

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up," without life, ambition, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of serious illness, or the accompaniment of nervous troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier. Hood's Pills cure liver ills, easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

GRAND JURY REPORT.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Morrow County. In the matter of the report of Grand Jury:

We, the grand jury empaneled and instructed for the March, 1897, term of the above entitled court beg leave to report that we have been in session three and one-half days and have examined six witnesses.

No recognizance of parties held to answer were before us, and no one was in jail waiting for action of the grand jury.

We have found no indictment.

We have examined the county jail and find it in fair condition.

We have examined the records in the offices of the county clerk, sheriff and treasurer of this county and find them kept in a neat and orderly manner and apparently in a good and proper condition.

We have attended to and inquired into all matters brought before us or called to our attention.

We desire to thank Hon. Stephen A. Lowell, judge of this court, for his kind and courteous treatment, and to commend the fair and able manner in which the business of the court is conducted.

We desire to thank the district attorney and our bailiff for their kind and faithful attention to their duties.

Having completed our duties we respectfully ask to be discharged.

Dated this 4th day of March, 1897.

The Dalles Favorites.

The Payton Comedy Company, consisting of seventeen members, arrived on the Regulator last night, and will open their five days' engagement at the Vaght tonight, in that bright comedy, "Is Marriage a Failure." The Paytons have been here twice before, and are special favorites with The Dalles people. Senter Payton is a fine comedian, and the Misses Lucy and Vene in their specialties are seldom equaled. Mr. Curis, who takes the heavy parts, is a fine actor, and with Mr. Payton's good judgment in selecting his support, it is safe to say the new members will add strength to the company. Prices 15, 25 and 35.—Chronicle, The Dalles.

Phillip Gahn, manager of Heppner's warehouse, will pay the highest market price for hides, furs, sheep pelts, etc. Bring your hides to him.

LITERARY NOTES.

The world will have nothing more from the magic pen of the late Robert Louis Stevenson after the romantic novel of "St. Ives," which begins publication in the March number of McClure's Magazine. We know from Stevenson's letter to Sidney Colvin, already published, that he was engaged on this novel down almost to the moment of his sudden death, and that it interested him deeply. He had the good fortune to leave it substantially complete. The last two chapters, perhaps, were not fully written; but he left such a summary of them that the course and conclusion of the story are quite satisfactorily shown. Persons who have read the novel pronounce it unobtainably one of the most engaging of Stevenson's works. It is written in his most cheerful vein; it moves with a rapidity and thrill of incident unsurpassed; and it presents a succession of personages of the utmost variety, subtlety and attractiveness. It is a love story, and the heroine is irresistible as she who engaged the affections of Mr. David Balfour and of all who read the immortal record of his adventures. The right of serial publication of "St. Ives" in America was purchased by McClure's Magazine of his executor very soon after Mr. Stevenson's death.

THE ASSISTANTS ARRESTED.

The attempted arrest of the members of the house as mentioned in the last issue of the Gazette, proved to be a farce, and as a result two assistant sergeants-at-arms were arrested, charged with assault, and will be given a hearing today in Justice McDevitt's court in Portland. The following account of the above action is from the Portland Telegram:

"On the train arriving here last evening from the capital were Assistant Sergeants-at-Arms E. B. Irving and J. J. Sturgill, looking for transient members of the defunct Benson house. At the depot they met Representative O. E. Jennings, of Wallowa, one of the men they were in search of, and upon his telling the officers that he had a surfeit of legislative experience at Salem they told the recalcitrant legislator to consider himself under arrest till he reached Salem to assist in the permanent organization of the house of representatives. Mr. Jennings was taken to the Perkins hotel, where he was released upon Mr. Perkins vouching for the law-making prisoner's appearance when wanted this morning to return to Salem.

"Meanwhile Mr. Jennings sought legal advice, and a game of strategy began. At about 11 o'clock last night as Chief Deputy Sheriff Thibsen was about accompanying a party of ladies from the theatre, warrants for the arrest of Irving and Sturgill were placed in his hands. They charged them with technical assault and battery upon Mr. Jennings. These men were easily found, but being comparatively strangers here, it was midnight almost before securing bonds for their appearance in Justice McDevitt's court today.

"The appearance of the defendants and the complaints in court this forenoon betokened that they fully realized that they were engaged in no boy's play, but that an important principle was involved in the matter.

"When the cases were called, Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald stated that owing to the absence of an important witness he would have to ask for a continuance. This was agreed to by Hon. H. E. McGinn, for the defense, and the time fixed for examination is at 10 a. m. on Friday."

This case has excited considerable interest, as it is an original one.
