The shooting of George Ety by Moses Thompson in this city on Friday of last week has brought to light the wonderful progress that has been made in surgery during the past few years. The bullet from Mr. Thompson's gun entered the tured the small intestine, rendering nec sesary an operation that a few years agwas nuknown to the scientific world

Examination by Dr. W. G. Cole, who performed the operation, revealed the fact that the small intestine, which commences at the pylorus and winds into many convolutions, and is said to be about 20 feet feet long in the adult, was punctured by the leaden missile in dozen different places. The wounds were harridly statched and the intestine replaced, and the man who, a few minutes before was literally "shot to pieces" was reported resting easy, with some chance of recovery, but his death, neverless, was hourly expected by those who do not know that science has not only rapidly progressed along the lines of sci entific butchery from the discharge of a 13-inch projectile from a powerful gan on board a man-of-war to the throwing of earthquakes into the camp of the ene my by such engines of war as the Vesavins, but that it has kept equal prog-Is the place to go to get to the patient, and effecting cures more your fine pork and lamb marvelous than the possibilities of the patient, and effecting cures more der his command 11,016 men.
