SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT FOR THE SECOND District, State of Oregon, for Morrow County.

J. H. Imbrays, Plaintiff,
vs.
J. D. Miller, Defendant.

To J. D. Miller, the above named defendant: In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear before the undersigned, a Justice of the Peace, in Second District of said county and state, on the 22nd day of October, 1897, at the hour of one o'clock in the afternoon of said day at my office in said district to answer the complaint of J. H. Imbrays filed against you, in which action the plaintiff demands Twenty Dollars ($20) with interest from Mar 16, 1896, at the rate of ten per cent per annum, and for the further sum of $50, to cover all costs and disbursements of this action. The defendant will take notice that if he fails to answer the complaint as required above, judgment will be taken against him by default. This summons is published by order of C. E. Jones, Justice of the Peace for the Second District in Morrow county, Oregon.

C. E. JONES,
Justice of the Peace for the Second District in Morrow County, Oregon.
Dated Sept. 8th, 1897.

VOICES OF CONGRESSMEN.

Many Representatives Have Won Celebrity by Lung Power.

There is always some one member of the house who possesses a voice far superior in depth and volume to that of any of the other members, which in itself serves to give the member possessing it a certain reputation. In the present house, says the Washington Post, this voice is possessed, by Marriott Brosius, of the Tenth Pennsylvania district. Mr. Brosius has a faculty of talking so loud at times that the people in the galleries cannot distinguish what he says. Another Pennsylvanian who possessed a similarly powerful voice was the late W. D. Kelley, commonly known as "Pig Iron" Kelley. In his day he held the voice record against all comers until Charles H. Van Wyck, of New York, who was afterward a senator from Nebraska, appeared on the scene. His voice was even greater than that of Mr. Kelley. Back in the old days the greatest voice known to congress was that of the late William Allen, of Ohio, whose statue now stands in Statuary hall at the capitol. It is told of Mr. Allen, when he was in the house, before the days of railroads, that one of his colleagues left for his home in Ohio. The day after he was gone, Allen lamented the fact that he had taken his departure so soon, as he wanted to consult him about some measure which had come up suddenly. "That needn't trouble you, Allen," said a fellow-member. "He hasn't got across the Alleghenies yet. Just go out on the balcony and call him back."

DIDN'T WORK WITH A SKUNK.

Hose Method of Hunting Seems to Be for Rabbits Only.

The Sun recently told of a man who hunted rabbits with a hose, and got them. The Sportsmen's Review tells how other men tried the same scheme in a Chicago suburb, and two of them wishes he hadn't. The way to hunt rabbits with a hose is to push the hose down into the rabbit hole, and have men guard all the exits, while somebody yells into the hose.

A man named Cutler doubted the efficiency of the method, according to the Review, but a man named Von Lengerke said it would work, and he would prove it. A party of hunters set forth after the rabbits, and came to a rabbit hole. Cutler guarded an entrance, while Abe Kleinman did the yelling.

The rabbit went out of the hole over Cutler's head, and away out of sight. Cutler, who wanted to try to catch a rabbit, said, not pointing to a hole, said it looked likely.

As before, Kleinman yelled into the hole. Cutler got close to the mouth of the hole so that he would be sure of the rabbit this time. He saw a beast coming, and with both arms clasped it tightly when it struck his breast.

The onlookers heard a muffled yell, such as a half-choked man might utter, and saw Cutler roll over backward, throwing the beast from him. Instead of a rabbit the beast was a scared skunk.

OLDEST RACE NAME.

Distinction Belongs to the Chinese, or Mongolians.

The population of the globe may be said to be primarily divided into three races; the yellow man, the white man and the black man. Any other race, compared with these, is unimportant, and may be considered a modification of one or more of them. Anderson says that "the yellow men have immemorially occupied the great central and northeastern plains of Eurasia, and are therefore called Mongols or Turan-Chinese. For countless centuries they far out-numbered all the white races of the world, and even now the white man in Asia forms only about a tenth of the population. From their number, position and other considerations, they appear to have first existed; the other two races being derived from them by emigration, change of climate and mode of living." The writer then goes on to say later: "Thus the three great racial types may have sprung from the Mongolian stock." Rawlinson seems to confirm this view, and in that case the Egyptian, for example, is not so old as the Mongol. The term Mongolian does not mean, as has been immemorially displayed in the Mongolians. For this reason, therefore, this race holds to the ancient name, the most ancient among many.

DEMAND FOR FLINTLOCKS.

They Are Made to Delight African and Other Savages.

Strange as it may appear, flintlock muskets are not merely a record of bygone ages, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. In 1895 no fewer than 1,820,000 gunflints were produced at the Lingheath mines, Brandon, Suffolk, England. These flints are chiefly to delight African and other savages, who having been so long used to flintlocks, are reluctant to give them up.

The method of manufacturing these gun flints is very interesting. In the operation of "flaking" the worker will take a "quarter" in his left hand with a protecting band of leather has a hammer, giving it each time a well directed blow. At every tap a flake sits in the hand and, if a good one, is deposited in a pail by his side, all bad ones being discarded. The knappers work these flints with hammers with long thin heads, often made of old files, transversely striking the edge of flint on an iron bed to the bench.

Russian Language in China.

The Amur Gazette states that the Chinese government has made it obligatory for all cadets in the military and naval schools in China to study Russian.

Messrs. Roberts & Rogers are making extensive repairs for J. L. Ayers, on the property recently purchased on Chase street. They are also making some improvements for Art Minor, and will also build a house for D. O. Justus near M. Lichtenthal's. There are now improvements being made in Morrow county and Heppner this fall than for any year since 1892. So much for better times.

The Southern Pacific railroad company has decided to sell tickets from all stations on its lines in Oregon, at one fare for the round trip. In view of the fact that our people have been favored with abundant crops, it is confidently expected that the state fair at Salem will have a better attendance than ever before, and in order to give all an opportunity to visit this great institution of which the people of the entire state have reason to be proud, this popular line of railroads has reduced the fare so as to enable all to see one of the grandest displays ever exhibited at Salem. The Fair opens Sept. 30th and closes Oct. 8th.

Henry Ridnour, Fred Miller and Fred McUmber are here from Dallas, Guthrie Co., Iowa, for the cattle recently bought by Ridnour and Geo. Roberts.

They Are the "Mustard."

Meadows & Hatten, the pioneer blacksmiths, have made some elegant improvements in their establishment and added a large stock of iron, horseshoes and other materials essential to the happiness of those who need quick repairs on their wagons, buggies or any kind of machinery. They have extended their room so as to accommodate everybody in the country who is in need of repairs. When you want a horse shod, machine repaired, tire set or anything else in their line, you will find Meadows & Hatten to be the boys that can do it.

This is no dream. E. W. Rhea & Co are the leaders in furnishing goods and clothing.

Beck Bros. are expected in very soon with some Long Creek clips which will meet with ready sale.
