statesman.

THE situation at Salem remains unchanged. Senator Mitchell has given out the statement to the effect that he is ready to step out of the way for any other man, should the majority of the legislature see fit to name another. However, it is probable that the Simon and Bourne faction will continue to use their obstructive tactics unless they are allowed to organize the house and name a man for senator. This appears to be their attitude, at least, notwithstanding the claims of the Oregonian that Mitchell is the only man standing in the way of organization and harmony.

A WASHINGTON dispatch says that McKinley has determined to let financial reform wait upon a tariff revision. All he will expect of the extra session of congress is that it shall speedily pass a new tariff bill. He wants it to put the machinery in motion for currency legislation at a later date, however, by making provision for a joint commission of senators and representatives and report at the regular session of congress. A man recently in Canton said he talked at length with McKinley about the extra session, and he found the president-elect had determined to confine his message at the opening of that session practically to the tariff and currency. He will urge the speedy passage of a tariff bill for the double purpose of protecting American industries and filling the treasury.

WHILE there are few republicans in congress who would have named Mr. Lyman J. Gage, had they been asked to select President McKinley's secretary of the treasury, all of them agree in commending the choice now that it has been made by Major McKinley. Many republican senators and representatives are personally acquainted with Mr. Gage, and those who have not that honor are familiar through others with his splendid business career in Chicago, where he has resided for more than forty years. From a business standpoint there is not a flaw in the record of Mr. Gage; from a political standpoint there is one flaw: He voted for Cleveland when he was elected president the first time. The best proof that Mr. Gage regretted his action in that case is found in the fact that he did not vote for Cleveland the second and third time that he was a candidate and that he was especially active in the support of McKinley and Hobart and honest money, during the late campaign. His administration of the treasury department is likely to be very strong in business, and somewhat indifferent in partisan politics. Under existing circumstances, this may be the best possible sort of an administration of that important branch of the government, not only for the country but for the republican party.

An Old Settler.
When the rheumatism first pre-empted certain tracts of your anatomy it may be ousted easily, but when it becomes an old settler it is pretty hard to budge. Remember this when you experience the first twinges of this obstinate and agonizing disease, and attack it with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It will then "make tracks," and possibly leave you unmolested and in peaceful possession of your own comfort in the future. Peril always attend rheumatism, if it become chronic, on account of its tendency to attack the heart. Usually it is complicated with kidney trouble. Certain it is that the kidneys, when aroused by the Bitters, will eliminate impurities which give rise to rheumatism and dropsy. In inclement or wet conditions of the weather, the Bitters, taken in advance, will often avert rheumatic trouble. Use this general family medicine for dyspepsia, biliousness, headache and constipation.

WASHINGTON NEWS.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—Inauguration echoes are now heard wherever one turns in Washington. Work upon the street stands from which a portion of the spectators will view the parade, which promises to be the handsomest, if not the largest, ever seen, has been started, and the inauguration committee has begun the distribution of 50,000 paper flags and 15,000 portraits of McKinley and Hobart, to be used by the residents along the route of the parade to assist in decorating their houses. These are given away by the committee. So general is the sentiment in favor of having the West Point and Annapolis cadets take part in the parade that it seems probable the joint resolution, offered in the senate by Mr. Frye, and in the house of representatives by Mr. Baker, of New Hampshire, requesting the president to order the cadets and their bands to Washington and appropriating the money to pay their expenses, will go through. It is known that Mr. Cleveland favors having the cadets in the parade and that he will gladly issue the order if congress will adopt the resolution.

The democrats are already beginning their howl about the total amount of the appropriations that will be made by the Fifty-fourth congress. It is true that the total of the appropriations for the two years will exceed $1,000,000,000, but the democrats would show more wisdom if they would point out a single appropriation made, or to be made in the short time remaining of the session, that is not needed, or that the government will not get full value for, instead of yelling "extravagant appropriations" like a lot of parrots. The senate is not a republican body—would that it were—yet it has not only approved all of the appropriations made by the house, but has in nearly every bill increased them. Besides, it should not be forgotten that a considerable amount of the money appropriated by this congress was made necessary by continuing contracts made by the last democratic congress for river and harbor improvements, public buildings and the increase of the navy. Chairman Cannon, of the house committee on appropriations, correctly stated the situation when he said that contracts previously made had to be observed; that congress could not allow unfinished public buildings to remain exposed in all kinds of weather, and that the pension laws could not be ignored. In short, that no appropriations have been made that were not necessary for the conduct of the government and the preservation of its interests. Mr. Cannon's idea of economy in public expenditures are so rigid that he has offended many personal friends by refusing to sanction propositions for appropriations which have come before his committee. There is no item in any appropriation made by the Fifty-fourth congress that any republican need be ashamed of; the appropriations are all needed and the money is all to be spent among the people and for the people.

