GOV. GEE'S plurality is now past the 11,000 mark. Pretty good showing, that.

GOV. BUDD, of California, has commuted the sentence of Trainwrecker Worden to life imprisonment. It was shown by the medical board appointed to examine into his case that Worden was insane at the time he committed the crime.

GENERALS COPPINGER AND LEE, who are to command the army that is going to Porto Rico, have been sent orders to get their command into condition for embarking at the earliest possible moment, which is taken to mean that the movement upon Porto Rico is not to be postponed until the movement against Santiago is successful, but is to go ahead independently as soon as ready. Secretary Alger says that in ten days time every man in the army will be fully equipped for war.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY is well pleased with the war-revenue bill, now a law, as a whole. He would have preferred that the amount of bonds authorized should have remained at $500,000,000, as in the original house bill, instead of $400,000,000, as agreed to by the conference. He does not intend to issue more than shall be necessary to meet war expenses. That is why the first issue is limited to $200,000,000, and he hopes that all of these will be taken by the people in amounts of $1,000 and less.

SENATOR BUTLER, of North Carolina, chairman of the populist national committee, formally read Senator Kyle out of the populist party because he voted for the war revenue bill. The reading out process did not appear to worry Senator Kyle, who stated that he was responsible to his conscience and his constituents, and not to Butler, for his official actions. Mr. Kyle disposed of some statements concerning him made by Senator Pettigrew by denouncing them as "intentional and malicious falsehoods".

THERE is no buncombe about President McKinley's good will towards the ex-confederates, or he never would have nominated T. L. Rosser, of Virginia, to be a brigadier general. Rosser got a lot of newspaper notoriety several years ago by making a crack-brained speech announcing himself to be an unreconstructed rebel, etc. President McKinley only remembered that he was a gallant soldier, now seeking to fight for the country he once mistakenly fought to destroy. It is things like that which have caused it to be remarked more than once that "McKinley is in many respects as great as Lincoln".

KNOWING that the very persons who are having the most to say about the delay in getting General Shafter's army to Santiago would have led the harsh criticism had the army met with any mishap on account of being moved before everything was ready, and that the delay has been necessary and unavoidable, President McKinley is taking matters as coolly as the broiling spell of weather now upon Washington will allow him. He knows that no time has been wasted, and that none will be; that Shafter's army is out for business, and that results are going to follow its landing in Cuba. The administration is not to blame because newspaper men who were not informed of the real causes of delay printed their guesses, that the troops were held back because of rumors of the presence of an alleged new and dangerous Spanish fleet in Cuban waters, etc., as facts; censorship of news relating to important movements would be useless if the government contradicted all the rumors started.

The war is on and now you should subscribe for the Gazette. The latest news, always.

WAR NEWS!

NEW YORK, June 20.—Shafter's army of invasion arrived off Santiago last evening. The landing will probably be made today.

LONDON, June 20.—Manila advises say the first American expedition is expected to arrive today. The insurgents are awaiting their arrival.

KEY WEST, June 20.—A famine is eminent in Havana. Beef is issued for the sick only. The stocks of rice, beans and flour are nearly exhausted.

KEY WEST, June 20.—Capt. Ludlow, of the monitor, Terror, reports that Blanco has decided not to exchange Hobson and his companions. A Cuban spy and a deserting Spanish pilot have reached here from Havana, bringing a chart of the mines, fortifications and other information relating to Havana harbor. They say that Blanco is defiant and declares that he will do as he pleases. He says that if we want the prisoners that we must come and get them.

OFF SANTIAGO, June 21.—Thirty-six transports and convoys arrived and joined with Sampson's fleet ten miles off Santiago yesterday. The army is now ready to land and take Santiago. The navy will attack simultaneously with the landing of the troops, which will be made about ten miles above or below Santiago.

GIBRALTAR, June 21.—Dispatches received here confirm the report that Camara's Cadiz fleet, recently reported off this port, has again returned to Cadiz. They are apparently afraid they might meet with one of Uncle Sam's squadrons.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The senate is discussing the Hawaiian question. Mitchell and Wise spoke against annexation. Roach, of North Dakota, denied the interview favoring annexation. White, of California, followed Mitchell on the Hawaiian question. He regretted that the advocates manifested no disposition to discuss the points at issue. He remarked that such a policy would not hasten action. He insisted that the resolutions contradicted themselves and from a legal standpoint were faulty. This surprised able senators who admitted that they had not investigated, but simply accepted the resolutions as presented, and thought that the constitution had nothing to do with it.

