

A BATTLE ROYAL.

A battle royal, between the standards, is to be fought out in Oregon this spring. Both sides realize the importance of the result. It will not, perhaps, be a "decisive battle," but it will be a desperate and important one. The sound money forces of the nation will give aid and comfort to the republicans of Oregon—not to the "Mitchell republicans."

The above from the Portland Chronicle, a Simon mouthpiece, is in harmony with everything said by that faction. Now we would like to inform these misguided people that among what they class "Mitchell" republicans, are to be found hundreds who are not only "gold standard" republicans, but also stand fairly and squarely on the St. Louis platform in its entirety, and who very much dislike Joe Simon and his cohorts, and who can no more be forced to vote for a bolter than they could for a Chinaman.

THE president and the secretary of the navy believe that it would be both fitting and patriotic for congress to authorize the building of a new warship, to be as good as it can be made, to be named Maine, but they also regard as wise the opinion of the men in congress who have studied this subject, that it will be best to wait until full particulars of the loss of the Maine can be carefully studied before deciding whether it would be advisable to build any more vessels of the battleship type.

OUR navy is equal to that of Spain in guns and armament, and as superior to it in fighting qualities as an American is to a Spaniard; and the following remarks made by a war department official will give some idea of our coast defenses: "From Portland, Me., to the southernmost point on the Atlantic coast, big guns and mortar batteries have been planted, and, in case of war, an invading force could not land on Uncle Sam's soil without suffering severely. The Pacific coast has not been neglected by any means, and a hostile fleet seeking an entrance to a harbor anywhere along that coast line, would find violent opposition. One good result of the present critical times, if it only amounts to a scare, is that there will be less opposition to appropriation for coast defenses and for needs of the army and navy."

JUSTICE HARLAN, of the U. S. supreme court, made the following reference to the loss of the Maine, in a lecture to the law students of Columbian university: "It is idle for any man to say he knows how that calamity occurred, and any man belittles his nature and lowers himself in the estimation of his fellowmen when he expresses the anxiety that it will turn out that it was not an accident, but that it was treacherous rather than an accident. Brave, generous men do not want to think so badly of their fellowmen. We don't want to believe that that was an act of treachery and duplicity; we hope it will turn out otherwise. And we ought all to have this feeling that if it turns out to be accidental, we should rejoice; if it turns out not to be accidental, we will not hear any more of North, South, East or West, no more of republicans, democrats or populists. We will hear only of Americans."

FEW men occupying the position of President McKinley at this critical time would be able to withstand the temptation to do a little spread eagle posing by catering, in talk at least, to the unmitigated fighting sentiment of the country. Whether he has been tempted to do so, we cannot say, but that he has not done so is known to all the world, and it reflects great credit upon him as a man and as an official and has, beyond a doubt, increased the respect felt for the U. S. by all civilized nations. Not a line officially indicating what the verdict of the naval court of inquiry will be has been received by either the president or Secretary Long, but that very fact has tended to convince the public that the investigation has already shown the court that the explosion which wrecked the Maine was not accidental and that it did not occur inside the vessel; whether it has convinced the president and cabinet, their active preparations for war show better than anything said for publication by any of them. All preparations are for the purpose of putting the country in a condition to hold Spain to a strict accountability, if the verdict of the court shall be that the Maine was blown up from the outside, as nearly everybody now expects that it will be. Holding Spain responsible is likely to cause war, and although not one warlike word has been uttered, either by the president or by any member of his cabinet, the country is quite well prepared for war.

The Coast Defences. One-half the number of improved cannon, mortars and emplacements will be located and placed in suitable position ere the expiration of 1898. The artillery board are constantly making practical surveys, so far as these relate to the army, and the establishment of adequate military protection of our sea board is receiving strong endorsement. Meanwhile there is a means of defence from greater physical calamity, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which by restoring the tone of the nerves and stomach, invigorates the entire system. It also prevents malarial, kidney and rheumatic ailments, and cures biliousness and constipation. Those who have been cured by it speak in no uncertain terms as to its effectiveness.

