OREGON BOYS AT MANILA

Colonel Sommers Reports Their Doings to Date

AMERICANS AND INSURGENTS CLASH

The Oregon Boys Disposes the Spaniards of Their Arms, Take Possession of the Treasure and Raise the American Colors

Associated Press Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The official report of what the Oregon troops are doing, or rather have been doing, in Manila, has been received at the war department in the form of the report of Colonel Sumner to the adjutant-general of the Eighth army corps.

My command, consisting of nine companies, arrived in the walled city of Manila about 4 o'clock p. m. on August 13th, and took up a position in front of the royal palace, or the executive building, during the final capitulations, entered into by General Merritt.

I wish to state that, during this period, I have exercised, to the very best of my ability, a very cautious and conservative system in regard to everything that would carry out a peaceful and harmonious termination of the receiving of this public property.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Madrid correspondent of the Times says: Captain Anson, the minister of marine, has received a dispatch from Manila announcing a naval engagement between the Americans and the rebels in consequence of Admiral Dewey forbidding the latter to fly the rebel flag upon their ships.

MADRID, Oct. 20.—The cabinet has decided to forward to the Spanish peace commissioners at Paris an official dispatch received yesterday from Manila, reporting an engagement between the American and insurgent warships, growing out of the refusal of Admiral Dewey to allow the insurgents to fly their flag from their ships.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—As far as could be ascertained, no information regarding the reported naval engagement has been received at the navy department, nor has General Otis, commanding the United States troops at Manila, made any reference to it in any communications he may have made to the war department.

ADJOURNMENT OF LEGISLATURE.

A Number of Very Important Bills Were Acted On.
SALEM, Oct. 15.—The house last evening passed Senator Adams' bill authorizing school districts to encourage indebtedness for the purpose of building schools.

Resolutions were adopted authorizing the board of capital building commissioners to call the house wing of the capitol building and directing the ways and means committee to recommend an appropriation of $8,000 therefor.

On the matter of printing expenses of the legislature of 1897, Mr. Simon introduced an amendment covering without ambiguity every member and officer of both houses and all factions, and raising the items from $38,000 to $40,000.

Senator Simon was the principal objector to these claims. W. T. Wright's claim for $25,000 went through. On the matter of printing expenses of the legislature of 1897, Mr. Simon introduced an amendment covering without ambiguity every member and officer of both houses and all factions, and raising the items from $38,000 to $40,000.

After adding $500 as a testimonial to George H. Myers, for services as world's fair commissioner, to the appropriation bill the committee reported to the house and the bill was passed.

Representative Stanley's bill reimbursing subscribers to the Omaha exposition passed after being amended by reducing the appropriation from $18,000 to $15,000.

A joint memorial petitioning for a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senator by popular vote was adopted.

At the caucus of the republicans last night Senator Taylor, of Umatilla, was chosen as successor to Joseph Simon as president of the senate. Taylor was elected today.

The special session of the legislature came to an end this evening at 7:30. A joint resolution had been adopted to adjourn at 4:15, but the appropriation bill, which had occupied the best part of three days, kept dragging along.

At this stage a conference committee was agreed upon, and it took up the matter of harmonizing the differences so as to be acceptable to the two houses.

It was near 5 o'clock when the conference report was adopted, and after that it was necessary that the bill be engrossed, not merely considered so. The four clerks of the house committee went at the work, but it was no small matter, and it was 6:12 when the engrossing committee was able to report the bill for the signatures of the presiding officers of the two houses.

BAKER CITY GOLD FIELDS.

Exhibit at the Portland Exposition Reflects Credit on Them.
In commenting upon the different state and county exhibits at the Portland exposition, the Oregonian says:

The exhibits are well worthy of careful inspection, any day or evening. This is especially true of the mining exhibit. It was installed by E. R. Mellis, of Baker City, who last night returned home, and it is generally conceded that, for the first time in the history of Portland, a mineral display worthy of the resources of this state has been made here, and the advertisement following in its wake will be worth a great deal to the people of Eastern Oregon, and finally to Portland.

It is difficult to realize how Mr. Mellis managed to gather this immense variety and quantity of minerals. One table 60 feet long is literally covered with specimens, weighing from 10 to 500 pounds each. Over this table artistic signs are suspended, bearing the legend, "Mineral tribute to Baker City."

One 12-foot table displays promising specimens ore from Southern Oregon, while Alaska and concentrates from producing mines in Eastern Oregon cover another 12-foot table. Fastened to the wall are three shelves resting on the top of which are framed maps of mines and mining districts from Baker, Grant and Union counties. The next shelf holds 16 partitioned trays, each containing 42 specimens of mines and mineral formations.

Every piece of ore, and there are thousands, is properly labeled, giving name of mine and other valuable information. The largest display is made by the Bonanza mine, Baker county, Oregon, over 1,500 pounds of ore being on display from that mine. The smallest haul from the White Mountain mines, Seven Devils, showing visible copper and gold at the same time. This specimen weighs a sixteenth of an ounce.

Spots Her Lattest News.
A teacher in a primary school in this city recently read to her pupils "The Old Oaken Bucket." After explaining it to them carefully, she asked them to copy the first stanza from the blackboard and try to illustrate a story.

"If do not understand this, Bossie," said the teacher. "What is that circle?" "Oh, that's the wall," was the reply. "And why do you have three buckets?" "Oh, one is the oaken bucket, one is the iron bucket, and the other is the bucket that hung in the well."

Millions Given Away.
It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases.
