JIM WAS UNGRATEFUL. Sheriff Had Grown Tired of Giving Him Too Much Freedom. I was sitting with the sheriff in front of the town courthouse, when he suddenly stood up, shaded his eyes with his hand and looked across the street and then called out: "Heah, yo'! Is that yo', Jim?"

Smiles Irradiate the Countenance. When those atrocious bodily troubles, chills and fever, dyspepsia, kidney or rheumatic disorders, yield, as they invariably do, to the benign action of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a remedy of comprehensive use, pure in composition, unobjectionable to a delicate palate, and thorough in effects. Sick headaches, loss of appetite, flesh and sleep, nausea, heartburn, are among the physical annoyances obviated by the Bitters. They are in the nature of signals of distress displayed by a disordered stomach, liver and bowels, and disappear with the cause that produced them. But these signals should be heeded at once. Then the woe-begone look of chronic ill health will speedily disappear, and vigor and comfort restore a cheerful aspect to the face. That faithful index to the condition of the system never fails to wear a look of sunshine when the Bitters is used to dispel the cloud.

Attempted Suicide. From the Dalles (Chronicle). Mr. Wallace, who came down from Rufus this morning, says that last night a man by the name of George Daggett stopped at the hotel at that place, and upon retiring, left word to be called for this morning's train, which passes Rufus shortly after 7 o'clock. Upon knocking on his door and getting no response, the door was broken in and it was found that Daggett had attempted to commit suicide, and was nearly dead from loss of blood. He had cut a fearful gash in his throat with his knife. Daggett is a bachelor and resides here, and Mr. Wm. Bennett keeping bachelor's hall together. No reason is known for the act, though Mr. Bennett says that last Sunday Daggett acted "queer," but he had no idea he contemplated harm to him.

IS WOMAN A HUMAN BEING? This Question Was Gravelly Discussed at a Bishop's Council at Macon. In these latter days of the Nineteenth century, when woman is struggling for an equality with men in the arts and sciences and in politics, it may be interesting to know that as early as the Sixth century the "woman question" was a knotty problem confronting the sages of that period.

BARBER SHOP ON WHEELS. This Man Uses a Tricycle to Get Custom from Farmers. No other use has been found for the bicycle than that to which it has been put by a barber, August Leibman, of Gravesend, Long Island, says the New York Press. Before he learned to ride a wheel he made a comfortable living by driving around the scattered villages of Long Island shaving the farmers who could not spare time to travel to the neighboring towns to be shaved. It occurred to Leibman that a more desirable way of visiting his patrons than by the old horse and buggy could be found by constructing a tricycle outfit. The plan has worked well. The barber's chair, which is getting to be a familiar sight on Long Island, runs on three wheels and in the center of the machine is the saddle on which Leibman perches when he pedals abroad on shaving and hair cutting tours. The advantage of the new outfit is that it costs next to nothing when compared with the expense of keeping a horse. Before he adopted the tricycle system of travel Leibman was forced to confine his shaving and hair cutting efforts to farmsteads far removed from the red and white pole of the village barber. Now he boldly rides into the territory of his rivals, for the novelty of being shaved in a tricycle barber's chair has attracted custom from the regular shops.

Dated this 4th day of May, 1897. JAY W. SHIPLEY, School Superintendent. J. W. MORROW, Co.

Where the Money Went. The vicar of a rural parish who had waxed eloquent on the subject of foreign missions one Sunday was surprised on entering the village shop during the week to be greeted with marked coldness by the worthy dame who kept it. On seeking to know the cause, the good woman produced a coin from a drawer, and, throwing it down before the vicar, exclaimed: "I marked that holy crown and put it in the plate last Sunday, and here it is back again in my shop. I knowed well them pig-gones never got the money."

U., now at work in California, will be in our state next month and has been engaged to come to Heppner. We consider ourselves particularly fortunate in this, as this lecturer is highly recommended by Miss Willard; and our own Mrs. Kinney says of her in "The Oregon White Ribbon": "Miss Belle Kearney is a young lady from Mississippi, possessed with that rare Southern wit and eloquence and simply captivated the audience at the National convention." We hope many will avail themselves of the privilege of attending her lecture here. Time and place will be given in a later issue.