Please Accept Thanks. Meadows & Hatten, the boss blacksmiths, have the thanks of the Gazette for their efforts in the papers' behalf this week. Their hard work enabled us to get a bad brake on the cylinder press repaired in elegant shape in time to get out today's paper, and is greatly appreciated. The accident happened to the press just as Friday's edition was being finished up. However, the excellent mechanical skill of the firm mentioned above has made the machine as good as ever and the prints hope to meet with no more accidents, while the boss is away, at least.

A MECHANICAL HORROR. The Hour of the Day Struck Off by Grinding Skeletons. "Machinery" is a monthly journal published at Johannesburg, South Africa. In a recent number is an account of a most remarkable clock belonging to a Hindoo prince, which the editor thinks the strangest piece of machinery in India. Near the dial of an ordinary-looking clock is a large gong hung on poles, while underneath, scattered on the ground, is a pile of artificial skulls, ribs, legs and arms, the whole number of bones in 12 human skeletons. When the hands of the clock indicate the hour of one, the number of bones needed to form a complete human skeleton come together with a snap; by some mechanical contrivance the skeleton springs up, seizes a mallet and, walking up to the gong, strikes one blow. This finished, it returns to the pile and again falls to pieces. When two o'clock, two skeletons get up and strike, while at the hours of noon and midnight the entire heap springs up in the shape of 12 skeletons and strike, each one after the other, a blow on the gong, and then fall to pieces, as before.

Thin Blood Where the blood loses its intense red—grows thin and watery, as in anemia, there is a constant feeling of exhaustion, a lack of energy—vitality and the spirits depressed. Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda is peculiarly adapted to correct this condition. The cod-liver oil, emulsified to an exquisite fineness, enters the blood direct and feeds its every corpuscle, restoring the natural color and giving vitality to the whole system. The hypophosphites reach the brain and nerve centres and add their strengthening and beneficial effect. If the roses have left your cheeks, if you are growing thin and exhausted from overwork, or if age is beginning to tell, use SCOTT'S Emulsion. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. All druggists, 50c and $1.00. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Cancer Of the Breast.

Mr. A. H. Crausby, of 153 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., says that his wife paid no attention to a small lump which appeared in her breast, but it soon developed into a cancer of the worst type, and notwithstanding the treatment of the best physicians, it continued to spread and grow rapidly, eating two holes in her breast. The doctors soon pronounced her incurable. A celebrated New York specialist then treated her, but she continued to grow worse and when informed that both her aunt and grandmother had died from cancer he gave the case up as hopeless. Someone then recommended S.S.S. and though little hope remained, she began it, and an improvement was noticed. The cancer commenced to heal and when she had taken several bottles it disappeared entirely, and although several years have elapsed, not a sign of the disease has ever returned.

Ed Barehill has returned home from the valley where he has been visiting old friends for the last two months. W. A. Ferguson and W. C. Metier are back from Klickitat county, Wash., where they went to help J. C. Thomson move to his new home. The annual school election passed off in a very quiet manner today. D. M. Potter was elected director for a term of three years and N. A. Leach clerk for one year. The republicans held a very interesting meeting here last Friday. They adopted the constitution and bylaws furnished by the state republican league. They also adopted some good resolutions. The club will meet regularly the first Friday of each month hereafter. Our school will close next Friday, and with it closes one of the most successful terms of school ever taught in Lexington. The credit belongs to the principal, Prof. J. E. Adams, who has proven to some people that he does know something. Stay with us Mr. Adams.

There was a very sad accident happened near town yesterday in which one of J. H. Gammell's little boys lost his life. It seems as though the boys were fixing to kill squirrels and were cleaning the gun when some one of the family remarked that a short cartridge would not fit the gun, it being a 22-cal., and another member of the family put in a cartridge which was found to fit but forgot to remove it. In putting the gun away it was in some unknown manner discharged, the ball going through the window and striking little Ransom, who with another little brother was playing on the outside of the house, in the side of the head. A doctor was at once telephoned for, but before he reached here the boy was dead. The funeral was preached today at the Congregational church, by Rev. U. S. Drake, and afterwards the body was buried in the cemetery near Lexington. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of all their friends. X-PORTER. LEXINGTON, Or., March 7, 1898.

