

BABY'S SMOOTH, FAIR SKIN

A Grateful Mother Writes this Letter—
Tells all about Her Troubles when Baby Broke out with Scrofula Sores.
At the age of two months, my baby began to have sores break out on his right cheek. We used all the external applications that we could think or hear of, to no avail. The sores spread all over one side of his face. We consulted a physician and tried his medicine, and in a week the sores were gone. But to my surprise in two weeks more another scrofulous looking sore appeared on baby's arm. It grew worse and worse, and when he was three months old, I began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla. I also took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before the first bottle was finished, the sores were well and have never returned. He is now four years old, but he has never had any sign of those scrofulous sores since he was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, for which I feel very grateful. My boy owes his good health and smooth, fair skin to this great medicine. Mrs. S. S. WROZEN, Farmington, Delaware. Get only Hood's.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS GONE.

Large Part of His Life a Blank—Did the Colt Get Away?
About 45 years ago Clem Wallis, then a boy 15 years of age, went out to his father's pasture to catch a frisky colt, says the Portland (Me.) Advertiser. As he was about to place a halter around its neck the colt kicked him in the head, making a ragged wound. The wound healed, but it soon became apparent that the boy was slightly demented. His hallucinations took peculiar forms. He would travel up and down the bay on the steamboats, claiming proprietorship and refusing to pay fare. The steamboat men humored him, as he was considered daff. He was the butt of the small boys' jokes and banter. He has lived in the village since and is now 63 years of age. About six weeks ago the local physicians determined to experiment on his case. They found that a portion of his skull had been forced into contact with the brain by the blow and by a skillful operation they removed the pressure. The man recovered his reason and the first question he asked when he recovered from the operation was "Did the colt get away?" He is perfectly sane now, but 45 years of his life are a blank to him.

Boxing contests are quite frequent in Ione these days among the fraternality. The latest was between McDonald, the hardwre rustler for Corbett, Failing & Robertson, and Joe Woolery, a local sport. He horns were evenly divided.
Ye scribe and all the other denizens are busy making garden and doing spring chores, hence news of importance is overlooked. However, we will soon be looking for the county assessor, then the primaries and conventions. Then, oh say, can you give me a little lift?

A TALE OF HORRORS.

Two Men, Lost on the Desert. Make a Dreadful Discovery.
It was the desert of Sahara, says the New York Journal.
All day long the torrid sun had flashed down its blinding rays upon the yellow sands till they seemed to gleam with the terrible heat. As far as the eye could reach there was no sign of vegetation, nothing but sand, sand, sand, till the vision grew weary. In the sky, like specks of blackness, vultures hung suspended, circling around and around while they scanned the plain for some new victim of the heat.
For another man or animal whose decaying flesh might satisfy their loathsome appetites. Ever and anon, too, bones of those who had gone before—bleached white by the awful heat.
And in the midst of the stillness, the deolation and the heat, two wayfarers were wandering on. Their hands were empty, for their provisions were long exhausted and they had long since thrown aside their guns as useless incumbrances.
On and on they trudged, maddened by their terrible hunger and thirst. When suddenly they perceived a mass of rock which rose directly in their path. There was a natural opening. Through it they rushed.
"Water!"
A horrible cry of loathing and disappointment—a cry with no trace of hope or care for the future—rang through the rocky garden.
Then the two tramped fled.

ABOUT ENCORES.

