"Wild West Party"

On last Monday evening Mrs. J. D. Brown gave what she termed a "Wild West Party" in honor of Mr. Jas. Hart, who has returned to Heppner after an absence of about a year. The guests at this party were in the main those that formed a party of young people who two years ago this summer spent a couple of weeks in the mountains under the chaperonage of Mrs. Brown, and who were at that time given the appellation of "Wild West Party," hence the appropriateness of the title given the above gathering. The evening was spent in social games, music and conversation, to which was also added the pleasure of participating in an elegant lunch prepared by the hostess. The party was a very pleasant one indeed and greatly enjoyed by the following young people who were present: Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Warren, Misses Bertha Cate, Cora Hart, Jennie Noble, Addie Jackson, Winnie Myers, Elsie Lacy and Lattie Farnsworth and Messrs. Geo. Wells, Bruce Kelley, John Hornor, Jas. Hart, Robt. Hynd and Chas. Ingraham.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has lame back and weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, sets as a stimulant to the liver and kidneys, it cures constipation, headache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents a bottle at Slocum Drug Co., E. J. Slocum, manager.

Home From Alaska.

Wm. Radio got in Wednesday morning from a trip to Skagway and Dyea, Alaska, where he had been to make arrangements for the disposal of some cattle and horses. While at Skagway Mr. Radio met several of the Heppner boys who are now located at that place. He found them doing reasonably well, considering all the odds they have to work against, but speaking for himself, he says that he is not stuck on the climate out that way the least bit and much prefers to live in Eastern Oregon. Mr. Radio expects to ship his stock from Pendleton to Alaska, via Seattle, in a short time. His advice is, stay away from Alaska, that country is greatly overdone at present. He departed for his home at Long creek yesterday morning.

LITERARY NOTES.

The March number of McClure's magazine might be characterized in a sentence as a literary and pictorial exposition of the heroic side of real life. A letter from Nils Strindberg, one of the two men who have gone no one knows whither to reach the north pole by balloon; Mr. Walter Wellman's predictions as to the probable fate of the Andromeda party; Herbert E. Hamblen's account of his own adventures as a locomotive engineer; and a true story of the ingenuity and bravery of a Chicago fireman—all dealing with matters of fact, are still full of the very stuff which the novelist (too often in vain) beats his brains for. Charles A. Dana's personal recollections of Grant, Sherman, Gordon Granger, and "Fighting Joe" Hooker, as he saw them in the midst of the particularly "spectacular military movements" of the battle of Chattanooga; and of Secretary Stanton, as Mr. Dana worked with him day and night in the war department—still further emphasizes the heroic side of life. And so, too, does an article by Mr. Hamlin Garland on the Klondike, although it aims at nothing more than setting forth in good plain terms new information regarding the Klondike and the various ways of reaching it and getting at its riches. This information Mr. Garland has gathered from United States and Canadian government explorers and the Klondike within the last month or two to make their official reports, and his article has an obvious practical value, in addition to being extremely interesting.

A TIMELY WARNING.

Grain Saved is Money Made.

To save the grain use Fry's Concentrated Squarrel Poison. This preparation is the cheapest and most economical for the farmer. One grain kills. Guaranteed. Price 25c per can or $5.50 per case of two dozen. For sale by Slocum Drug Co., Heppner, Or.

How Virginia Deals with the Lynching Evil. The recent administration of Governor O'Ferrall, of Virginia, may be cited as an illustration in point. During the fourteen years immediately preceding Mr. O'Ferrall's inauguration there were 62 lynchings within the bounds of the state; during the last four years there have been but three, and in neither case was the chief executive in a position either to prevent the crime or punish the offenders. The keynote was struck at the beginning of the administration. The solemn declaration of a confederate veteran whose bravery is a proverb among his people that mob violence in Virginia must cease, at once awakes a large part of the law-abiding element, and the law-abiding element, led by the better part of the press of the state, rallied at once to the man who had given such unmistakable utterance to their sentiment. The victory was not won without a blow. There were times when the soldier boys went scurrying across the country as if a rebellion had broken out somewhere. There were times when these brave boys reached the county jail just ahead of the mob, and a shudder passed over the Commonwealth when it was found that the prisoners whose lives had been barely saved were innocent of the crimes of which they were charged. And there was a time when a captain who wired the governor that it would be impossible to get his company together in time to go to the rescue of a prisoner threatened with mob violence, got an answer back with a startling military ring: "Nothing should be impossible to a soldier; you must go." There is nothing of which Virginia is prouder today—and surely Virginia knows how to be proud—than her record on this question for the past four years.—From "The Prevention of Lynch-Law Epidemics," by Edward Leigh Pell, in American Monthly Review of Reviews for March.

Two Millions a Year.

When people buy, try, and buy again, it means they're satisfied. The people of the United States are now buying Cascarella's Candy Cathartic at the rate of two million boxes a year and it will be three million before New Year's. A Great Gathering of Teachers. The Inland Empire Teachers' association will meet at Pullman, Wash., on March 24-6, and a very large gathering is expected. The officers of the association are arranging an excellent program which will soon be announced through the press. On this program will appear the names of many of the most prominent educators of the Northwest; and it will present a great opportunity for our teachers to gain useful knowledge and receive encouragement in their labors. Reduced railroad and hotel fares is being secured and in all respects the gathering promises to be very successful.

Ladies, take the best. If you are troubled with constipation, sallow skin, and a tired feeling, take Karl's Clover Tea. It is pleasant to take. Sold by Conser & Brock.