Fine weather; grain looking nice. Miss Kate Barton is visiting friends at this place. Wm. McMillan and R. Wilmet made a flying trip to Heppner Monday. Mrs. Al Evans has been visiting with friends in this city for the past week. The people met on last Friday and fenced in the graveyard, an improvement greatly needed. Rev. U. S. Drake and family will soon depart for Salem where they go for the improvement of Mrs. Drake's health. About noon Sunday, the people were startled by the sad news that Ransom Gammell, a little boy aged 6 years, 8 months, had been accidentally shot by his brother Arthur, at the home of J. H. Gammell, about 1 1/2 miles from town. Arthur, after cleaning the gun, put a cartridge in it and started to put it up, when it was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through the window and striking the little boy above the right ear and passed out just above the left temple, killing him almost instantly. The funeral service was held Monday at 11:30 by Rev. Drake, after which the remains were interred in the Lexington cemetery. The family have our sympathy in their sad bereavement. On last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Carmichael gave a party at their home, six miles from town. The evening was spent in social games, to which was also added the pleasure of participating in an elegant lunch prepared by the hostess. The party was a very pleasant one indeed and greatly enjoyed by the following young people who were present: Misses Minnie McMillan, Nellie Reaney, Gertrude Skinner, Iona White, Dona Barnett, Elsie Palmer, Hattie Reaney, Lou McMillan, Fannie Barnett, Grace Palmer, Mary Metier, Della Reaney, Mary Gentry, Bessie Metier, Lottie Davis, and Messrs. J. E. Adams, Chas. Burnett, Ray McAllister, Karl Beach, Lawrence Palmer, Carroll McAllister, Frank Gentry, Lee Reaney, Gene Gentry and Knight Metier. FRADER. LEXINGTON, Or., Mar. 7.

BATHROOMS A LA MODE. Mrs. John Jacob Astor and Mrs. George Gould Have Fine Ones. Milady's bathroom has grown to be in its luxurious perfection a triumph of artistic cleverness, says the New York Journal. The skill of the architect is employed for special designs, and there is no limit to the decorations. Besides the regular tub, which is beautiful as ornamental porcelain and silver can make it, there is a sitz bathtub with spray and wave attachment and other apparatus to suit the taste and convenience of the owner. In some instances the room is lighted by skylight or windows of stained glass in exquisite designs of water nymphs and goddesses. Many the beautiful works of art both in fresco and oil painting and statuary in marble and bronze, represent the one representing the most lavish expenditure in artistic circles. With these voluptuous surroundings and the delicate atmosphere from the perfumed waters, the whole is less suggestive of the Scriptural injunction "Wash and be clean," than "Steep thy sense in luxury." Not the most extravagant, for where one has plenty of money there is no extravagance in putting large sums of it in circulation and the one representing the most lavish expenditure is probably that of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, while a close second is that of Mrs. George Gould.

BULL AGAINST RHINOCEROS. A Terrific Battle in the Land of the Zulus. When I was on the Zulu frontier, said a traveler recently, I stopped for a week with a native, a splendid fellow, who had a fine farm. Among other animals he had a young bull, called Hulo, which he and his children fondly believed could vanquish any beast on earth. Hulo was a great pet and not in the least vicious, so I was surprised on the second evening of my stay to see Hulo sniffing the air and pawing the ground in evident rage. I was about to ask what it meant when out of the forest came an ugly rhinoceros. My host and I hurried for our guns and Hulo dashed at the beast with dauntless courage. A rush, a wash, and the bull was hurled 20 feet. Fortunately the horn of his enemy had not caught him and the first rush had taught him a lesson. His horns were like sharp swords, but the hide of a rhinoceros is remarkably thick, and the young bull soon showed signs of fatigue. So he resorted to strategy, and dodged behind his clumsy foe, giving him vicious stabs in the thighs. This was rapidly weakening the rhinoceros, and just at this time we found some steel bullets (lead bullets having no effect on this animal) and quickly completed the work Hulo began. Then the bull stood on the carcass and belowed his joy.

HOW TO FIND OUT. Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order. WHAT TO DO. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention the Heppner Gazette and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

Hood's Kidney Pills Should be in every family medicine chest and every traveler's kit. They are invaluable when the stomach is out of order, cure headache, biliousness and liver troubles. Mild and efficient. 2-cent.
