THE ARK-BORN MAN.

the Light in the Ark? Hundreds of ancient gleaners of miscellaneous curios, legends, myths and traditions give us to understand that Cush was born on the ark, says the St. Louis Republic. Others claim that there was a child born on the sacred vessel, but that it was sacrificed to one of the wild beasts, Noah declaring that no person should leave the ark who had not gone on board in the regulation manner. The weight of the evidence is to the effect that Cush is the person running. referred to by the old-time mystery gleaners when they speak of the "arkborn" man. The sacred books, as well as the scores of Biblical encyclopedias. on the Gazette this week. hand books of ancient history, etc., are silent on the subject. In a reprint of one of the rare old "Saxon Chron clea" is found a clew to the mystery, and ann Pertert's "Nimrod." In the "Saxon Chronicles" the following occurs: "Bedwig was the son or Shom, who was the son of Nonh, and he, Ecdwig, was born on the ark." Herbert's note in 'Nimrod," colume ii, page 37, says Kybele is the ark, and, as Cush was begotten in the ark, his posterity were, in peculiar sense, descended from that ship." Although Herbert made no direct references to the fact of Cush beng actually born in the ark, he speaks of him in several places as "Cush, the ark-born." The Talmudie writers discredit the Bedwig story, but declare that Cush was born on the day that "God's covenant" (the rainbow) first

LIQUOR FROM GAS BURNERS. Device of a Portland, Me., Hotel for Evading the Prohibition Law.

Everybody who visits Maine has lifferent story to tell on his return of his experience in getting drinks, says the New York Sun. The champlon story is, perhaps, told by a well-known traveling enterman. He says that when he naked for a drink at a Portland hotel, he was shown into a room, which had nothing in it but table, on which were a pitcher of water and several tumblers, end a few chairs. Over the table was a chandelier, with apparently half a dozen gas burners. When the cocks were turned, however, not gas, but liquor came out of the burners, which were horizontal, on the tips being unserewed. From one burner came whisky; from another, run; from another, gin. Each burners supply pipe connected with a cask of some one of

The man who tells this story says that the indictment papers against the hotel in question for selling liquor would 6:1 a bushel basket, but none of them will ever be brought to trial; at least, none has been yet. Since adopting this device, the hotel has evaded detection.
