

Oh, How Thankful

Pain Was Maddening and Hope Had Been Abandoned—Wonderful Results of Purifying the Blood.

"A very severe pain came in my left knee, which grew worse and worse, and finally a sore broke out above the knee. It discharged a great deal and the pain from my thigh down was maddening. Large, hard, purple spots appeared on my leg. I suffered in this way for years, and gave up all hope of ever being cured. My wife was reading of a case like mine cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and she advised me to try it. I began taking it and when I had used a few bottles I found relief from my suffering. Oh, how thankful I am for this relief! I am stronger than I have ever been in my life. I am in the best of health, have a good appetite and am a new man altogether." J. P. MOORS, Lisbon Falls, Maine.

Chris. Borchers, the new lessee of the Palace, will entertain his Elk friends at a banquet in the very near future. Of course the boys will have a good time.
The Gazette would like to settle up this month, but it can't be done without money. Those owing the office can never better accommodate it than at present.
Mat Hughes was down yesterday among his friends. He reports upper Willow creek all right. His old friend, Arthur Daly, better known as "Colorado" has been since this winter, but is better at present.

THE PALACE HOTEL CHANGES HANDS.

Thompson & Binns Step Out Today and J. C. Borchers Succeeds Them. Mrs. Von Cadow, Manager.

The Palace hotel, the large brick edifice of which all Morrow county people are proud, has been leased by J. C. Borchers, Thompson & Binns giving up the place today. Mr. Borchers has secured the services of Mrs. Margaret Von Cadow as manager of the caravansary. She will go to Portland this evening, but will return in a few days, accompanied by her family, and will then take charge.

It is hoped that the hotel will be made a success under the new management. Mrs. Von Cadow had charge of the place once before, but times were very hard then and, considering all, she made a splendid showing. As times have improved wonderfully there should be some money made in the venture. At least this is the wish of the Gazette.

DOWN FROM ALASKA.
Hon. W. F. Matlock Tells of Some Interesting Experience in That Far Off Region.
Hon. W. F. Matlock arrived here Sunday morning from Alaska, via Portland where he remained a few days, leaving last night for Pendleton where he will remain a few days, departing for Alaska about Jan. 7th.

The story of his experiences up there would fill a book. At present he is interested in a brewery enterprise with Bob Smith, of Portland, at Skagway, which is in course of completion. It will doubtless prove to be a mint. He is also building an inn at Lake Bennett, near the place where the Dyea and Skagway trails meet. This structure is being constructed of logs, covered with whipsawed lumber, and will accommodate quite a number of guests.
Mr. Matlock carried forty pounds over both trails and had quite an experience. Leaving Skagway as one of a party of four, they pushed on to a stopping place about eleven miles from town. Early next morning the party left behind a pack train, which made traveling tolerably easy, but snow near the summit impeded further progress and the pack train had to return. It was snowing hard and the labor of traveling was very great. One would go ahead and find the trail stake, then the remainder of the party would move up. It was slow but sure. Once the party was lost, one member given out entirely, and Bill says that it was the first time in his experience that he felt like "writing something," to let the folks know how it happened. After being out two days and one night a camp of Canadian police was reached and their troubles were ended. The return trip over Chilcoat pass was made without difficulty. It is very steep on both sides. A bucket tramway is being built on the Dyea side of the pass. The steel rope is now used by wayfarers in going down the mountain. All one has to do is to grasp the rope, sit down and gravity will do the rest.
Mr. Matlock says that no person should go to Alaska without plenty of provisions, for no one can get work or do anything without an outfit. He thinks that is a country of great possibilities, and that these are not half known.

NOT AS REPRESENTED.
Word from Harney County Represents Oliver as Justifiable in the Killing of French.
More particulars have been received concerning the killing of French by Oliver, over in Harney county.
It is said that the newspapers have misrepresented the case. Word from Canyon City today gives the information that French had been beating Oliver with a heavy "quirt" when the latter, to protect himself, shot French through the side of the head, and not through the back of the head as represented.
Judge Webster, of Portland, has been retained in defense of Oliver. It is the opinion over in Harney county that he will be cleared at the examination.

ATTENTION REPUBLICANS.
A meeting of the republican club of Morrow county is called for Saturday, January 15th, 1898, at the court house in Heppner, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to the state meeting of republican clubs, which convenes in the city of Portland on the 21 Tuesday of February, and also to elect officers for the ensuing year. All republicans are urged to be present.

THE MARQUAN GRAND, on Morrison street in the Marquam building, is under excellent management and the public will be royally entertained this winter. New companies and new faces will appear from time to time at this popular, first-class theatre of Portland, and when in Portland our denizens should not fail to take in some of the fine dramas that will be presented. 11

JUNGLES OF GUIANA.
A Mass of Vegetation That Can Scarcely Be Penetrated.
The vegetation of the Guianas is a devouring mass of green, which steadily encroaches, and is kept down only by the ceaseless warfare of one plant upon another. A tree springs up, says W. Kephew King in Century, and finds its way to the top by its energy. It is no sooner established than a parasite begins to climb its trunk and lace itself around the tree, until finally the grip of the parasite kills the tree, and both fall to ruin and decay, leaving a space, which is immediately occupied by new forms.
To penetrate such a jungle is impossible without the use of a machete and ax. To keep a path open requires constant cutting. If you shoot a bird or an animal, it falls perhaps not more than 350 feet away; but it may require a half hour or an hour to reach it, and unless you can shoot from a canoe, and can drop the bird into the water, as a rule you cannot find your game after it is killed. Words cannot describe the beauty of this mass of green, vigorous vegetation, nor can one comprehend the difficulty of conquering such a wilderness unless one has actually grappled with it.

The New York Recorder gives a story of a young lawyer who evidently did not consider the well-known learning of the judge a sufficient reason for omitting evidence of his own attainments.
The judge was compelled to listen to a case that had been appealed from one of the police courts. The young practitioner who appeared for the appellant was long and tedious; he brought in all of the elementary text books and quoted the fundamental propositions of the law.
At last the judge thought it was time to make an effort to close the argument. "Can we not assume," he said, pompously, "that the court knows a little about law itself?"
"That's the very mistake I made in the other court," answered the young orator, "and I don't want to let it defeat me twice."

GENTLEMEN:—I was recently taken with a severe cold which made me very hoarse and rendered me unfit to attend to business. A friend of mine called my attention to your Dr. Bartholomew's cough syrup and I bought a bottle, costing me 50 cents, which relieved me at once and completely cured me. I am subject to throat difficulty and I have found nothing that gave me so much relief as this cough cure.
I am informed that it is excellent for colds, bronchitis, whooping cough and all throat and lung troubles. I beg to remain, most truly yours,