Miss Reeves Hard on the "Vicious System," as He Calls It.
Sims Reeves is hard on what he calls the "vicious encore system." He characterizes it as a preposterous piece of dishonesty, of which all honest persons should be ashamed, says the Gentleman's Magazine. The nuisance, he says rightly, seeks to take a shabby advantage of the suffering professional and it is to be regretted that few of our performers possess sufficient courage to return to the platform, bow, politely and indelicate firmly no. Your enchor-monger cares nothing about symmetry or balance of cohesion, whether the occasion be the lyric stage, the oratorio performance, the benefit and ordinary concert or the ballad concert.
He wants to hear more than he has bargained for, and if his demand is not yielded to he will hoot and bray and hiss when an attempt is made to perform the next piece, as if he belonged to the long-earred quadrupled or feathered-biped tribe. And then he has, occasionally what the newspaper term "ascend"—an exhibition of "Arryism" that outrages our boasted civilization.
If managers, artists and the musical public would but think this matter over and determine to stamp out the nuisance, one great blot on our English musical performances might be effaced. Unfortunately it is not yet quite certain whether encore are more distasteful to the great majority of performers than they are to a large section of the concert-going public.

TEMPERATURE OF DEEP WELLS.

W. Hallock, a government expert geologist, has taken the temperature at various depths in the famous "dee wells" at Wheeling, W. Va. Several of these are over 4,000 feet in depth. In these are over 4,000 feet in depth, as given by the foreman of the drilling company which put the well down, is 4,555 feet, it was found that the temperature at a depth of 1,500 feet was 39.4 degrees centigrade. When the instrument was lowered to a depth of 2,000 feet and given time to do its registering, it was found that the mark had been set at 32.2, while at a point only eight feet from the bottom and 4,550 feet from the surface of the earth it registered as high as 43.4 degrees.

MAYOR OF LINCOLN, N. J.

Mr. Drake Felt It His Duty to Recommend Paine's Celery Compound.

The youngest and most bustling city in the United States.
Founded last April, Lincoln boasts a sewerage system, electric lights, macadamized roads, trolley cars, telephone franchise and a water plant.
From a hamlet to a town—a city, in this incredibly short time, Lincoln has grown with the wonderful progressiveness looked for only in the west—a splendid example of the indomitable pertinacity of one strong man.
Like most forceful men, Mayor Drake most see results before giving his approval; but when convinced he speaks out his mind without fear or favor of any one.

There is no hesitating among Mayor Drake's friends in saying that Paine's celery compound has been of the utmost help in enabling him to do a prodigious amount of work, and to get rid of that insomnia that at one time resulted from every prolonged effort. Mayor Drake himself says:

Lincoln, Middlesex Co., N. J.
Oct. 30, 1897.
Wells, Richardson & Co.,
Gentlemen—I have been getting Paine's celery compound from our local druggist. After sixteen hours work each day, I sleep eight hours each night like a baby, and attribute much of the strengthening of my nerves to Paine's celery compound.

Yours truly,
Silas D. Drake.

Nothing demoralizes the health sooner or more completely than even the occasional loss of sleep. To start a new day with the brain unrefreshed is like trying to keep a worn-out horse up to his work with the whip instead of by feeding. The incessant brain activity is as if the skull were laid bare and the surface of the brain were struck slightly every few seconds and without a sign of a "let-up."

This sleeplessness imperceptibly, but no less surely, destroys the brain cells that are the source of mental power and the health of every organ of the body.

Paine's celery compound gets the nervous system out of this dangerous rut of sleeplessness. It supplies nourishment to the nervous tissues faster than they are worn out, and does not let the nutrition of these delicate parts get low enough to bring on insomnia.

One of the earliest evidences of the final success of Paine's celery compound in curing debility, nervousness, sleeplessness and derangements of liver and kidneys is the increased appetite, the clearer skin, and that indescribable precursor of health, a feeling of "well being" that takes the place of the tired, languid, melancholy condition.

What about Your Feet Sir?

Talking about Shoes, there's nothing gives
On the One Hand
More comfort than a neat fitting, well made shoe.
On the Other hand
There is nothing more aggravating than ill-fitting, corn-cultivating shoes of the old styles.

Those new shoes we have been opening up for the last few days are an elegant line of good, comfortable shoes, in both black and tan and in common sense, and built dog toes. Some people prefer the tan shoes to the black for summer wear. If anything, one is even better than the other. There is a good deal of personal taste in the matter of feet and footwear. We can suit the most fastidious taste. We have in stock