THESE SPANISH NAMES. How Some are Pronounced and What They Mean.

The war news each day contains many names that puzzle some readers to pronounce, and which have a significance not always understood. The full name and titles of Alfonso XIII, the boy king of Spain, are as follows: Leon Ferdinand Marie Jacques Isidore Pascal Antoine Alfonso, king of Spain, of Castile, of Leon, of Aragon, of the two Sicilies, of Jerusalem, of Navarre, of Gredos, of Toledo, of Valencia, of Galicia, of Majorca, of Minorca, of Seville, of Sardinia, of Cordova, of Corcega, of Murcia, of Jaen, of Algrava, of Algeziras, of Gibraltar, of the Canary Islands, of the Eastern and Western Indies, of India and of the Oceanic continent, Archduke of Austria, Duke of Burgundy, of Brabant and of Milan count of Hapsburg, of Flanders, of the Tyrol and of Barcelona and Lord of Biscay and Molina.

The island of Porto Rico, which was discovered by Columbus in 1493, was named by San Juan de Puerto Rico, and is now generally shortened to Porto Rico. It is pronounced Port-to-Ri-ko, and means a rich port.

Cienfuegos (pronounced the en-fway-gose, with the accent on the third syllable), was named in honor of Jose Cienfuegos y Jovellanos, who was captain general of Cuba, 1816-1819. The town was founded during his rule. Its name in English means "hundred fires."

The only first-class battleship in the Spanish navy, the Palayo (pronounced Pay-lah-yo, accent on the second syllable) was named in honor of Palayo, or Pelagius, he is called by some, who founded the monarchy of Asturias in Spain, A. D. 718.

Santiago de Cuba, meaning St. James of Cuba, is the place where the captain and some of the crew of the filibustering ship Virginius were executed in 1873 and for which Spain paid the United States an indemnity.

Cardenas, where Ensign Bagley and others lost their lives and where the Winslow sustained serious damage, is pronounced Kar-day-nas, accent on the first syllable. It means "of a purple color."

The Spanish cruiser, Vizcaya, original ly spelled Biscaya, and pronounced Veeth-kah-ee-ah, derives its name from the Basque province of Biscay, bordering on the bay of the same name.

The Spanish cruiser Almirante Oquendo, pronounced Al-me-ran-yo Oken-do, was named in honor of Admiral Oquendo, Christopher Colon, the name of Admiral Carver's flagship, is Christopher Columbus in English.

The Spaniards have a pet name for their king. They call him el piquenito, "the little one."

Manila is the diminutive of Mano (hand), and therefore means "little hand."

Does Baby Thrive?

If your baby is delicate and sickly and its food does not nourish it, put fifteen or twenty drops of Scott's Emulsion in its bottle three or four times a day and you will see a marked change. We have had abundant proof that they will thrive on this emulsion when other food fails to nourish them. It is the same with larger children that are delicate. Scott's Emulsion seems to be the element lacking in their food. Do not fail to try it if your children do not thrive. It is as useful for them in summer as in winter.

Ask your doctor if this is not true. Ask your DOWNE, Chemist, New York.

PRESS COMMENT.

Not Necessarily What the Gazette Thinks but the Opinion of Others. There's another kick coming.—Those confounded Indians all went and voted the republican ticket again, making William next to Dayton as the banner republican precinct of Yamhill. Wonder if Yeatch won't contest congressman Tongue's seat because of the Indian vote?—Vestal Transcript.

The republicans made gains in nearly every county in Oregon in last Monday's election, as compared with the vote for president in 1896. A circumstance of this sort is so rare that when it occurs it deserves conspicuous mention, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. A party's majority in a presidential year in a state which it usually carries is generally higher than any which it gains in the immediately succeeding state elections. In Oregon, however, the republican margin of 1896 for president is far exceeded by that of 1898 for governor. The plurality now, in fact, is nearly four times as great as it was then. This shows that the republican party is stronger in the west than it was in the great republican year in which McKinley was elected. The canvasses in the rest of the country later in the year will probably show that the republican gain is general.—Pendleton Tribune.

