

Poor and Weak

Catarrh and Bronchial Trouble—Had no Appetite—Now Better in Every Way—A Delicate Child.
"Some time since I took a sudden cold and could not get rid of it. Being subject to catarrh and bronchial trouble I coughed terribly. I lost my appetite and grew poor and weak and I did not feel like work. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. In a short time the cough disappeared, I slept well, had a good appetite and I was better in every way. Last spring I was not feeling well, I had no appetite and no strength. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon felt more like work. My little nephew was a delicate child and had a humor which troubled him so he could not rest at night. He has taken a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and now he has a good appetite and is able to sleep." Miss Abbie J. FREEMAN, South Duxbury, Mass.

ROYALTY OUT HUNTING.
Game Partridges Killed by the Prince of Wales—Game for William II.

The prince of Wales is a great hunter of partridges, the hand raised bird that have to be clubbed up and stoned to make them fly from men. The way the prince bangles over the soft birds is caution, says the New York Sun. He has several guns and a couple of men to blind with him to load the weapons. Shooting in this fashion the prince kills several hundred birds before noon. Recently he and a party of friends are credited in bagging in a single morning, 2,000 of the partridges, and in the afternoon they got 1,000 more.
Like the prince, the German emperor does nothing in a half way. William II. has better opportunities than the prince of Wales. Instead of shooting a thousand or so of little birds the emperor goes on a grand hunt after big game, and shoots birds between the rushes of the deer and like beasts. The emperor has the game laid out in lines between which he may walk and inspect the carcasses, and the lines are numerous. Three hundred or so of new deer, dozens of wild boars and stags, and hundreds of birds make a respectable bag.

Gold for Teeth Fillings.
It is not generally understood that there are scientific reasons for the employment of gold in filling teeth. Gold can be welded into a solid mass while cold. It can also be pressed into the smallest cavities and depressions. When once the cavity is properly cleaned and the gold carefully put in, care being taken that it fills every particle of space, the union of teeth and filling is as nearly perfect as is possible without the action of heat. A gold filling may be built up to almost any size or shape required. None of the acid secretions of the mouth or stomach have any effect upon it.

THAT RAILROAD TO PENDLETON.

It is Coming Right Along Over the Mountains From Yaquina Bay.

Articles of incorporation of the Oregon Central and Eastern Railroad were filed at Corvallis Wednesday under the new name of the Corvallis & Eastern Railroad. The capital stock is $2,500,000, with its general office at Albany, Or. The object is to secure funds to prosecute the extension of the road to Snake river. The money is all promised by Hammond, who retains control, and states that construction will commence on the completion of the Astoria road probably in January. Supplementary articles are being prepared to cover the line to Prineville and on to Pendleton.

This road, when completed, will open up a large tract of country hitherto almost inaccessible on account of distance from railroad transportation. Prineville is the center of one of the richest farming and grazing districts in the state. The line from Prineville to Pendleton will pass through a productive country, now comparatively undeveloped.

ABUSED THEIR CONFIDENCE.
Long Allen is Chastised by Allen Hardwick for Beating Him Out of an X.

A man called "Long Allen," who has no other name apparently, is in very bad odor with the sporting fraternity at Pendleton, says the E. O. It appears that sports trust one another, and that "Long Allen," so named because of his elongated appearance, abused this confidence about $80 worth. The money was loaned him by different persons because he asked for it, and when he had accumulated all the capital possible in this manner he left between two sons. He received some chastisement, however, at the hands of Al Hardwick, who over from Walls Walls. Hardwick loaned Allen $20, and when it became apparent that Allen intended to leave town without repaying anybody, Hardwick gave him about twenty dollars' worth of experience in fistfights, so that he departed with his head damaged and his eyes in mourning. Nobody seems to know whether he has gone.

Evidently this is the "Shorly" Allen who was in Heppner recently, and who had some trouble with A. Weinberger over a balance due on a suit of clothes.

What Dr. A. E. Saiter Says.
Buffalo, N. Y.—Gents:—From my personal knowledge, gained in observing the effect of your Shilob's Cure in cases of advanced consumption, I am prepared to say it is the most remarkable remedy that has ever been brought to my attention. It has certainly saved many from consumption. Sold by Conser & Brock.

SCHOOL ITEMS.
The banner for the best attendance was awarded to Miss Schofield's room this week.

The literary program on last Friday was well rendered. The most entertaining feature was the oration by P. M. Howard.

The High School Herald made its first appearance before the public and was quite entertaining as well as instructive.

The debate, "Resolved, That the ability to save money is more to be desired than the ability to make it," was decided in favor of the affirmative. Judges, Rev. C. R. Howard, Miss Lottie Farnsworth and Miss Blaboe. Visitors, Mrs. Henry Blackman, Miss Lottie Farnsworth, Miss Lillie Blaboe, Rev. C. R. Howard, P. M. Howard and J. J. Adkins. Each gentleman spoke a few encouraging words to the scholars which ended the program. Who?

Consumption Positively Cured.
Mr. E. B. Greave, merchant of Ouil bowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by the use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the greatest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, colds and consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at Slocum Drug Co., E. J. Slocum, manager.

A Sheriff's Hunt.
Sheriff Newt Livingston, of Grant county, had a narrow escape from what might have proven a serious accident a few days ago. He, with three or four friends, was out east of town, trying his two greyhounds after coyotes. A coyote was started, and Mr. Livingston endeavored to keep up with the dogs. His horse slipped and fell, catching his foot under it, pinning him to the ground, in which position he was compelled to remain until rescued by friends. His foot was badly bruised.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. No. H. C. C. Co. full, druggists refund money.

The Horse Feed Yard.—William Gordon has moved his feed yard from its former location to Jones' old stand where he will be pleased to have all his friends and patrons to call on him. Mr. Gordon is accommodating, has a good yard and abundant facilities to take care of stock in first class shape. His prices are very reasonable. He has hay and grain for sale. Has lately added a car load of baled timothy. If.

Cordray, the pioneer theatre man of Portland in the line of "popular prices," has refitted the Washington St. Theatre formerly known as the "New Park." Cordray always has something new, and our people, when below, can spend a pleasant evening at his place. If.
