WEEKLY The MONTHLY Outlook
Published Every Saturday
13 Astor Place New York

The Outlook will be in 1897, as it has been during each of its twenty-seven years, a History of Our Own Times. In its various editorial departments the Outlook gives a compact review of the world's progress; it follows with care all the important philanthropic and industrial movements of the day; has a complete department of religious news; devotes much space to the interests of the home; reviews current literature; furnishes cheerful table-talk about men and things; and, in short, aims to give fresh information, original observation, and reasonable entertainment.
Beginning with the fifty fifth volume, the paper will assume the regular magazine size, which will add greatly to its convenience and attractiveness. The Outlook is published every Saturday—fifty-two issues a year. The first issue in each month is an Illustrated Magazine Number, containing about twice as many pages as the ordinary issue, together with a large number of pictures.
The price of the Outlook is three dollars a year in advance, or less than a cent a day.
Send for a specimen copy and illustrated prospectus to The Outlook, 13 Astor Place, New York City.

HOW TO FIND OUT.
Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.
WHAT TO DO.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and sealding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention the Heppner Gazette and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guaranteed the genuineness of this offer.

MADE A FORTUNE.
Some Good as Well as Bad News—Former Residents of Heppner Strike it Rich Near Dawson—It Takes Pluck—Death of Jackson.
In the San Francisco Examiner of recent date appears an account of the return of a large party of Klondikers from the land of gold, on the steamer Corona, in which list appears the name of Chris Nebuhr, who formerly drove milk wagon for Jas. Jones. Chris went in some time ago, long before the excitement of last season when "Klondike" became a word in the mouths of the civilized world, a rival in the English language for the Spanish El Dorado.
The Examiner says: Chris Nebuhr, formerly of Cherokee county, Iowa, and later of Oregon, left Dawson City with a small party on the evening of December 11th. He went into the Yukon country four years ago with a party of six people, only two of whom have remained. The first two years he prospected 200 miles up the Stewart river, working some bar diggings, which, he says, were profitable enough to warrant his remaining there.
"A person to prospect on the Stewart river," he said, "should have at least two years' supplies, for there is absolutely no place to buy anything. I did not prospect in the gulches at all, but I can confidently say that it is a promising field for energetic young men with the stamina to remain."
Mr. Nebuhr came down to Forty Mile just in time to get in on the first Klondike rush and holds as a result one of the best claims on Bonanza creek, since acquiring interests on a number of other creeks. He said tonight that he would not take a quarter of a million for his properties. He advises young men with staying qualities only to undertake the trip to the Yukon country.
Celius Keithley, better known to his Heppner friends as "Buster," was one of the first locators on Klondike creek, and if reports are true he will come out some day not far hence with no end of yellow stuff.
FIRST REPORT FROM THE
The Laffin Bureau, the new rival of the Associated Press, gave out the report not long ago that Jas. Jackson, a relative of C. B. Jackson, of the E. O., had been drowned. The Associated Press made light of the report, but that the Laffin Bureau was correct is now known. Letters have been received from both Dr. R. B. Beatie and John E. Lathrop confirming the sad death of Jackson. The Gazette has space for a part of Mr. Lathrop's letter. It says:
From Pendleton came only a small delegation, two of us, or three, counting Dr. R. B. Beatie, a former dental practitioner of that city. It was on July 27 when James Jackson and I left Pendleton for Portland, and July 30 when we sailed on the steamer George W. Elder. At Portland we were joined by Dr. Beatie, and the three, with Judge Richard Osborn and Frank Osborn of Seattle, left the head of Lake Bennett in a small boat for down the lake and river trip. August 29. Excellent health was enjoyed by each member of our party and the journey was made successfully, with such incidents, probably, as accompanied the journeys of thousands of other steam-peders. A raft was built, and, like dozens of other rafts, caught on a sand bar 40 miles above Dawson and abandoned. Our party of five then stopped on an island 18 miles from the city, the staff was taken out, and Dr. Beatie, Judge Osborn and I came on to Dawson to look out the "lay of the land." The result of the trip was that Dr. Beatie and James Jackson decided to remain on the island, Judge Osborn, Frank Osborn and I coming on to Dawson with our outfit. The partnership which had existed between Dr. Beatie, J. H. Jackson and I was dissolved and upon arriving here, I took into partnership, in a lay of 50 feet on John Dodson's Bonanza claim, Judge Osborn and son, in place of Dr. Beatie and Jim. For a time communitarian between the two boys on the island and as there was necessarily cut off, and we went to work busily to carry out the terms of our lease of the 50 feet. One day James Jackson appeared at our camp on Bonanza creek, remaining over night and left Monday night for Dawson, intending to leave the following morning, Tuesday, November 9, for the island. He had come down to Dawson simply to look about, and visit us on Bonanza creek. He was in good health, bright and cheerful, was warmly clad, had plenty of money for immediate needs, and food sufficient for the time he was absent from his own camp and the cabins of his friends. He was seen in Dawson as late as 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, November 9, when he remarked to Judge Masterson, of St. Louis, that he was going immediately to leave for the island. Before noon, the same day, he was seen passing through Louse Town, or Klondike City, on his way up the river, and since that date and hour, no trace has been found of Jimmy or his body. It will be two weeks tomorrow since he disappeared, and, after looking over all the ground, considering all the facts, obtaining every iota of information and waiting far beyond reasonable time, we were forced to the unalterably sad conclusion that he met his death at some point between Dawson and the island, 18 miles above here.