It is about settled that the arbitration treaty will not be voted upon at this session, but will go over to the extra session of the senate, that will meet March 4th, and remain in session until the extra session of the full congress meets. This has been made necessary by the opposition to the treaty in the senate.

Representative Woodman, of Illinois, has asked the house ways and means committee to increase the revenue tax on cigarettes from 50 cents to $30 a thousand. Mr. Woodman's object is to stop the smoking of cigarettes by children, which he says is "a habit which is destroying our youth, filling our insane asylums and shrouding in gloom, by the destruction, mentally, morally and physically of their young sons, many of the best homes of our land." Mr. Woodman said in his speech to the committee: "As long as boys can buy the death-dealing article at a great price or as far as most, so long will the evil continue. When they are kind as to produce a larger revenue, which tax will place them out

ITS MARVELOUS POWER.

Paine's Celery Compound Better Than Years of Doctoring.

There was never a remedy so eminently successful, so far above and beyond all competition, as Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound effects marvelous cures.

Where other remedies miserably fail, and where doctors do not succeed, there Paine's celery compound is found curing disease, making people well and happy.

Here is the case of Mrs. Hoff, who lives at 140 Summer Ave., Newark, N. J., and whose portrait is printed here.

"My doctor," she says, "called my disease liver complaint, stomach trouble, nervous dyspepsia, and almost every other name you could think of. When I was in Portland, Me., I had enlargement of the liver, and the doctor thought all the troubles came from that severe spell of illness. That was 12 years ago, and I have done nothing but doctor ever since I have had the best physicians examine me, and see if they could do anything for me. For months at a time my stomach and liver have been so sore that I could lie in bed only in misery, and with such severe pain in my back, and so weak that I could hardly talk.

"After I had a bad night I would send for the doctor, and he would leave me a small box of powders and one or two other medicines, and it would cost me $4 every time I had one of these spells. I believe I have taken more medicine than any other living woman.

"Last March I had a call from a lady friend of mine, who asked me, 'What is the matter with you?' I replied by saying, 'How well you look!' 'Yes,' she said, 'I never felt so well in my life.'

She is a woman of 45. "And now," she said, "I want to give you a little advice. I have been almost at death's door with liver trouble. After the doctor had done all that he could for me I told him not to come again. I showed him a bottle of Paine's celery compound and told him I was going to give that a fair trial. As a result I am strong and well."

"I sent right over to the drug store and got a bottle of Paine's celery compound, and when I had taken two bottles the soreness had left my stomach and my side felt much better. After I had taken four bottles my side was much stronger, and I was in better spirits and felt as though I might live and not be in such misery. Working people nowadays work the vitality all out every week, and all I ask is to be able to earn the money I have to every week.

"Paine's celery compound has enabled me to do this, and has done me more good than all the doctors put together. 'Why, my nervous system is so entirely strengthened I feel like a new being, and what is more, I look the good the medicine has done me, right in my face and eyes. Just tell all women that for a medicine to build one up, give Paine's celery compound a trial, and if it does not do it, then they might as well die. I have recommended it to several and it has helped in every case. I have a great deal to worry me, and a dose of the compound gives me quiet sleep and then I can work. If any one wishes to write me they can do so."

Why should a sick person do anything else but try a bottle of Paine's celery compound?

Has Entirely Recovered.
Mrs. Fannie Smith, who was committed to the asylum at Salem from the county about a year ago, has been pronounced cured by the physicians of that institution and will leave in a few days for her new home in Salinas, Cal., where Mr. Smith holds a position on the railroad similar to that which he held here for several years. This is indeed good news to Mrs. Smith's large number of Hepper friends who will rejoice with her over her complete recovery, and she expresses her sincere thanks to those friends here who so kindly assisted in caring for her in her affliction. Mrs. Smith will leave Salem for California about the last of this month.
