

The great farce at Salem has ended.

A COMPANY has been organized at Union, Or., to put in and operate a woolen mill at that city.

MANY of the big rivers of the East have been overflowing their banks the past week and much loss of life and property is reported as a result of the floods.

It is said that the Kline liquor bill will be passed by the Washington legislature. The liquor dealers worked hard against the measure, but have given up the fight, saying the bill is bound to pass in spite of all they could do.

GENERAL ROLOFF, who is reported on his way to Cuba with a steamer loaded with dynamite, rifles and ammunition, is the Cuban secretary of war. He was born in Poland, but went to Cuba when he was a boy and has grown up with the country. He went through the ten years' war with credit and a natural inclination to fight Spaniards.

SENATOR REED, of Douglas, is not proud of having been a member of the 19th legislature. In discussing a resolution to fix clerk's salaries yesterday he said: "I have been accused of profanity on the floor of this senate, but as for me, I don't want future generations ever to suspect me of having been a member of this senate. I want it all buried down deep in 'h'-l'."

In its constant efforts to keep up with the news from the populist storm centers, the New York Sun contributes the following among the latest: "Several thousand populists with a remarkable development of wheel power have made themselves heard in Kansas since the election, and Topoka whirrs audibly from the effects of the revolutions of the legislature. Many and ingenious are the measures which have been brought forward by that renowned band of sages, and yet perhaps the highest scheme of all comes not from a member of the legislature, but from a lonely cogitator in the little town of Florence. According to the Kansas City Journal, this philosopher is 'trying to induce the member from his district to introduce a bill into the legislature which will exempt every man who will take oath that he votes the populist ticket, from taxation.' This Florentine ought to be secretary of the agricultural sub-treasury when the populists have succeeded in their long campaign against common sense and arithmetic."

THE Tacoma News remarks that the mixed pickles of a legislature in Washington has two more weeks of life and it may accomplish much good in that time, and much harm contemplated by the house may be prevented by the other. The News is hopeful, saying: "That on the whole the completed work of the session may be found reasonably satisfactory as compared with the work of previous legislatures." This confidence on the part of the News is encouraging to those who look for improved legislation from those elected right from among the people. The Washington legislature so far has done nothing to establish confidence in it or to create the impression that the people are to be served better by it than by previous legislatures. The people seem to be doomed to be served by legislatures composed of fools or knaves, and sometimes of both, and the inflictions of one are about as burdensome and oppressive as the other. Those who would serve the people faithfully are not in the habit of seeking office and are, therefore, not selected, while those having selfish interests to serve are forever seeking office and the legislatures are forever being made up of the latter kind, to the injury and abuse of good government. When the principle of the office seeking the man is once more in vogue legislation and government will both be of a better brand.—East Oregonian.

An Old Settler.
When the rheumatism first pre-empted certain tracts of your anatomy it may be ousted easily, but when it becomes an old settler it is pretty hard to budge. Remember this when you experience the first twinges of this obstinate and agonizing disease, and attack it with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It will then "make tracks," and possibly leave you unmolested and in peaceful possession of your own comfort in the future. Peril always attend rheumatism, if it become chronic, on account of its tendency to attack the heart. Usually it is complicated with kidney trouble. Certain it is that the kidneys, when aroused by the Bitters, will eliminate impurities which give rise to rheumatism and dropsy. In inclement or wet conditions of the weather, the Bitters, taken in advance, will often avert rheumatic trouble. Use this general family medicine for dyspepsia, biliousness, headache and constipation.

JIM EDDY SENATOR
He Receives the Honor, Preferring Against Accepting It.

From the E. O.
Friday evening last, James B. Eddy was elected to the United States senate. The election was secured by a little manipulation and a tremendous majority of the votes in joint convention were given him. In nominating speeches, several eloquent orators proclaimed his many virtues and cited that Mr. Eddy had lived long in Oregon and yet never had asked the people for an office. He had been an industrious citizen, attending strictly to his own business, leaving other people to attend to theirs. He had been a brilliant journalist and a practical farmer, and ever ready to serve his constituents without pay. He was a very modest man, not inclined to push himself forward, and that in all probability if elected to the proud office of United States senator it would be necessary to use force to compel him to accept it. Long and loud cheering ensued, and when some one arose to nominate another candidate, he was thrown from the window and torn in pieces by the angry mob which had collected below and filled the streets for blocks in every direction. Col. Eddy was fairly hurled into office. He was forced into the position and the toga was put on him, while he was vainly protesting that he never wanted office and would not take it.

