The cablegram said that General Lee was loading 2500 Americans and that it would be impossible to get them out of the island before Sunday. He said that the condition of affairs was inflamed, and the

The president frankly explained the situation. He said the message would have gone today had it not been for General Lee's cablegram. The safety of the Americans at Havana, and especially General Lee's personal safety made the delay imperative. The democrate all expressed themselves as satisfied.

LONDON, April 6 .- On the highest authority the associated press can announce that the British government has assured the United States of its fullest and most cordial sympathy in carrying out its Cuban policy. This assurance was given with the most complete knowledge of the late developments in the negotiations between the United States and Spain, and on the understanding that events are tending strongly towards armed intervention in Cuba.
