Poor and Weak

Catarrh and Bronchial Trouble—Had no Appetite—Now Better in Every Way—A Delicate Child. "Some time since I took a sudden cold and could not get rid of it. Being subject to catarrh and bronchial trouble I coughed terribly. I lost my appetite and grew poor and weak and I did not feel like work. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. In a short time the cough disappeared, I slept well, had a good appetite and I was better in every way. Last spring I was not feeling well, I had no appetite and no strength. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon felt more like work. My little nephew was a delicate child and had a humor which troubled him so he could not rest at night. He has taken a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and now he has a good appetite and is able to sleep." Miss Abbie J. FREEMAN, South Duxbury, Mass.

In Tuesday's paper the report will appear in full. County School Superintendent Shipley is holding teachers' examination at the courthouse assisted by Mr. Hornar. Those present are Rev. B. B. Samp of Sand Hollow school, Mrs. Ora Hart of Castle Rock, Miss Louise Hall of Willows, and Miss Florence St. Claire.

Hypnotic Professor Holbrook has demonstrated the fact that his science is not supernatural, prompting experiments on the part of our local talent, a number of whom are meeting with decided success, promising our little town no end of mysterious amusement this winter.

Nat J. Hale, of Ione, spent Wednesday in town. He has just completed a fine barber shop, furnishing it very artistically, and has employed the services of a first-class assistant. The requirements of his United States land commission are such that constant application to his old trade is out of the question.

Last Sunday we had the pleasure of an oyster feast at the parlors of Jim Hart's rendezvous, and there found Mr. Kenzie officiating in a manner becoming the chef of the famous New York Delmonico. The popularity of the new enterprise has been phenomenal, and its proprietors, we predict, will be compelled to enlarge quarters.

Constable Anderson of Lone Rock precinct, returned home at close of the session of circuit court. Mr. Anderson brought over the bicycle thief, and sailing on the Gazette, gave us an interesting narrative of his capture. His opinion was that the fellow was courting a term of "free board" as he propounded to Mr. Anderson when overtaken.

Professor Holbrook, in contrast to the disposition of the majority of the public entertainers, has graciously tendered the use of the opera house for the benefit concert-to-night and will contribute to the success of the entertainment. Those who are not blind with unreasonable prejudice, and have carefully noted the fairness of his explanations appreciate his lack of pretense and feel that he is entitled to esteem.

Mr. Griffith, baggage master and brakeman on the branch line, escaped death miraculously this week. While switching cars he caught a flyer and while ascending the ladder passed another car, being caught between the projecting roofs, crashing him seriously. Dr. McEwens, who has been in attendance, reports him on the road to recovery with no serious consequences in store for him.

The Salvation Army will hold meetings every night this week and all day on Sunday. At 10:30 a. m., holiness meeting; 1:30 p. m., children's meeting; 3:30 p. m., free and easy meeting; 7:30 p. m., salvation meeting. The subject for Sunday night will be taken from Isaiah 28:20: "For the bed is shorter than that; a man can stretch himself on it. And the covering narrower than that; he can wrap himself in it."

PROFESSOR HOLBROOK

Has Succeeded in Overawing the "Knowing Ones."

Tomorrow night terminates the week's entertainment at the opera house, and the hypnotic professor has put forever to rest the skeptical denial of the existence of his science. His feat of mind reading repeated each evening, has convinced the intelligent citizens of our town that it is genuine, and the majority of those who have witnessed the antics of those under his hypnotic influence are thoroughly convinced that the subject is completely under his control, and the possibility of the mysterious influence is the topic of conversation by all classes at all hours of day and night. Crowds throng the opera house each night, and anxiously await the succeeding evening. The society ladies are wrought up to a degree of excitement away beyond the influence of notable social events, and Saturday afternoon will be given an exclusive matinee for their special benefit, and we trust that, in the interest of science, the newspaper representatives will not be denied admission. They, doubtless, understand that when they pass into the mesmeric or hypnotic state, time and memory are entirely lost to them, and that curiosity of their natures will prompt a desire with them to know "just what they did." We have been informed that the bonds of sympathy are so pronounced with an assemblage of "ladies alone" that while the professor is wielding his influence with his class on the stage, many of those in the audience drift unconsciously into the "mysterious sleep"—"It's a fact"—and the entire house is turned into a theater of action, at the discretion of the professor with his magic wand.

The modest members of the sterner sex are promising themselves a matinee, and we have been promised a "reserved seat" well to the front, where we will be enabled to note the scientific features of the occasion, which will possibly appear in next issue.
