DREDGER AT WORK.

Tearing Over Sand in the John Day River.
Set in Motion Last Monday.
Bedrock Democrat, Nov. 11th.

Mr. W. T. Uri, of Kansas City, Mo., head of the Uri Mining Machinery Company, is in the city and stopping at the Warshaw. Mr. Uri came in last evening over the S. V. Ry. from John Day, Grant county, where on last Monday he witnessed the huge dredger of his company set in motion on the gravel beds of the John Day river.

Mr. Uri is on his way home to Kansas City well satisfied with the success thus far attaining his dredger. The first day the machine was operated several hundred yards of dirt were handled.
In the afternoon the dredger ground causing it to shut down till a dam was constructed across the stream. The machinery when in good running order will handle 2000 yards of dirt every 24 hours. Two shifts consisting of five men each will be employed and the dredger will be in operation day and night. A fifty-light capacity dynamo has been placed on the boat and it presents a pleasing spectacle in the night.

A fifty-horse power Nagle engine and an eighty-horse power boiler run the massive machinery. Messrs Gilbert & Pomeroy of Portland have at present secured about 1½ miles of the river and will get control of more as soon as possible. The dredger is owned by the Griffith & McDevitt Construction Co., Chicago. Mr. Uri comes here last week from Kansas City to see that everything was in proper shape to start up. He says that he has several dredgers under construction, one in Montana, another in Utah. Last fall several were sent to the Klondike and good results obtained.
One man cleaned up $32,000 in twelve days.

BURGLARY IN COOS.

The Postoffice at Arago Burglarized of $1,500
By Masked Men.

Sunday night, November 8th, about 8 o'clock two masked men entered the postoffice at Arago. The office is in the residence of W. H. Schroeder, the postmaster. Mr. Schroeder was in the upper part of the house when the men entered, but a man named Peter Crow was in the office. The robbers ordered him outside. They tied his feet and hands, then fastened him to a milk cart, in such a manner that his face was down and he was unable to turn. They then returned to the house and forced Mr. Schroeder to come down stairs, and at point of a revolver, compelled him to open the safe.
They helped themselves to its contents, there being about $1500, $1300 belonging to the Arago creamery, and $200 being postal funds.

Postmaster Schroeder is a cripple, and was unable to offer resistance. Sheriff Gage and a posse found the tracks of the robbers early this morning and followed them until dark. The country is well guarded, and the sheriff thinks they cannot possibly escape.

THE HYPNOTIC EYE.

A Sailor Influenced While Under a Fit in
New York.

New York, Nov. 10.—Hypnotism was employed by a Bellevue hospital surgeon to subdue a man in a fit whom five police officers could not overcome. The sailor, who had developed all the strength of a marine, pulled all five of the policemen about the pavement and very nearly escaped. The blue coats were about to ask for the help of the bystanders, when Dr. Wheeler, the ambulance surgeon, took a hand in the proceeding.

"Let the man go," he said.

All the policemen relinquished their hold and the sailor ran into the middle of Sixteenth Street. Dr. Wheeler followed him up and caught his eye. The doctor sighted and the blue jacket, belted to the Brooklyn, is nearly six feet tall, and has muscles like iron.
The surgeon followed the man with his magnetic eye. The sailor gazed into the face of the doctor and an expression of astonishment and fear came into his eyes. The surgeon made mystic passes about the man's head. The sailor, with his eyes intently fixed upon the physician's face, imitated the movements.
The doctor stepped to one side, and the jackie followed him.

"Turn in," said the doctor, leading the way towards the ambulance, and going through motions similar to those of slinging a hammock. The sailor followed him, and then the doctor again made strange and weird passes.

The sailor was helpless. Begged into the doctor's face and muttered something which sounded like "ay, ay, sir."

The policeman lifted up the limp form and placed it in the ambulance.
The doctor kept the man under control while the ambulance hurried up third avenue. He resembled a lion tamer sitting on a narrow bench in the cage of a restless King of beasts.

A Heavy Sentence.

The sentence received by Andy Beale heimer will probably put a quietus on horse stealing in this county. Five years is quite a risk to run for a $15 horse or any number of horses. Judge Eakin stated, previous to pronouncing sentence, that he placed the penalty somewhat higher than for a usual case of larceny, for the reason that the practice of running stock across the state line has been going on for years, and to secure evidence has been a difficult problem. The next man who runs stock out of this county, had better take into consideration the prospect of even a heavier sentence than Beeleheimer received.—Wallowa Chieftain.

The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with a pain in the chest or side, or a lame back, give it a trial. You are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. For sale by Conser & Warren.

WEAVER TRIAL AT AN END.

Jury Returns a Verdict of Murder in the Second Degree.

The jury in the case of James Weaver for the killing of Wm. McKinnon, September 28 last, after being out about an hour returned a verdict of murder in the second degree save the Harney Valley items. The verdict was no surprise to those hearing the evidence. The witnesses for prosecution all gave about the same evidence, the same details as were printed in the items soon after the killing, and the defense produced nothing contradictory.

The attorney for the defense, Webster, Hayes and Estabrook, made strong appeals to the jury in behalf of the prisoner, but were weighed down with the evidence against him. The state was ably represented by District attorney Miller and Biggs & Turton.

The Salem Woolen mills has offered to sell the "Oregon" blanket, which was on exhibition at the exposition, to any person or organization that will present it to Captain Clarke of the battleship Oregon, for $50. This manager of the mills says $60 less the blanket actually costs to manufacture. He says the proprietors of the mills are willing to donate more than half, but do not care to donate all. The blanket is certainly a beauty, and it is claimed that it is beyond question, the handsomest ever made. The border is made up of stars and stripes, while the center is a perfect representation of the battle ship, woven in national colors.