Secretary Alger's statement to the public of the amount of work accomplished by his department and the army bureau since the outbreak of the war refutes the charge that the preparation of the campaign have been slothfully executed. The results themselves, as far as revealed, indeed spoke eloquently against this unthinking indictment. The public has apparently had little knowledge of the vast amount of territory to be covered, of the general state of unpreparedness that confronted the military authorities, of the lack of immediately available resources and of the need of care in the adjustment of the multitude of details in connection with the organization of a great army.

The war secretary sets forth the work that has been done, which reveals the proportions of the task in their true light. Yet the statement shows only the results and does not explain the details of the labor required to produce them. It appears clearly that in every department the army has been industrious and has availed itself of every known expedient for hurrying the work. Certain laws unaffected by the emergency statutes concerning the war have handicapped the efforts of the authorities in some particulars, and in view of all the circumstances it is not too much to declare that the achievements of the past few weeks have been worthy of the highest praise.—Spokane Chronicle.

As a war measure, Hawaii will soon become a dependency of the United States, by annexation. Both branches of congress have long been considering the necessity for taking this step. The acquisition of that South Pacific territory will not add to our national revenue, and we may be fortunate if it does so prove a source of expense. However, the war with Spain has taught us the earnest necessity for annexing those islands, if for nothing else but a coaling station. The debt we will have to assume, $4,000,000, is comparatively insignificant, when considering the untold advantages in the event of possible future wars with other nations.—Telegram.

Senator Gowen takes his defeat for reelection very cheerfully. He duly appreciates the splendid showing made in Grant and Harney counties. In looking over the composition of the legislature it will be seen Eastern Oregon has no republicans in the senate except Mitchell, of Wasco, and Taylor, of Umatilla. Therefore we predict that any appointment of the state during the next four years will do scant justice to this section. Through a spirit of jealousy and partisanship Harney county is without representation. This is to be regretted.—Horns Items.

ANNEXATION OF HAWAII.

Public Sentiment Forcing It Upon Congress.

Opposition Weakening.

An Element Crystallizing in Congress in Favor of Annexation.—Question to Be Settled This Week.

Washington, June 20.—Public sentiment—some call it the "imperial idea"—is forcing the annexation of Hawaii with an irresistible rush. Senators White, Allen and Pettigrew are expected to filibuster with interminable speeches, but they might as well blow against a hurricane. Senatorial courtesy will submit to sit and wait a few days until they have blown off their oratorical steam, but they will gain no votes, and it may be possible this week to order an American ship to Honolulu to raise the stars and stripes.

When the Newlands resolution reached the senate Senator Davis, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, had it referred to his committee at once. There is hardly any doubt that the resolution will be favorably acted upon by the senate. Friends of the measure are confident they will claim to have votes enough pledged to dispose of the question before congress adjourns, if it takes all summer, and they are determined to stay all summer if necessary to do so. They are claiming recruits and they believe the "imperial idea" is being carried by the people. Senator Withall's successor is for annexation, which is equivalent to a change of two in the count, as the late senator was in the opposition.

POINTS TO PUBLIC SENTIMENT. Friends in favor of the proposition are disposed to make the debate as short as possible, and there is a tacit understanding that they will not do much talking. It is expected the principal speeches will be made by Senators White, Allen and Pettigrew in opposition to the measure. The friends of Hawaiian annexation believe public sentiment in its favor is becoming stronger every day, and they find that the big majority in the house is breaking down the opposition in the senate. The representatives, on their own account, and being elected for shorter terms, are closer to the people, and the senators recognize the fact that the vote in the house is a reflection of the attitude of the masses.

FOR TERRITORIAL EXPANSION. The opposition is trying to throw discredit on Hawaiian annexation by using the term "imperial idea" as a stigma. There is abundance in Washington of a tremendous rising tide for territorial expansion, but it can hardly be swept back by giving it an insipid title intended to carry reproach. The masses hardly comprehend the sentiment that is stirring within them, but in congress there is an element rapidly crystallizing into an organized body which will be openly and vigorously for territorial expansion. These men are groping for a solid footing, for a convincing reason for the departure from the long established policies of the republic, and some of them have already selected a shibboleth. They are for "commercial expansion." They deny any annexation by great territory. They declare they wish to conquer new lands for stars and stripes in order to win new fields for American industry and commerce. They are not moved by the lust of conquest, they aver, but by the love of their fellow citizens.

A CAUCUS TONIGHT. Washington, June 20.—The house democrats are trying to arrange a caucus tonight to formulate a settled policy for the party on the war and Hawaiian questions.
