OREGON'S GREATEST FAIR

Portland's Mammoth Exposition Opened Last Night

GREAT DISPLAY OF HOME PRODUCTS

Exhibits From Every Nook and Cranny of the Webfoot State and From Several Washington and Idaho Counties.

Portland Evening Telegram, September 22nd.
The fair opens tonight.
The tumultuous storm of industry that has throbbled so violently during the days, weeks and months of preparation, has steadied down to a calm.

The varied products of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and British Columbia are represented. These include mineral, forestry, fishery, agricultural, stockraising, dairying, manufacturing exhibits, etc.
The first sugar made from beets in the Pacific Northwest may be seen among the Oregon exhibits.

Early last spring Dan McAllen, Colonel Summers, B. S. Page and other prominent Portlanders started to get up a fair. Like a little snowball which gathers weight and power as it speeds down a hill, until it may end in a crashing avalanche, so the exposition movement gained force, drawing all interest to it, until at present it represents a veritable avalanche of variegated interests.

While many of the counties of Oregon are noted for special products, as Clatsop for fish and dairying, Union for best sugar, Umatilla for grain, Willamette valley counties for hops, Douglas for prunes, Jackson, Josephine and Baker for minerals, Curry for coal and timber, Lincoln for building stone, etc., yet all these counties excel in fruits, vegetables, berries, grasses, grains, etc.

The industrial snowball already started will not stop rolling at the end of the exposition. It will keep on going, and gathering force.
The exposition will teach the people to patronize home industries. It will acquaint the business men with the needs of the farmer. It will bring all classes into closer commercial relationship, and it will forge new ties.

The exposition is a two-edged sword. Not only does it infuse new lifeblood into the channels of commerce, but it is a great educator. The Portland school exhibit, under the direction of Miss Dimick, shows the great educational opportunities of the state.

Fairs in former years have, with two exceptions, been managed by corporations. This year the fair is being managed by the citizens. A casual comparison shows the benefit of the change.
Although the business men of Portland have been taxed to death on account of schemes of every conceivable nature, they all put their shoulders to the wheel and raised the amount required for the exposition.

SPANIARDS LEAVE PORTO RICO.
Speculators flocking to the island, but are disappointed.

By the Associated Press.
SAN JUAN, Sept. 19.—[Delayed]—The evacuation of outlying positions occupied by the Spaniards began today.

On Wednesday the Spaniards will evacuate the islands of Veques, where a company of American troops dispatched from Grant's brigade has been landed.

Spanish control is now confined to less than one-third of the island.
The Spanish evacuation commissioners today officially informed the American commissioners that they have been notified of the sailing from Spain of two transports intended to embark the troops here and also 4,000 Spanish soldiers will sail from here on a transport which is expected from Cuba.

The meeting of the commissioners was entirely without friction and was owing to the good feeling prevailing between the soldiers and those of Spain that it was decided to allow the company of Americans to land at the island of Teques before the Spaniards left.

In spite of the fact that some of them have been disillusioned, the influx of American promoters continues. An agent of an American sugar refining company is here and many others are seeking business opportunities, franchises and concessions.

Messrs. Luce and Dumareq, financial agents of the government, who have established the Bank of Ponce here, are consulting General Brooke relative to the currency situation. They report business at a standstill, owing to the fluctuations of the local currency just as the planters need the money for their crops.

The fiscal agencies many of the speculators who flocked to the island, but are disappointed.
PONDICHERY, Sept. 19, 1898.—To the editor of the East Oregonian: The dreadful tragedy which occurred last Saturday night and shocked the whole neighborhood can be traced to two things: "Whisky" and the wild western habit of carrying a pistol.

This is the second shooting that has taken place during the last few weeks on our public streets, resulting in the going out of one valuable young life and the painful wounding of two others, both due to the pistol carrying habit.

As a rule, the possession of a gun is not a means of safety, but a source of danger to the possessor as well as to his fellowmen, and will bring him sooner or later into trouble.

CHRONIC DIARRHOES CURED.
This is to certify that I have had chronic diarrhoea ever since the war, I got so weak I could hardly walk or do anything.

I had chronic diarrhoea for twelve years. Three bottles of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured me.

Both Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Shaver are prominent farmers and reside near Finesville, Va. They procured the remedy from Mr. W. E. Casper, a druggist of that place, who is well acquainted with them and will vouch for the truth of their statements.

A HORRIBLE MURDER.
Pendleton Was the Scene of a Cold-Blooded Murder.

One of the most shocking tragedies that ever occurred in Pendleton happened Saturday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the O. R. & N. depot. As the result Oliver Young lies dead, shot through the heart, and Mrs. J. J. Worcester is seriously wounded.

At the time of the tragedy Cunningham was standing in the north door of the men's waiting room of the station. Mrs. Worcester and her daughter were coming up the sidewalk toward him and Oliver Young was on the sidewalk near him.

After receiving the fatal bullet Young ran into the station, gasped the words "Oh, I'm shot; save me," and the next moment sank down and expired.

The murderer chased Miss Worcester as far as the Last Chance saloon, trying to shoot all the time, but the gun only snapped, as the chambers had all been emptied. The girl dodged into the saloon and hid behind a table.

At this point, Geo. Reading, who happened to be near, seized Cunningham and threw him to the ground.
While they were struggling night Officer Scheer arrived on the scene, and in effecting the capture accidentally struck Reading with his club.

Soon after Deputy Sheriff Waffle arrived and took the crazy murderer to jail.
At the depot the body of the murdered young man was removed to the baggage room and his relatives summoned.

Mrs. Worcester was hurriedly taken to her home on Johnson street and a physician called.

WARREN FROM HONOLULU.
So Room for Immigrants Without Considerable Money.
The annexation of Hawaii has caused a rush of storage passenger immigrants there, especially from California, where, on account of the drought, employment for laborers of all kinds is scarce.

Doctors, lawyers, school teachers, mechanics, farmers and laborers apparently believe Hawaii to be a new country, and rush there to look for business or employment. Most of them have but little money, and find no opportunity to get into business or to get employment, and many are returning and more would if they had money to pay their passage.

J. F. Brown, agent for public lands, has found it necessary to publish a statement for the information of immigrants, setting forth the difficulty of procuring land in the islands, the best of the lands having long since been sold outright or leased on long terms.

Consists of strong men and healthy women, and health and strength depend upon pure, rich blood which is given by Hood's Sarsaparilla. A nation which takes millions of bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla every year is laying the foundation for health, the wisdom of which will surely show itself in years to come.

Hood's Pills are prompt efficient, always reliable, easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.
