FRUIT AS A MEDICINE.

More Virtue in a Basket of Berries Than in a Whole Drug Store.

Very few people are aware of the medicinal qualities of grapes; but these they possess. The pulp is nutritious, and the juice contains sugar, tannic acid, bitartrate of potassium, tartrate of calcium, common salt and sulphate of potassium. Without doubt, says Scientific American, the woman who cultivates the habit of eating a great deal of fruit is the gainer of health and appearance. The grapefruit, or shaddock, so called from its discoverer, Lieut. Shaddock, or, to mention its soft Chinese name, pumelo, is highly prized by those who live in malarial localities. It is a charming rival to quinine and boneset, and is driving them from the field. She who eats her grapefruit with a spoon from the natural cup, or relishes it served as a salad, may gladden her heart with the reflection that she is not only pleasing her palate, but benefiting her health.

THE COMING FAD.

A Well-Known Woman Thinks Her Sex Will Drive.

Mrs. John Stetson, of Boston, thinks that driving will be the chief amusement of the coming woman. She believes that the new woman, as well as the old-fashioned woman, can find few things in her life more enjoyable than a spin behind a good horse or team, and that, if she holds the reins herself, she will quickly learn that it adds immeasurably to her pleasure.

MONKEY LIGHTS MATCHES.

But Has Not the Intelligence to Kindle a Fire with Them.

No creature but man has ever made use of fire. An African traveler, indeed, has told a story of a monkey making a thicking raid on a camp of natives, and carrying torches to light their way; but this story lacks proof, and is not accepted as true by zoologists.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure

An exchange says the editor of the Wilmar, Minn., Argus lives in a house located between a Methodist church and a dance hall. One evening recently there was a gathering in both places. It being too warm for comfort in-doors the editor sat on the veranda and took in the situation and this is what he heard: "Let us pray—all salute—we beseech thee to—join hands and draw near—circle to the left—listen to us—all promenade—kneel before thee and—balance all—present your petition—grand right and left—for Christ's sake—seat your partners." The editor was most then saddened at the degeneration of the village and went off and joined a baseball club.

Makes Him Feel Young. "For some time I suffered with great weakness and was not able to walk. I could not sleep nights and did not have an appetite. One day a friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I did so. After taking five bottles my health was wonderfully improved. Hood's Sarsaparilla has made me feel young again." H. Ketes, 821 Yeeler Way, Seattle, Wash.

Hood's Pills are easy to take. 25cts.

The Southern Illinois Press association has adopted the rule to omit the title "Dr." in speaking of a physician, says an exchange. This is a retaliation upon the Southern Illinois medical association that expelled two members because they advertised. In Ohio the doctors are fighting proprietary medicine and some of the publishers threaten in every death notice to mention the name of the attending physician.