DR. BEATIE'S LETTER.
Month of Twelve-Mile, N. W. T., Dec. 6, 1897—I send under same cover a letter from John Lathrop which will explain the own sad mission. It only remains for me to give you the facts of Jimmy's loss more in detail. Jimmy left camp on Nov. 5 in company with George Huffman and Berry Loyal, two California lumbermen, bound for Dawson City. His intention being to go to Dawson and from there to Bonanza and El Dorado creeks and then to return with the same two men to our camp on the island at the mouth of Twelve-Mile. The party arrived at Dawson on the same day, Nov. 5, remaining there until the morning of the 7th, when they started up Klondike for Bonanza and El Dorado creeks.
Jimmy camped that night with John Lathrop and returned to Dawson on the 8th, remaining there over night and, evidently, concluding not to wait for the other members of the party but to push on to camp alone. The last reliable trace we could find of him was on the morning of the 9th, between 9 and 10 o'clock when he had a short talk with Judge Murat Masterson, of St. Louis. He told the judge at that time that he was off for camp and we heard afterwards in an indefinite way, that he was seen going through Klondike City, a suburb of Dawson, traveling toward camp. This was the last trace we were able to find of him. During the time Jimmie was in Dawson and up the creeks there had been an ice gorge on the river which raised the river 12 to 15 feet and made the trail that had been followed going down a very dangerous, if not an impassable one to return over. On my hunt up and down the river I found men that were on both sides of the river on the 9th and 10th, but they had seen nothing of Jimmy. We think he was most probably drowned in trying to cross some weak part of the ice.

MAIRIAL HOUSE'S NEW BOND.
He Filed it Yesterday—His Deputies Also Appointed.
United States Marshal Zoeth Houser filed his new bond yesterday, says Saturday's Portland Tribune. It is for $20,000 and the Fidelity Insurance company, of Maryland, was the surety gress. With the filing of his new bond it became necessary for the marshal to appoint his deputies, which was done. A. P. Withington is the chief office deputy; J. A. Wilson, chief deputy, and the field deputies are A. A. Roberts, George Humphrey, Stephen L. Morse at Pendleton and Thomas McKean at Sumpter, Baker county. There are three appointments yet to be made. Of the force under Marshal Grady, Mr. Humphrey is the only one retained.

