AMBULANCE ON WATER.

The managers of the Metropolitan asylums board, London, have just passed upon plans for an ambulance aunch for river service. Her dimensions, says the Philadelphia Record, are as follows: Length between perpendiculars, 60 feet; breadth, 12 feet 6 inches; depth, four feet; draught of water when fully equipped, two feet eight inches. The hull is built of Siemens-Martin mild steel throughout to board of trade requirements for passenger certificate. She is built in five compartments. In the fore part of the vessel is a cabin for the accommodation of visit patients in the hospital ships in of cholers infantum. accommodating about 20 persons. In the after part there is a cabin fitted up complaints. as a hospital, with four berths-two being fixed and two portable-and with all the necessary requirements for carrying four recumbent patients. Both of these cabins are heated with steam and take. are provided with suitable skylights and all the necessary fittings for a boat of its class. The machinery is fixed amidships and is of the triple-expansion type, with surface condenser, and capable of driving the vessel at a speed of ten knots. A water-tight trimming tank is built at the fore end of the vessel of sufficient capacity that when filled with water it will bring the vessel to an even keel of two feet eight inches.

A HOLY TERROR.

But the Little Battenburgs Love Her Al the Same The ruler of Balmoral castle, according to the Strand Magazine, is not the queen, but the housekeeper, a Mrs. Mussens, a typical personage of her class, gowned always in rustling black silk, lace-trimmed apron and white cap. She and the queen are said to be excelthey had together when affairs of state have been laid aside.

Mrs. Mussens also stands high in the favor of the little Battenbergs, who are sure to seek her out as soon as they have landed at the castle, for she fairly idolizes the little ones and keeps which to regale them.

To the world at large Mrs. Mussens is a boly terror. Her word is law, and she enforces it at the point of the bayonet or the broomstick. It is said that once to the care of her own room, but the housekeeper remonstrated, telling her majesty that it was quite out of order and she really must not spoil the servants by undue notice. The queen was wise enough not to insist, and "dear Mrs. Mussens" won the day.

BARE-NECKED SKATERS. Holland Women Appear on the Ice with

Ball-Gown Bodices. We are accustomed to see women bunflied up in furs as they glide over the ice. To witness a woman's race in Holland would give us a greater chill than to meet a ghost at midnight. A foreign correspondent, in mentioning a contest on skates, describes it as follows:

"It was snowing slightly, but in every available moment between the races troops of men were told to clear G. Sperry, proprietor. the course. At a given signal six women started for the first race. They were dressed in very short skirts, and transno sleeves at all. We were told they were from among the lower peasant people, and that the shop classes never entered the lists at all. The speed they went at was something wonderful, and | want a first class shave call at the same especially remarkable at the corners. For the most part they raced with their arms behind them, but the girl who won the prize (two pounds sterling) skated with hers folded in front."

Bare arms and necks in midwinter! Our physicians think women are courting death by wearing low-necked dresses in ballrooms. What must it be to wear them as outing costumes?
