PATRONIZE HOME MERCHANTS

Enterprizing individuals constantly encroaching on this territory, taking orders for all kinds of implements, dry goods, groceries, etc., representing to our farming community that they can and will sell a great deal cheaper than our own merchants, and we believe it a fact that our merchants are capable of buying the same quality of goods just as cheap as these outsiders so no effort on our part should be spared to not only protect our trade, but to convince section that they must not be desire of many of his friends that $4,000,000. these outside members of our hoodwinked into sending off for he should assume the senatorial of cases they pay very dearly for whereas anything bought at home proving unsatisfatcory cau be either returned or made good. Then again it seems unfair that they should send their cash to foreign concerns when the local merchants have extended them credit throughout the hard times. Experience with foreign catalogues, has already taught the community a severe lesson, and now to fall the victims of shrewd, irresponsible salesmen, who never return to deliver the goods, lends encouragement to the belief of Barnum, that the "American delight in being humbugged". The proper season signals the requirements of goods and then is the time for our business men to exert their vigilance and adopt means of spreading an alarm upon the invasion of this hord of peddlers. Joseph Simon will be president of the senate, and that he will have numerous friends in the house, when the legislature convenes. Among the candidates mentioned H. Barker, for senator, we hear the names of Hon. Binger Hermann, Hon. M. C. George, Cyrus Dolph, Ex-Governor Moody, Charles W. Fulton, Judge Fee, Ex-Senator Corbett and others. Whether Ex-Senator Mitchell will be an active candidate, remains to be seen. Judge F. A. Moore, of the supreme bench, is regarded as suitable timber for a "dark horse" in case of a "dead lock", and it is well known that he would be very acceptable to Senator MeBride.

Whether the state at large would like to have two senstors from the little hamlet of St. Helens, on the Columbia river, we cannot say.
