Through inadvertence, many local advertisers who pay only a weekly rate have been getting the benefit of the semi-weekly service. The Gazette must insist upon business principles and those who pay for a weekly ad. must expect that it will appear only once a week.
The Gazette does not question the honesty of any person, but it is compelled to insist upon the cash-in advance plan of subscription, whether the subscriber be Cornelius Vanderbit or the man who earns his bread by honest toil.
We cannot run the paper on any other plan.

Mr. Wills is making a specialty of these lines, but he will give you bargains in

RENOUNCE CHRISTMAS.

Mohammedans, Brahmins and Buddhists Deny the Holiness of Christ.
There are millions upon millions of people in the world who will not celebrate Christmas, and there are other millions to whom Christmas is objectionable, says the New York Herald.
Take the followers of Mohammed, for instance. They are divided into 40 or 50 different sects, among which are the Nowsay-rie-yeh. There are about 50,000 of them, and they believe in transmigration of the soul. They believe that men's souls pass after death into the bodies of animals. For them the story of the birth and life of Christ has no charms.

Then there are the Druses, who profess to have knowledge that God has visited the world 234 times, but they do not believe in Christ. For them Christmas has no significance.
It is equally disregarded by Buddhists, Japanese, Chinese, Brahmins and Mohammedans. "There is no God but Allah," says the Mohammedans, "and Mohammed is His prophet." Mo-hammed's followers also have curious notions in regard to the fate of the unbelievers' children. Some believe that these children act as the servants of the faithful in Paradise, and Mohammed is recorded as saying on one occasion to his wife:
"If thou dost me I can make thee hear their cries in hades."

Other Mohammedan authorities, however, dissent from this view, and one of them boldly says: "I know that Allah will not torment those who have not committed any sin."
DRAW HIM OUT.
The finest art of filtration is adaptability.
The finest art of filtration is adaptability, says Lippincott's. I do not mean altogether to mold one's self after the mind or mood of the object of one's solicitude, but as rapidly as possible to discover the broad lines of his or her character and disposition, then, with the courage of a military leader, turn the force of our friend, the enemy, in that channel which may best please one's own intelligence and purpose.
With a little executive ability, and, in case the object be a man, just a tinge of judicious flattery, this can be accomplished. Sometimes, of course, we run our heads against a stone wall; and something must, and it is generally not the wall. This is as fatiguing a process in the mental faculties as standing on tiptoe is to the muscles of the foot; but the mental exercise, like the athletic, has its advantages.

The ruler of one's hobby has generally another in training, if not in actual use; and the man who cannot make himself interesting on either of the subjects that most absorb his own interests is not worth one's solicitude, and therefore proves nothing. "Suppressed stupidities avail themselves of extraordinary opportunities to come to light," says Helme. But there are few people in the world, except those who ly undue garrulousness give an unnecessarily emphasized illustration of inability, and will not, if taken in the right spirit and treated with a certain indulgence, prove containing from one standpoint or another.

HE FOOLED THE "BARKER." Supposed Customer Only Wanted to Light
His Pipe.
"Overcoats, hats, suits, boots and shoes—half price—best in town—lit you or treat you—more goods for less money—whole stock must be—Step right in, sir. Overcoat, sir? Step right in."
The bark in front of a State street clothing house was earning his money, and he knew it, says the Chicago Post.
The customer he had caught was tall and thin and only tolerably well clad.
A new overcoat was especially needed.
He looked along the line displayed, took the price, and at last seemed over-pressed, and the bark, and turned in at the entering of the door.
The barkler watched him, tossing after him scraps of gummaty and fragments of recommendation. The shabby, this man had been "worked off the street," and was at last clearly within the door. There he took a filled pipe from his left-hand pocket, a match from his right-hand pocket, and standing where the recess and the dressed dummies protected him from the wind, lighted his pipe, but when his frayed overcoat came passed on.

"Overcoats, hats, suits, boots—dabbling him, he fooled me—and shoes at half price—best in town," resumed the barkler, and looked for fresh victims.
A Legend of Lombardy.
An old Lombard legend tells the story of a chieftain who asked the hand of a neighbor's daughter. Upon its being refused him he declared war, killed the chief who had declined the honor of being his father-in-law, and married the girl after all. Not satisfied with this much, he had the skull of his wife's father mounted in gold as a drinking cup, and one day, while under the influence of wine, ordered his spouse to appear before the assembled guests at his house and drink to his health out of the horrible bowl. She did so, but ever afterly was her husband's secret but most deadly enemy. She joined in a conspiracy which eventually resulted in the king her husband's assassination.

COINED IN CHINA.
Crew to Source of Counterfeit Half-Dollars Circulated on the Coast.
At last the United States secret service authorities have struck a lead to the source from which have come the thousands of almost perfect imitation half dollars circulated throughout the Pacific coast.
It is believed the counterfeiters, which absolutely defy detection, except when under a powerful magnifying glass in the hands of a clever expert, were made by Chinese in their native land and brought to this country last summer by the members of the troupe of Chinese actors who came to America to perform at the Atlanta exposition. At most the entire troupe is now in San Francisco, having been filling engagements in Chinatown theaters since returning from the east.
It is estimated that $200,000 of the unauthorized coins have been disposed of by the Chinese, and that "Little Pete," the Chinaman of recent racetrack-job notoriety, was back to the schemer. However, the $20,000 realized has not been clear profit, as the counterfeits contain almost the same amount of pure silver as do the regularly minted half-dollars, but the extremely low price of silver bullion gave the counterfeiter a good profit.
