HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and sealing pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail.

actually startled suddenly to come

SHE WAS THRIFTY.
One Woman Made $2,300 with a Thrashing Machine.

A woman thrasher is a novelty—that is, outside of the schoolhouse or home.
And the one in question is a genuine thrasher of the golden grain of the northwest, says the Minneapolis Journal. She came into one of the Minneapolis farm machinery houses the other day to make her final payment on her machine. This was startling and marked her as a woman of business capacity; for the man who makes a full payment on a thrasher this season is regarded as an exceptionally good man.
That the lady in question had a business head is further evidenced by the fact that she succeeded in "working" the manager of the establishment for $2,300, the amount of her fare home.

She innocently told him that to pay her bill in full would take every cent she had and she must take out enough to get home. While the manager generally demurred at receiving the bill in full with this discount, she ingeniously hinted that it would cost more than $2,500 to send a collector after the balance, and he tumbled to the situation as gracefully as possible. Mrs.
Thrasher (or perhaps it is Miss) said that she had made $2,300 out of her machine and had 157 stacks of grain to finish this winter, which she proposed to do if the snow was hubbub. Considering the fact that many machines are being taken back on mortgages this year, no one can successfully maintain that a woman is not adapted to this new field for woman's activity.

MRS. GLADSTONE.

Her silent influence on the Affairs of a Nation.

A woman's silent influence on the affairs of a nation is shown in the career of Mrs. Gladstone. She is not a social or political leader, nor in any way a diplomat in petticoats, says an exchange. She is responsible, however, far more than is generally known, not only for her husband's vigorous health at his ripe old age, but also for his great ability to accomplish the amount of work he has done through his public life and since his retirement. When he was in office it was her ceaseless care that she should not be distracted by anything that she could prevent, words that meant remarkable self-abnegation. The interests of a growing family of seven children, with a fond and proud mother, might easily have made considerable demand upon the father's attention, but neither these nor any social duties nor household perplexities were ever permitted to touch his leisure from statecraft cares. Her watchfulness has not decreased these later years. She is still his best physician and saves his strength in innumerable ways, trifling in themselves, but important in aggregate and possible only to one who has made such saving a life study. Blessed herself with excellent health all her life, she wears her 83 years lightly and still shows many traces of the handsome Miss Glynne who captivated the rising young M. P. over half a century ago.

How the Willy Turk Reconciled a Liking for Champagne with the Koran.

The William Penn, an American steamer of 650 tons, commanded by Capt. John Codman, was the first transport flying a foreign flag which was chartered by the French government in the Crimean war, says the Troy Times.

She was a new-comer in the Dardanelles and went aground on Nagara point, the very spot where Leander swam to his Hero. The pasha of the Dardanelles came off to the ship, tendering his assistance, and, with the introduction of this individual, Capt. Codman strikes a note of humorous description. Being under the impression that the orientals were forbidden by the prophet to partake of wine, that luxury was excluded from the cabin table. "Think then, of my astonishment," writes Capt. Codman, "at a gentle hint from the pasha to champagne. It was, of course, immediately produced. Upon my remarking that it had not been offered before on account of regard to what I supposed to be his religious scruples, he replied with an air of perfect sincerity: 'Wine is forbidden by the prophet; not champagne. Champagne did not exist in his day; how, then, could he have forbidden it? Mullah! God is great,' continued Mushallah, smoothing his head and soothing his conscience. 'Pass the bottle.'

WANTED TO GET EVEN.

How a Pass Fined Worked Advance Agent and Punished His Grocer.

The theatrical agent who goes out ahead of a show always has many funny experiences and especially with the seeker after free passes in the rural cities, says the New York Tribune.

Ramsey Morris, who in advance man for May Irwin's company, tells a funny story about his last trip to Pittsburgh.
He lingered over to see the show open Monday night, and while standing in the box office of the theater in the afternoon he heard the ticket seller having an argument over the telephone with some one. Finally the ticket seller hung up the receiver with an oath.
Mr. Morris inquired what was the matter. The ticket seller said:

"That is from M—, the dramatic critic; he never fails to work every advance man for four passes to the show."

"Guilty," said Mr. Morris. "I gave him four, but what's the trouble?"
"Well," said the ticket seller, "that fellow pays his board with those passes and buys groceries and does other things. He has just called up here to take up two passes and refuse admittance to the holder. He says that he gave them to his grocer for two dozen eggs and that the eggs were bad, and he wants to get even."

Miner's Lamps on Shipboard.

The use of a miner's safety lamp to avoid the accidental firing of explosive atmospheres on board ship is advocated by an English writer. He claims a suitably-fitted safety lamp gives the most ready, trustworthy and delicate tests for such dangerous gases or vapor. If the flame of a safety lamp be extinguished when it was carried into an irrespirable and explosive condition, and the space should not be entered until the atmosphere has been completely replaced by ventilation. If a hydrogen flame be substituted for the ordinary oil flame the test is made still more delicate.

INTELLECT AND NERVES.

The Strain of Mental Work Increases Nervous Disturbances.

At a recent meeting of the Academy of Medicine M. Magnan analyzed the paper of Dr. Toulouse, constituting an inquiry into the connection between intellectual superiority and neuropathy. says a Paris correspondent of the London Standard. That inquiry must, says M. Magnan, be made on the most eminent men in science, art and literature, and M. Zola was selected for the first observations. Some time ago the novelist explained in a letter made public why he lent himself willingly to the inquiry. As early as 1871, Beville Paris, in his physiology of men occupied in intellectual work, discovered in the nervous disorders frequently noted among them the consequences of the too great activity of the brain. But subsequently Moreau, of Tours, going further, declared that a genius was but a man suffering from nervousness; and, lastly, Lombroso declared genius to be epilepsy. Those conclusions were, said M. Magnan,
