WHAT OUR EXCHANGES SAY.

Justice Parkes yesterday received a telegram from Mrs. F. C. Richen, of Oregon City, asking him to give the size, age and complexion of Frank C. Richen, the barvest hand who was killed by being run over by a train near Umatilla some time during last Saturday night. The lady also asked if the body has been buried and for any other information that can be furnished. Mr. Parkes answered the dispatch and expects to hear wife or mother of the man who was killed and who was buried at Umattila on Menday by the county.-Pendleton

BOOTS FROM OLD HARNESS.

Cheap Footwear Made from Cast Off Horse Trappings.

Enormous Quantities of the Material Consumed in This Way-Discarded Saddles Also Utilised.

"Old harness thrown away? Not likely," said a dealer in old leather. "Every scrap of it is worth money; in fact, I can't get enough of it. Old harness collecting is as good as gold digging, if a man can only forage out enough horse owners to keep him well supplied. When you just think how many thousands of horses there are working in harness in London alone, Indian guides are necessary to go you can imagine how great the supply

"Nearly all the cast-off harness is consumed in making cheap boots. People will have cheap boots, and the boot manufacturers find that for making a serviceable article at a low figure there's nothing to beat old harness. Then again, whip-thongs and bootlaces are also made from old horse-trappings.

"In the first place, the greater part of it is bought up by big marine store dealers, who collect it from the harness makers, and from army sales of condemned goods, also from railway companies' sales, the average buying price being twopence per pound. These dealers have it taken to their warehouses, where it is sorted into different qualities and prices ranging from one lery stairs and took a seat in the front penny to sixpence a pound. It is then sold to smaller dealers of the same kind, who in turn distribute it to the boot manufacturers and others. ested in the singing of the choristers.

"Now, if it wasn't for the enormous quantity of old harness used by boot it all in. When the clergyman ascender manufacturers, a workingman would not be able to purchase a pair of new black creature was all attention. Her boots for a few shillings. No boot-maker could afford to sell a pair of men's boots made entirely of new thusiasm grew and she encouraged him leather for three and sixpence; yet hundreds of pairs are sold at this price every week in our great towns, and, as long as horses are worked in harness, will continue to be.

"Old saddles are mostly used for making the inner sole of a boot, as they are generally composed of the best leather, and, besides being more durable, will not crack or perish. The most profitable saddle to cut up is a 'riding saddle.' You see, they contain a tremendous quantity of good, sound leather; and then they are frequently thrown aside more because they are lithe and setive, with very small feet dingy than anything else. Undoubtedly a hunting saddle makes the finest boots; but military riding saddles are usually made of the very best leather. "The 'reins' used for driving a horse form an important item in the construction of cheap boots, being split by machinery and laid under the sole. The elderly warden, who is one

"The demand for old sets of military harness is much greater than the supcondition, is much more pliable and works up newer. Any goods made from the cast-off harness of railway companies are also pretty serviceable, the large size and good quality of the leather making them very useful for working up into other goods. In fact, this leather, when used in bootmaking, looks so well when trimmed and ironed that it is impossible for anyone except those in the trade to detect it. Small shoemakers use up a great deal of the cheap harness. In the winter time they use most of it for football boots. It is cut into strips and nailed across the sole of the boot to prevent the wearer from slipping. You'd hardly think anybody would have this done, considering that football boots are so cheap; but, then, some men prefer to wear out their old boots in this way, as they are generally more comfortable than new ones. "There is really no cast-off article where the material is so little wasted as old harness, every particle of it being used in some shape or form. The buckles and ornaments are cut off and sold by second-hand dealers, the collars are cut up and used for repairing leather bags, the hay stuffing being utilized for restuffing old chairs and coaches.

"Indeed, if the supply of disused harness were twice as great as it is it would not fully satisfy the demands of the boot

Fashionable Church Warden Reproves Demonstrative Worshiper. At one of the fashionable churches of the North side the congregation has extraordinary ideas of its uses if the senior warden is to be taken as authority. At a recent church celebration he informed one of the congregation that it was no place for a display of religious enthusiasm and some of the members are still wondering for what reason the church really is conducted.

The church is the most aristocratic upon the North side and has among its members the most exclusive families of its fashionable quarter. At the house of one of these a noted belle from New Orleans was recently visiting, and ac companing her upon her trip to the north as lady's maid was an old black mammy, who had attended her since her childhood days. Without this old aunty the southern beauty was as helpless as a babe. So when she went to balls and dinners the faithful old creature attended her to see that her toilet was complete, remove her shoes and fasten her long gloves. And her attendance upon her beautiful young mistress went so far that she followed her to church to see that her hat was on straight, to remove her veil and to re place it after service. After her little duties had been performed for this charming mistress the old darky was told to take a seat in the gallery and return to the vestibule in time to be of service after church.

The old creature did as she was instructed. She plodded up the long galrow of the empty wooden benches. The beautiful choral service soon began and the old aunty appeared deeply inter-Plans and Estimates Given on Short Notice. "God be praised!" "Amen!" "Halleluiah!"

The congregation was greatly startled. Such a scene had never ocurred within this stately structure. The minister looked up at the gallery, then paused and looked at the congregation in wonder. The old woman quieted down with the minister's hesitation, but her pleasure in his good words was shown as soon as he resumed his subject. And her cries were again begun with greater zeal.

Then the junior warden felt that the time had come to have the interruption stopped. He arose from his seat and looked toward the senior warden, whose duty it plainly was to end such an untimely scene. He nodded at the senior vestryman, whose popularity with the gentler sex he felt would tell him how to act on such an unprecedented occa-Yukon district, five are located upon of harness such as is used by omnibus of the most dignified of men, left his companies, are very often useless when thrown aside, being cracked and per-The first American traders to engage thrown aside, being cracked and per-ished through hard wear and long exdark stairs, stumbled down to where the old woman sat, gently laid his hand upon her shoulder and pressed his finger to his lips, with a shake of the head. "You mustn't act so." "I can't help it, chile," she called out. "I can't help it. I'se got religion." "But don't you know this is no place for it," he sternly remonstrated.-Chi-