All this occurred in the third house which met Friday evening and provided endless amusement while the legislature was preparing to vote and the outsiders were given the right of way. The third house was all right on that occasion.

"Not Exactly Right"
Thousands of people are in this condition. They are not sick and yet they are by no means well. A single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do them a world of good. It would tone the stomach, create an appetite, purify and enrich the blood and give wonderful vigor and vitality. Now is the time to take it.

MR. HANNA'S POLICY.
Will Aid the McKinley Administration in Every Way.
Cleveland, O., Feb. 23.—M. A. Hanna said this afternoon regarding the announcement that Governor Bushnell had decided to appoint him United States senator:
"I received a letter from Governor Bushnell this morning apprising me of his intention to appoint me. I have written a reply to Governor Bushnell thanking him for the honor he bestowed upon me, and in particular for advising me of his intention in advance of the resignation of Senator Sherman. It gives me a chance to prepare my plans for a new place in life. Governor Bushnell doubtless felt that the sentiment of Ohio towards me was such that he had better make me the appointment. I shall do all in my power to be worthy of the honor. As far as my policy goes, it will be to aid the McKinley administration, and in particular to assist in framing and to see a tariff bill which will seek to restore confidence to the country and give a stimulus to our interests. That is now the chief purpose of my life."

RHEUMATISM THAT CRACKED THE SWOLLEN FLESH.

The Most Wonderful Cure from This Disease in Medical Annals.

Is There Anything to Compare in Misery and Suffering With It.

From the Chronicle, Chicago, Ill.
It was four years ago next month that Mrs. M. M. Hoyt, who lives at 2429 Westworth Avenue, came to Chicago. She was at that time bed-ridden, suffering from inflammatory rheumatism, and not able to raise her feet from the floor. One of the best physicians in Chicago treated her here three weeks but was unable to effect even relief. He gave up her case, believing nothing could be done for her and that she had but a few days to live.

In speaking of her sufferings and the relief and permanent cure effected later she says: "When I was five years old I was taken down with inflammatory rheumatism, but after a comparatively short time it passed off, and I was free from all its symptoms until I was fourteen years old. Then I had another attack, of which I was cured, and did not have a sick day until four years ago Christmas afternoon 1892.

"I had lived 25 years in Ludington, Mich., and 14 years in Manistee, Mich., both towns being situated on the lake. The weather in both places is even more damp, more raw and in winter colder than it is here. The attack on that Christmas afternoon came without warning. I was suddenly taken with chills and rheumatic fever, which grew worse day by day. Manistee physicians did all they could for me, but I was helpless in bed until the end of May, 1893. The physicians advised me to leave the shores of the lake and especially Manistee. I took their advice and came to Chicago.

"Rheumatism was in my hands, my feet and my head, in fact it was all over me besides having heart failure. Do you see all those white scars on my hands? Well, let me tell you how I got them. My hands became fearfully swollen with the rheumatism and were smooth and shiny just like a piece of glass. The skin by the swelling was stretched to such a point that it burst wherever you see the scars and from the wounds came water for a long time. My sufferings were almost unbearable, and I tried the treatment of one of Chicago's oldest and best physicians. I took his medicine for three weeks, but only grew worse. He gave up my case and advised me to send for my husband.

"I know by that advice that he did not give me much longer to live. Instead I went to one of my daughters who lives in the southern part of Indiana, in Ellettsville, Davie county, where her husband, Asa Davis, was one of the prominent merchants. I had been in Ellettsville one week, not feeling any better, when one day I received from my daughter in Chicago three boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, telling me in her letter that she had read in a newspaper of the wonderful cures they had effected. That she had gone to the woman the newspaper spoke about and found them and they told her every word said about them was true. She pleaded that I try these pills and perhaps I would find the same benefits. I did not hesitate, as anything that promised relief, let alone a cure, I was only too glad to try. I commenced taking them, two pills three times a day.

"For eight months past I had not been able to comb my hair, dress myself or walk, and had to be fed during all this time like a babe. Well, the first pill I remember distinctly, I took on a Saturday, and the following Monday I found this improvement; namely, my nerves seemed to be firmer and the pains less. This Monday evening I was sitting in my chair, and bear in mind, my daughter's words came back to me:
"Millard French was down from the Hinton creek ranch yesterday. He expects to depart soon for the Greenhorn mining section on a prospecting tour."