At the Baptist Church.
Rev. Geo. Barnhart, of Arlington, preached two excellent discourses at the Baptist church on Sunday. Sunday evening his theme was "If a man die shall he live again." The trend of Mr. Barnhart's thought was to prove the immortality of the soul of man by evidence produced outside of the bible, and this he did very conclusively. Rev. Barnhart has been secured by the Baptist church of this city to preach for them two Sundays out of each month—the 3rd and 4th. He preaches also for the church at Arlington.

HER CONDITION CRITICAL.
Mrs. Houser Suffers a Second Attack of Paralysis.
From the E. O.
A turn for the worse in Mrs. Zoeth Houser's condition this morning has alarmed her relatives and friends. At about 8:30 o'clock a second stroke of paralysis occurred. It came without warning, as she seemed brighter and better before the attack and was ready for breakfast in apparent good spirits. The right side of her body was involved in the former attack and now the left side is also affected, greatly increasing the gravity of the case. Mr. Houser has been kept constantly informed by telegraph of his wife's condition, and the sad news of her second misfortune was promptly sent by Dr. Smith. He will arrive in the city on tomorrow morning's train from Portland.
Later news received from Pendleton announces the death of Mrs. Houser at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night.
His Hands Were Tied.
"Our little boy broke out with eczema. We were obliged to tie his hands to keep him from scratching and he endured everything. We began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time his face healed. He took five or six bottles and has not had a sick day since." Olney Soule, Pioneerville, Idaho.
Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Easy and yet efficient.

THE TRUTH OF IT.
The leading editorial in the Oregonian of the 17th inst., is devoted to a consideration of the causes of what the writer very naively terms "the legislative hold-up of last year," and purports to give a statement of the facts which preceded and accompanied that extraordinary session of the state legislature, says the Portland Tribune.

The prime object of this article was to gloss over and excuse the action of the Simon-Scott-Corbett-Bourne combination which was formed two years ago for the avowed purpose of thwarting the will of the people, as manifested in the results of the June election of 1896. To correct the pernicious errors of this brood of untruths, the Tribune publishes the following "plain statement of the facts about it, and the causes of it."
The legislature assembled on January 11, 1897, and one of the important matters to come before it was the election of a United States senator. For that position John E. Mitchell was an avowed candidate, and a majority of the legislators were in favor of him for that place. A minority of the republican members, at the head of whom was Mr. Joseph Simon, were opposed to Mr. Mitchell, and set about to find a means to accomplish his downfall, and incidentally, their own elevation. Suitable instrumentalities were not lacking.

Among the men elected on the republican ticket, was one Jonathan Bourne. While Mr. Bourne had always been pronounced in his advocacy of silver, he claimed that he was a consistent republican. After the adoption of the present platform in the St. Louis convention, Mr. Bourne, already a pronounced silver man, feeling himself secure in his election, openly abandoned the republican party and joined hands with the populists. After his defection from the party, he became a candidate for the speakership of the house.
This the republicans refused to endorse, thinking the sacrifice of the principle too great, and Mr. Bourne at once formed an alliance with the Simon-Scott-Corbett fusionists, the object of which combination was to advance the interests of the worthy leaders in this plot in any manner which opportunity might afford. Finding that a majority of the legislature was in favor of Mr. Mitchell, they availed themselves of the provision of the state constitution, which requires two-thirds of the members of either house to constitute a quorum. Knowing that Mr. Mitchell's election was sure if the legislature performed an organization, Mr. Bourne, Mr. Simon, and their followers, persistently refused to submit their credentials or to take the oath of office. The result was an entire failure of the house to organize. The evils entailed upon the people by this high-handed outrage are familiar to all, and for these evils the Simon-Scott-Bourne-Corbett gang of conspirators are directly responsible.

Mrs. Stark, Pleasant Ridge, O., says: "After two doctors gave up my boy to die, I saved him from cramp by using One Minute Cough Cure." It is the quickest and most certain remedy for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. Conser & Brook.
